COUNCILLOR TRIANTAFILLOU

WHEREAS: On this day the City of Cambridge stops to remember the contributions of Joseph and Cecelia Galluccio and the friendship and services that they provided this neighborhood for over two decades; and

WHEREAS: Joseph and Cecelia immigrated in 1919 from Avelino, Italy and settled on Stearns Street; in the mid 1920's they opened Galluccio Corner Store at Sherman and Stearns Street, which they operated for over twenty years; and

WHEREAS: It is well known throughout the community that during those years many of which were the hardest of economic times that this country has ever seen that corner stores like the Galluccio's became the backbone of their surrounding neighborhood; and

WHEREAS: Cecelia's fresh grown vegetables, homemade pasta, and willingness to extend credit to residents who were waiting for their next call to work gave the neighborhood stability at a time when people had much less material wealth and many more mouths to feed; and

WHEREAS: The store was legendary for the smell of Cecelia's homemade tomato sauce and the friendliness of this immigrant couple and their two sons Charlie, and Tony who were raised in the store itself and for generations of teenagers who found safe gathering on the front steps of their neighborhood store; and

WHEREAS: Let this corner not only mark the contributions of Cecelia and Joseph but also an era of American times when immigrants from different countries struggled side by side one another, helped each other, supported one another and put compassion ahead of their differences; now therefore be it

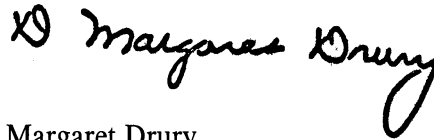

RESOLVED: That the Cambridge Council goes on record applauding the efforts and contributions of Cecelia and Joseph and recognizes their dedication to their neighborhood by dedicating the corner of Sherman Street and Stearns Street as the "Galluccio Store Corner."
