Gentlemen:

We refer to the method used in the City of Cambridge for rubbish collection. At best it can be called a hit-or-miss operation.

The established collection date for Milton Street has been Monday of each week (excepting holidays). Our experience has been as follows: rubbish has been collected on Milton Street anywhere between 8:00 a.m. on a Monday morning to some time during the afternoon on Tuesday, which means that rubbish has been permitted to remain on the sidewalks during the night hours causing a very dangerous and unhealthy condition.

I would suggest that the Public Works Department of the City of Cambridge do either one of two things: regain control in the administration of the personnel employed in the Rubbish Collection Division in order that effective rubbish pick-up may be accomplished or seek to have it accomplished by private contractors who seemingly are doing a better job than our city operated division.

Very truly yours,

Dominic J. Percoco
