Levin-Goldstein a young leader

Eli Levin-Goldstein of Cambridge, a student at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School, attended the National Young Leaders Conference Jan. 25-30 in Washington, D.C. This leadership development program invites high school students, based on scholastic merit, community involvement and leadership contributions, to interact with today's national leaders. NYLC scholars are given the opportunity to work through many issues facing Cambridge and the nation today through a series of simulations, and meet face to face with their members of Congress, or members of their staff, and other influential personalities.

Because leadership goes beyond what happens on Capitol Hill, Levin-Goldstein had the opportunity to interact with a panel of renowned journalists at the National Press Club, including Kathy Kiely of USA Today, Ann McFeatters of Pittsburgh Post Gazette, and Matt Rees of the Weekly Standard. The journalists and students discussed current events and the role of the media in shaping public opinion by reporting these events.

SENIOR NOTES

Tips to avoid injury in a fall

The Cambridge Health Alliance is launching a fall prevention campaign. The aim is to alert older adults to the problem of falls and how to prevent them. Falling is a major problem for older adults in Cambridge. Every year, some 30 to 40 percent of older adults fall in the community, with many people having multiple falls. Injuries from falls range from fractures that require extensive hospitalization to minor bruises and scrapes. The cost of fall-related injury are high, when counted in dollars and quality of life. The cost of treating hip fractures alone exceeds $2 billion a year. After a fall many older adults experience a "fear of falling" that forces them to avoid walking and leaving their homes. The result is a growing social isolation and a loss of muscle strength.

There are many risk factors related to falling. Preventing falls means identifying which factors are present for individuals and setting up a plan to reduce these risks. Being older is not cause of falls in and of itself. More important than age is a person's ability to keep physically fit, maintaining exercise to keep their muscles strong and their gait or walking steady. Research has shown that regular exercise can markedly reduce falls and reduce the risk of injury due to falls. Other risk factors related to fall-related injuries include certain medications, alcohol use, poor bone health, vision or hearing changes, hazards in the home such as slippery surfaces, loose rugs or clutter, outside hazards such as uneven or slippery surfaces, or pedestrian "unfriendly" vehicles.

Don't accept falls as a normal event of growing older. Falls are preventable. Older adults need to discuss the problem of falling with their health care provider and adopt a plan to prevent any future falls.

As part of the March "Don't Fall! Campaign," the Cambridge Health Alliance is presenting a program by the Nurse Practitioner Program of the MGH Institute of Health Professions at the Cambridge Senior Center, 806 Massachusetts Ave., on Wednesday, March 22, at 11:30 a.m. and Wednesday, March 29, at 12:30 p.m. at the Somerville Senior Center on Holland Street. For more information, call Karen Wolf at 498-2010.

Learn about nutrition

Jean Bianchetto, RD, nutrition and health educator for Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services, will present a program, "Another Look at the Food Guide Pyramid," at congregate meal sites throughout Cambridge and Somerville.

In conjunction with the American Dietetic Association's National Nutrition Month, she will discuss the Senior Food Guide Pyramid, a tool developed by the University of Rhode Island and the University of Connecticut. Activities will include rating your plate, reviewing food portions, and special nutrition needs for calcium, vitamin D and vitamin B12. Food prizes will be awarded to participants.

The program will be presented at the following times and locations:

• Thursday, March 30 —Manning apartments meal site, Cambridge, 11:15 a.m.; Cambridge Senior Center, 1 p.m.

For more information, call Bianchetto at 628-2614, ext. 3054.

Elder Services needs office assistant

Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services' Money Management Program is seeking an individual with basic office skills to serve as assistant to the program manager. This 20-hour-a-week Title V position pays minimum wage and is open to people who are 55 and up, income eligible, and live in Somerville, Cambridge or Arlington. The program assistant would help with many office tasks associated with the administration of this program.

The Money Management Program, which is jointly sponsored by AARP, Massachusetts Home Care and the Executive Office of Elder Affairs, offers free assistance to low-income elders who are no longer able to handle their basic bill-paying and financial tasks alone. Without such help, these vulnerable elders would be at risk of homelessness or institutionalization.

