Dear Friends,

In case you haven't heard, Back Porch Dance Company (the interracial, intergenerational company I co-direct with Vicki Solomon) is coming to an end this Spring. Looking on the positive side, we've chosen to celebrate our accomplishments of eleven years with a concert and party on Saturday evening, May 19 at 8pm. The concert will include work from the past and guest performances by several former company members. It's a rich and varied program we're very proud of, and the party should be jammin.

I'm letting you know now, because we're doing only one performance in a very small auditorium -- the Robert Kennedy School, 158 Spring St., E. Cambridge. So tickets will be limited and I know that some of you will really want to be there. Tickets are $15, with seniors and students with ID at $12. They can be purchased in advance, by sending a check to Cambridge Performance Project/BPtix at 51 Inman St., Cambridge, MA 02139. Please include your name, address and phone and the # of tickets you're ordering. It seems quite likely that we'll sell out the house before the concert.

I think you'll find the evening inspiring and fun. Hope to see you there.
