IN CITY COUNCIL

Councillor William H. Walsh

June 20, 1988

WHEREAS: One of the prices to be paid for pursuit of career development and growth is that when someone moves on, the people left behind feel a real absence in their midst; and

WHEREAS: We feel that absence as we hear the news that Jane Thurman, a reporter for the Cambridge Chronicle who has covered many aspects of Cambridge life very well, is leaving to join the staff of the Malden Evening News; and

WHEREAS: With an ability to take her job, but not herself seriously, she writes with substance and style, realizes that instant news is no news, takes the time to call, question and, if need be, call back to be certain of facts, all the while doing this in a way which compels respect; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the members of this City Council wish Jane Thurman much success as she pursues her career in journalism, and we look forward to the day when she will publish the great novel which is one of her ambitions; and be it further

RESOLVED: That the City Clerk be and is requested to prepare a duly engrossed copy of this Resolution for presentation to Jane Thurman.
