CAMBRIDGE CHRONICLE

Angela Doyle Darrah Century-old resident

Angela Doyle Darrah died March 3, 1997 at Cambridge Hospital after a brief illness. She died on her 101st birthday.

Mrs. Darrah was born in Canada and was a longtime resident of Cambridge and Somerville. She worked in the Health Services Department at Harvard for many years before retiring.

Mrs. Darrah, who once taught at a rustic one-room schoolhouse in her native Prince Edward Island, celebrated her 100th birthday last year with friends and family at Cantabridgia Health Care on Prospect Street.

"I had a good life," Mrs. Darrah said at the time, her century-old voice barely audible over the din of the celebration in her honor. She moved to Cambridge with her husband and lived in the Central Square area for several years before moving to Stanford Terrace in Somerville in the late 1930s, a home she kept for about 50 years.

She was the mother of Robert of Cambridge and the sister of the late Peter, Joseph, James, Alfred, Stephen and Domenic Doyle. Mrs. Darrah is also survived by many other relatives and friends.

The funeral Mass was held at St. Peter's Church followed by burial at Cambridge Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Arlington Funeral Home.
