ORDERED: That, with all due haste, the City Manager bring together a three-person Commission, made up of a member appointed by the Council, a member appointed by the Executive Department and invite to membership as the third member present Cambridge resident Honorable John F. Collins, former Mayor of Boston, whose municipal expertise and experience are established and whose political neutrality in the Cambridge community is beyond reproach. The mandate of the Commission would be to recommend to the City Manager the names of three Municipal Consulting entities whose caliber of performance would be judged as superior for analyzing the present status of Cambridge city government. Consistent with the bid process, the services of one of those entities would be engaged at the beginning of FY92 to begin immediately an overall assessment of every aspect of Cambridge city government and complete this so that its conclusions and recommendations would be part of the data for the formulation of the budget proposal for FY93; and be it further ORDERED: That the City Manager report back to the Council on this by June 10, 1991 and confirm at that time that required funding for this project is assured.
