Dear Sir:

Regarding communication from the City Clerk transmitting copy of Chapter 125, Acts of 1943, authorizing certain cities and towns and districts to aid other municipalities relative to their water supply, I am of the opinion that when this Act was passed there was grave danger of bombing in the New England area.

From orders received from Government officials I do not believe it is necessary to have the City Council take any action as it might involve other municipalities' requesting aid from the City of Cambridge when we would be unable to furnish same. I have talked with other Superintendents in the immediate vicinity, and none of them appeared favorable to the Act.

Respectfully yours,

TWG/F
