WHEREAS: Cambridge was first settled in December of 1630 by John Winthrop and was then called Newtowne; and

WHEREAS: Cambridge was incorporated as one city 150 years ago to unify the village of East Cambridge, Old Cambridge and Cambridgeport; and

WHEREAS: Most Cambridge inhabitants in 1846 were of English and Irish descent and today children come from 82 different countries of origin and speak over 50 different languages in our schools; and

WHEREAS: Today we are a strong and vital city of almost 100,000 people, more than 10,000 of whom are children under the age of 18; and

WHEREAS: We are here today to celebrate that founding and to honor our history of growth from a small village near the Charles River to a mighty city admired all around the world; and

WHEREAS: We are also thinking about the future of Cambridge; and

WHEREAS: Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill, Basketball Player Rumeal Robinson and Poet e.e. cummings started as children here in Cambridge and grew to be the very best that they could be, brought honor to our city, and contributed to its greatness; and

WHEREAS: We don't know what Cambridge will be like in another 150 years, but there are many problems to solve and inventions to create, and the children here today will have an important role to play in creating Cambridge of the future; and

WHEREAS: The children here today represent the best in Cambridge and the future of Cambridge, and every one of them will make a mark on the future of our great city, whether in politics or sports or the arts or by living meaningful, productive lives that add richness to the community that is Cambridge; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the whole City and the Mayor and the City Council and the parents and guardians and loved ones of those children honor them today, love them and wish them the very best as they work toward a new and wonderful, and peaceful future for Cambridge and for the world.
