To the Citizens of Massachusetts

Private philanthropy is a distinguishing feature of our society and has always been encouraged by our government. As Attorney General of the Commonwealth, it is my duty to act for its citizens, not only to see that charitable funds are being properly managed, but to insure that the public is aware of these funds which have been set aside for its benefit.

We view the publication of this Directory as a service to three major groups: to potential beneficiaries; to potential donors who may wish information about the existing areas of charitable giving as they plan to make benefactions; and to trustees and directors, particularly those who are empowered to make grants to other charitable organizations.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has a long and distinguished record as a leader in the field of public charity. The publication of this Directory represents a further step toward ensuring that the common good is fostered and encouraged through the means of private philanthropy.

Very truly yours,

DIRECTORY OF PUBLIC CHARITIES IN MASSACHUSETTS

Introduction

The field of public charities in Massachusetts is a large and ever expanding one. Charities listed in this Directory represent property assets in excess of $2.75 billion, the income from which supports activities rivaling those of state government in scope.

The term 'public charity' is a legal phrase referring to a variety of instrumentalities used to contribute private wealth for the benefit of an indeterminate number of persons for certain purposes which may be broadly described as of 'public benefit'. These purposes need not be confined to aid to the poor and needy, but may embrace gifts for literary and educational endeavors; for religious uses; for health; and for purposes that 'lighten the burden of government'. The courts are constantly broadening the range of activities which they recognize as 'public charity'.

Charities have been a separate field of law since pre-Elizabethan days. They have received continuing attention in Massachusetts since colonial days. The English Statute of Charitable Uses of 1601 obtained in the Massachusetts Bay Colony and was, for all practical purposes, continued after the adoption of the 1780 Constitution. The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court has given charitable instruments extraordinary attention, and the General Court has offered a variety of assistance and encouragement to the formation of charities, particularly through certain exemptions from taxation.

The essence of a 'public charity' is the lack of specified individual beneficiaries, and its ultimate purpose is the welfare of the public at large. Therefore, enforcement of the proper application of such funds has been a traditional function of the state. Under the Common Law, the Attorney General, as protector of the public interest, was assigned the role of enforcement, and Chapter 12, Section 8 of The General Laws confers on him broad powers to assure the 'due application' of all charitable funds in the Commonwealth.

Massachusetts was the first state to begin the formal supervision of charitable institutions by creating, in 1863, the Board of State Charities. In 1870, the Board began extending its supervisory power over charitable corporations and eventually required those which received tax exemptions to file an annual report. In the administrative reorganization of 1919, this activity was placed under the Department of Public Welfare which eventually required reports from all charitable corporations and trusts. From 1936 to 1939 a survey of charitable bequests in the state was undertaken by the Department of the Attorney General in cooperation with the Works Progress Administration. This study proposed legislation to establish a Division of Public Charities in the Department of the Attorney General, and to require the trustee or director of every public charity in the Commonwealth, except those devoted to religious purposes, to report annually. After the passage of this legislation in 1954, greater governmental attention has been focussed on the management of charitable funds and many dormant assets have been reactivated.

The publication of this Directory is thus in keeping with the historic interest of the Commonwealth in the field of charity. It represents an attempt to bridge one of the most important gaps in the charitable field, that between the trustee or director and the potential beneficiary. Under the leadership of Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr. a study was launched in 1960 to examine more effective regulation of public charities. The study identified several areas in which the enforcement functions of government could be supplemented by positive activities designed to facilitate the achievement of charitable objectives. One specific recommendation called for the publication of a Directory of Public Charities in Massachusetts, which could be used by citizens as a reference to charitable funds in the state. A grant provided by the Permanent Charity Fund to Brandeis University has made possible this publication.

Every effort has been made to assemble a complete and accurate list. The Directory is based upon the records in the Division of Public Charities. However, for a variety of reasons, many charities have failed to file reports in compliance with the requirements of Section 8F of Chapter 12 of The General Laws. The Attorney General has a continuing interest in completing this register and it is hoped that the publication of this Directory will have the incidental effect of calling the provisions of The General Laws to the attention of trustees or directors who may not be aware of their duty to file. It must be added, however, that the inclusion of an organization in this listing should not be construed as constituting any official endorsement by the Attorney General, the Permanent Charity Fund or Brandeis University.

It is proposed that this Directory will appear at sufficiently frequent intervals to assure current and accurate information. A review of the classification system will be made in the light of experience in order to assure the most efficient means of locating desired funds. It is hoped that subsequent issues of the Directory will include statistical data about public charitable activity.

The Attorney General has formed an Advisory Committee on Public Charities composed of prominent citizens who are deeply concerned with charitable activities. Its purpose is to devise means whereby government can best serve philanthropic activity. Subsequent editions of the Directory may well include selections from the Committee's reports.

The preparation of this booklet was greatly facilitated by the efforts of the Division of Public Charities directed by Assistant Attorney General Richard H. Gens. We are particularly grateful to his legal assistant, Miss Anna Chopek, and to Mrs. Sieglinde Inglis for their help. That this Directory now appears is due to the vision of Mr. Arthur Rotch, Director of the Permanent Charity Fund, the cooperation of Brandeis University and the imaginative leadership of Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr.

Guide to the Use of the Directory

The Directory is primarily an alphabetical listing of all charitable funds, incorporated and unincorporated, which are currently reporting to the Division of Public Charities. The listing is by the first letter of the first word in the official name of the charity. General words such as Trustee, Foundation, Corporation, and Association, where they appear as the first word, have not been used. Thus, the Trustees of the Sears Fund appears under S rather than T. Where charities have a common name, but have area designations, as in the case of the Boy Scouts of America, the individual city names have been grouped alphabetically beneath the major entry.

Each charity has also been given an identification number. The second listing regroups these numbers in accordance with the charitable purpose or activity. Thus one seeking to find a charity interested in education and providing aid to students would consult the second listing for this designation. All charities having this as their principal activity will have their identification numbers grouped under this category. By noting these identification numbers, the names and addresses of the relevant charities can be obtained from the alphabetical list.

In some instances charities are restricted beyond the functional designation. Some are, for example, limited to a particular class of beneficiaries. In order to clearly identify any such restrictions the letters F.B.O. (for the benefit of) and the explanation have been inserted in the alphabetical listing. All charities appearing under section 49 in the purpose listing are restricted to aiding particular charitable organizations. Those appearing under section 48 are foundations and trusts which make contributions to other charitable organizations, and make no direct grants to individuals.

The listing of an organization in this Directory should in no way be construed as constituting any endorsement.

This Directory is a compilation of organizations which, in compliance with the law, have filed annual reports with the Division of Public Charities, Department of the Attorney General.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Department of the Attorney General

State House, Boston 33

Edward J. McCormack, Jr.

Attorney General

The enclosed "Directory of Public Charities in Massachusetts" has just been published under the direction of this office. It contains a list of all public charities which are filing financial reports with this office, pursuant to General Laws Chapter 12, Section 8.

Copies are being distributed to all city and town clerks, and public libraries in the Commonwealth.

We believe it will be of benefit to potential beneficiaries and donors, as well as to Trustees and Directors of charitable organizations.

Additional copies may be obtained by sending 10¢ in stamps to the Attorney General's Advisory Committee on Public Charities, 373 State House, Boston 33, Massachusetts.

I hope that you find this pamphlet to be informative and useful.
