WHEREAS: Since 1991, Mobilizing Haitian Youth for HIV Prevention, a collaborative effort of Haitian-American Public Health Initiatives, Inc., the Haitian-American Cultural Center, and Partners in Health, has worked with Haitian teenagers in Cambridge, Boston, and Somerville to develop comprehensive HIV prevention strategies; and

WHEREAS: Throughout the year, peer educators from all three organizations work to foster awareness of the dangers of HIV among their fellow Haitian youth, and to increase their familiarity with the strategies of HIV prevention; and

WHEREAS: This kind of peer education is necessary if we are to have any success in helping our children to protect themselves from this deadly disease; and

WHEREAS: On Friday, June 10, 1994 from 8:00 am until 5:00 pm at Roxbury Community College, Mobilizing Youth for HIV Prevention will conduct its Third Annual Youth Congress; and

WHEREAS: This Congress will bring together some 800 Haitian youths from the Greater Boston area for a day-long group of activities, including workshops on HIV/AIDS and other topics, theatrical performances by peer and non-peer educators, music, keynote speeches by celebrities, cultural games, and traditional Haitian food; and

WHEREAS: The Congress presents a unique opportunity to mobilize parents, youth, teachers, health providers and activists in the struggle against HIV; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this Cambridge City Council does hereby offer its most sincere appreciation to the organizers of the Mobilizing Youth for HIV Prevention Third Annual Congress for their ongoing efforts on behalf of Haitian youth.
