WHEREAS: The citizens of Cambridge are proud of the diverse nature of our community and have made a strong commitment to civil rights, and to ensuring that our community continues to build and maintain bridges amongst us; and

WHEREAS: Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Pride Day marks the anniversary of the Stonewall Rebellion that commemorates what is considered the beginning of the Lesbian and Gay Liberation Movement, an evening in June of 1969 when the police raided the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar on Christopher Street in New York's Greenwich Village; and

WHEREAS: The Stonewall Rebellion is a well-remembered moment in our history when lesbians and gay men began to realize that by working together and acting collectively to combat discrimination, oppression, and violence against their community, that much, much more could ultimately be accomplished; and

WHEREAS: This grass-roots organizing has yielded victories against local and state anti-gay referenda and initiatives, created civil right protections and domestic partnership legislation, and successfully elected effective representation for the lesbian and gay community in city, state and national government; and

WHEREAS: This anniversary comes at a time when equal protection under the law for lesbians, gay men, bisexuals, and transgender individuals is under increasing attack by individuals and organizations in many communities who would acknowledge neither the oppression experienced by this community nor the right of this community to be freed from the burden of that oppression; and

- WHEREAS: In the City of Cambridge, our Pride in our lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgendered citizens is exemplified in the passage of the historic Domestic Partnership Ordinance; in the membership and policies of the City Council; in the work of organizations such as the Cambridge Lavender Alliance, the Cambridge Lavender Alliance/Parents, Teachers and Allies; and Project Ten East at Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School; and in the attitude and spirit of fellowship and humanity growing in our community; and
- WHEREAS: While the lesbian and gay community has achieved astounding success, there is still work to be done in the face of continued and systematic attempts by individuals and organizations nationwide to dismantle the gains the lesbian and gay community has made to date, and to deny the right, not only of equal protection under the law, but of our humanity; and
- WHEREAS: The Cambridge Lavender Alliance will hold its fifth annual Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Pride Day Celebration by hosting a breakfast and awards ceremony at Cambridge City Hall on Saturday, June 10, 1995; and
- WHEREAS: Over the past three decades, hundreds of thousands of lesbian, gay and bisexual people, here and across the nation, have persevered in the struggle for civil rights in the areas of discrimination in housing, education, employment, and health care; for social and legal recognition of their relationships, families, and community; and
- WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge is proud to be home to many lesbian and gay families whose children attend our public schools, one of which, the Peabody School, will host the world premier of "Love Makes a Family: Living in Lesbian/Gay Families," a photo exhibit of children and their lesbian and gay parents, from June 7 to June 21; and
- WHEREAS: The CLA/PTA will hold a Pride Picnic and special showing of the photo exhibit for lesbian and gay families at the Peabody School on June 17th; and
- WHEREAS: The Cambridge City Council wishes to acknowledge the Peabody School in its effort to recognize the diversity of our community, to educate the citizenry on this issue, and to create an educational atmosphere that is safe for all its students, including those who have lesbian and gay parents; and

WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge wishes to acknowledge the contributions of the individuals and organizations who have worked tirelessly to increase the visibility and acceptance of this community in the workplace, in our schools, and in our neighborhoods; and

WHEREAS: The City Council wishes to acknowledge the talent and hard work that went into the production of "VISIBLE AND PROUD," a photo-journalistic exhibit of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgendered youth. "Visible and Proud," was funded by the State Department of Education and developed by the Advanced Photography class and Project Ten East at the Cambridge Rindge and Latin School and is currently being exhibited at the 1369 Coffeehouse; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the City of Cambridge hereby acknowledge the efforts of the administration and faculty of the Peabody School, Project Ten East, and the Cambridge Lavender Alliance/Parents, Teachers and Allies in creating safety in our schools for all Cambridge students and educating all members of the community to the reality of life for the children of lesbian and gay parents; and be it further

RESOLVED: That the City of Cambridge does hereby recognize Saturday, June 10, 1995 as the official Cambridge Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Pride Day, and urges the citizens of Cambridge to recognize this special tribute by joining in the activities of the day and continuing their support for this critical part of our community; and be it further

RESOLVED: That the City Clerk be and hereby is requested to prepare suitably engrossed copies of this resolution for presentation to the Cambridge Lavender Alliance, the Peabody School, Project Ten East, and the Cambridge Lavender Alliance/Parents, Teachers, and Allies.

COUNCILLOR MYERS
VICE MAYOR RUSSELL
COUNCILLOR SULLIVAN
COUNCILLOR TOOMEY

WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge takes Pride in the diversity of our citizens, and have been at the forefront of civil rights movements throughout the course of our illustrious history, across lines of race, gender, and sexual orientation; and

WHEREAS: In our City, and in cities across the nation, the month of June marks the Celebration of Lesbian and Gay Pride, to commemorate the historic day in 1969 when New York City police officers raided the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar on Christopher Street in New York's well known Greenwich Village; and

WHEREAS: The Stonewall Uprising marks a critical moment in history, when lesbians and gay men realized that their organized and collective efforts could bring about an end to a history of oppression, violence, and discrimination against them, and moreover begin to sow the seeds of community; and

WHEREAS: The Stonewall Uprising was a turning point for the lesbian and gay community, who have since that time mobilized hundreds of thousands people, in our city and indeed worldwide, to fight for an end to discrimination and for the guarantee of protection and civil rights under the law; and

WHEREAS: The results of this mass mobilization have been profound, with such efforts as the 1993 March on Washington, the 1994 Stonewall Uprising 25th Anniversary, the 1994 Gay Games, each superbly successful organizing efforts with attendance at each event estimated at up to one million people; and

WHEREAS: Grass organizing efforts across the country have yielded astonishing fruit, producing crushing defeats for local and state anti-gay referenda and initiatives, as well as creating domestic partnership legislation and lesbian and gay civil rights protections, and electing effective representation in city, state and national government for the lesbian and gay community; and

WHEREAS: In the City of Cambridge, our Pride in our Lesbian and Gay citizens is exemplified in the passage of the historic Domestic Partnership Ordinance; in the membership and policies of the City Council; in the work of organizations and projects such as the Cambridge Lavender Alliance, the Fight the Right Project of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, and Project 10 East at Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School; and in the attitude and spirit of fellowship and humanity growing in our community; and

WHEREAS: While the lesbian and gay community was worked tirelessly and has achieved astounding successes, there is still work to be done, in the face of continued and systematic attempts by individuals and organizations nationwide to dismantle the gains the lesbian and gay community has made to date, and to deny the right, not only of equal protection under the law, but of our humanity; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this City Council does hereby sincerely thank the many individuals and organizations who have so tirelessly worked to secure the rights of lesbian and gay citizens in our City and nationwide, especially citing the Cambridge Lavender Alliance, Project 10 East at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School, and the local Fight the Right Project of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force; and be it further

RESOLVED: That this City Council does hereby declare Saturday, June 10, 1995 to be LESBIAN AND GAY PRIDE DAY in the City of Cambridge, and encourages all our citizens to show the continued support for such a critical and activist part of our community.