For more information, call Al Solomon, program manager, at 628-2601, ext. 3150.

New Pharmacy Program raises benefits

The new state budget brought significant changes to the Senior Pharmacy Program. The program, which was originally created for seniors 65 and older, with no prescription coverage, will now also provide coverage to people under the age of 65 with disabilities. With the change comes a new name — the Pharmacy Program. In addition, the state Legislature passed the catastrophic-drug bill, creating a new program: the Pharmacy Program Plus.

The Pharmacy Program benefit level was raised from $750 to $1,250 annually and the income eligibility guideline was raised to $15,492 for an individual, and $20,769 for a couple. Married applicants can still apply as individuals. People who were previously excluded, due to their HMO involvement, can now join the Pharmacy Program. Anyone under age 65 who works less than 40 hours per month and meets the disability guidelines for Social Security or CommonHealth can also take advantage of this benefit

The Pharmacy Program Plus will be in effect until Dec. 31. This program offers additional help for elders and younger people with disabilities whose gross annual income is less than $41,220 and who are experiencing high prescription expenses relative to their income.

Those people who are eligible for the Pharmacy Program must use their $1,250 in benefits before applying for the Pharmacy Program Plus. Those who exceed the income guidelines for the Pharmacy Program, but who have prescription costs that are 10 percent or more of their gross monthly income, can apply for the Pharmacy Program Plus immediately. Applications are available by calling 1-800-243-4636.

These two programs should offer much-needed relief to a great many people in the state. Applications for the Pharmacy Program are available at the local Council on Aging and Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services. For more information on these programs, or an application, call the information line at Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services, 628-2601, ext. 3151.

Money Management Program needs volunteers

The Money Management Program of Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services is seeking volunteers to assist low-income elders with basic bill-paying tasks. If you enjoy helping older people, can balance a checkbook, and have three to five hours a month to volunteer, this may be the right volunteer opportunity for you.

The Money Management Program, which is jointly sponsored by AARP, Mass. Home Care and the Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs, offers free assistance to income-eligible elders who are having trouble managing their finances.

Money Management services are confidential and are designed to help people with physical disabilities or memory problems, elders with poor vision, homebound elders, and those with no family or friends to help them with bill-paying tasks.

"Often, the assistance of a trained and insured Money Management volunteer can make the difference in an older person's ability to remain living independently in his/her own home," says Al Solomon, Money Management director. "When unpaid bills pile up due to an elder's declining ability to manage financial tasks, eviction and institutionalization become real threats."

SCES offers training at a time to suit your schedule, and your volunteer hours can be arranged at your convenience each month. For more information, call Solomon at 628-2601, ext. 3150.

Sullivan Scholarship reception April 30

The Lt. Paul J. Sullivan Scholarship Committee announces the annual scholarship reception will be held Sunday, April 30, from 5-8 p.m. at the Mt. Auburn VFW Hall, 688 Huron Ave., Cambridge.

Sullivan was a member of Sacred Heart parish in Watertown and a graduate of St. Mary's High School in Waltham in 1961. He was a 1965 graduate of Boston College. During those years, he participated on many area athletic teams, especially in basketball and baseball. He worked for the Watertown Recreation Department as a park instructor. After his college graduation, he taught at West Junior High School in Watertown and coached at Sacred Heart High School in Newton and St. Patrick's High School in Watertown. He volunteered for the Army, graduating from OCS and Ranger training. He was sent to Vietnam in July 1968, and was killed in combat on Aug. 9, 1968. He left behind his wife, family and friends, all of whom had been deeply touched by his life.

This scholarship was established in his memory by his family and friends to be awarded annually to that young person who best exemplifies the kind of person Sullivan was. Over the years, 31 young men and women have been recognized as recipients of the Lt. Paul J. Sullivan Scholarship and another 100 young people have received recognition and financial assistance as finalists. Thousands of dollars have gone to college scholarships, sponsorship of athletic teams, and support of programs for youth.

Donation for the scholarship reception is $25. Reservations can be made by sending a check to the Lt. Paul J. Sullivan Scholarship, Box 95, Watertown, MA 02471-0095 or by calling 484-5569.
