Resolution Regarding the Commemoration of Greek Independence Day

Whereas, March 25th marks the anniversary of the struggle in which the Greek People, after centuries of domination by the Turks of the Ottoman Empire, won their freedom and formed an independent nation; and

Whereas, all of the sons and daughters of Greece and all who are familiar with Greek history have reason to celebrate the rich Greek history and Greek tradition that are an integral part of our culture and the principles of true democracy; and

Whereas, the history and traditions of Greece are important to today's society, particularly in the areas of government, politics and the arts;

Whereas, the struggle for independence and self-determination is a struggle that all people of the City of Cambridge can appreciate, no matter what city, country or people it involves;

Whereas, the City Council of Cambridge, particularly its member of Greek Ancestry, wishes to commemorate Greek Independence Day and the many important contributions of Greek culture to this city and to this nation;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that March 25, 1994 is hereby proclaimed as Greek Independence Day throughout the City of Cambridge, and that a suitable proclamation be engrossed by the City Clerk for the presentation to members of the Greek Community forthwith.
