Dear Friends:

I want to thank you for your recent message of congratulations and for the support and encouragement that you have offered to the President and to me. We are humbled by the trust that has been placed in us by the American people and determined to meet the many challenges facing our nation as we enter a new century.

Over the next four years, we will be working to fulfill the agenda set forth by President Clinton: balancing the budget and reforming government while investing in our people, the environment, and education. By working with the Republican leadership in the Congress in a bipartisan and cooperative way, we are confident that we can find common ground and continue to move this great country in the right direction.

Please accept my most sincere appreciation for your supportive message along with my best wishes for the future.

Sincerely,

Al Gore
