WHEREAS: The termination of global conflicts dramatically serves to emphasize the dire necessity for the adoption of a peaceful dialogue between world powers; and

WHEREAS: Reflecting upon the atrocities of the past, it is incumbent upon nations to analytically remember the undue changes wars have wrought in the worlds map, and thus diligently strive to build bridges of unity and understanding; and

WHEREAS: We pause to give recognition to the brave men and women of all branches of the armed services who have displayed the epitome of courage and dedication to duty; and

WHEREAS: Memorial Day, a time to set aside to pay homage to men and women of all wars, will be observed with ceremonies to be held on Cambridge Common on Monday, May 31, 1993 and a parade exiting the Common at 9:30 a.m. and exercises will follow at the Cemetery and at Weeks Bridge on the Charles River; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this Cambridge City Council does hereby salute and applaud the brave fallen men and women who have fought so courageously to preserve the freedom and safety of the United States of America and other areas of our world.
