February 29, 1996 CAMBRIDGE MA.

Dear friends and neighbors,

Peace and justice are real, important, and alive in the voices of our children and youth. We experience this every day in our work in schools across the state.

They need adults who will support their belief in peace, and help them create communities where justice can flourish.

So we're delighted to invite you to honor four local peacemakers at Peace Action's annual spring dinner.

Congressman Joseph Moakley has been a courageous leader for peace with a personal commitment to changing our country's policy toward El Salvador. While others leave Congress, Joe Moakley continues his work for social justice at home and abroad. When others were silent about the U.S. Cuban Embargo, Joe Moakley spoke with his feet -- visiting Cuba in another bold demonstration of peacemaking.

Sandy Rubin, owner of Sandy & Son Toy Store in Inman Square, is also a committed worker for peace. Last year the store was the place where children turned in their toy guns in exchange for peaceful toys. This "gun buy-back" was in keeping with Sandy & Son -- the toy store that never carries guns or other war toys.

Eric Dawson and Lisa Graustein are Harvard University undergraduates who direct Peace Games -- a program that links 200 university volunteers with 2000 children in the greater Boston area and 5 foreign countries, working on projects that build a peaceful world.

Please help us celebrate these community peacemakers. Be a friend, sponsor, or benefactor of our spring dinner, and we will reserve a special place of honor at the celebration. The dinner will be held on Friday, May 3 at 6:30 p.m., at the First Congregational Church, 11 Garden St., in Cambridge.

Help us keep our children's hopes for peace and justice alive.
