IN CITY COUNCIL

March 28, 1988

MAYOR VELLUCCI

- WHEREAS: Each day in Cambridge hundreds of parents place their infants and young children, our nation's most precious resource, in the hands of child care providers in ever increasing numbers; and
- WHEREAS: An increased participation of women in the workforce will continue to heighten the demand for child care during the working hours. (By 1990, 80 percent of mothers with pre-school age children will be in the workforce); and
- WHEREAS: All children deserve quality child care; and
- WHEREAS: Child care services and providers are the major determinants of child care quality and as such responsible for our children's futures. Nevertheless, they represent one of the most poorly understood and least rewarded of all professions; and
- WHEREAS: As part of public television's CHILD CARE AMERICA outreach project to honor child care providers, we call attention to the importance of quality child care during the observance of the WEEK OF THE YOUNG CHILD, April 10-16; now therefore be it
- RESOLVED: That I, Alfred E. Vellucci, Mayor of the City of Cambridge, do hereby proclaim April 10-16, 1988, as THE WEEK OF THE YOUNG CHILD and urge all citizens to join with me in expressing our appreciation to child care providers for their commitment to the care/education of today's young children, and to join with me in honoring these professionals.
