WHEREAS: In July of 1968, Edwardo Silva came from Portugal to the United States with his wife Gloria and their six children, and settled in the City of Cambridge; and

WHEREAS: The Silva family lived at 206 Charles Street during their first five years in Cambridge; and

WHEREAS: During this time, Eduardo worked as an asphalt raker and laborer with Cuneo Press and Research Foods Corporation; and

WHEREAS: As the years progressed, Eduardo and Gloria had three more children; in all, they were blessed with nine children: Arnie, Joe, Diane, Rosa, Carlos, Jorge, Lui, Lucy and Debbie, who in turn provided them with many lovely grandchildren; and

WHEREAS: Eduardo and Gloria accomplished the American dream of home ownership when they purchased two homes on 167 and 173 Charles Street, which everybody in Cambridge knows as the old Rod and Reel Club; and

WHEREAS: About fifteen years ago, Eduardo had an accident at Research Foods which left him permanently disabled; and

WHEREAS: During the years of his disability, Eduardo spent a great deal of time in his back yard caring for his grape vines and fruit trees; and

WHEREAS: He was most famous in the neighborhood for his walk with a cane from Charles Street up to Fourth Street, to Cambridge Street over to Fifth Street, and down to the corner of Charles, which corner the City Council today dedicates in his memory; and

WHEREAS: It was at this corner that Eduardo would watch everything that was going on, would give a cheerful greeting to neighbors and friends, and even people he did not know, and would keep an eye on the neighborhood for the benefit of all of the residents; and

WHEREAS: The life of Eduardo Silva exemplifies the devotion to family and community which so many immigrants brought to their new lives in Cambridge, and which created the close, strong neighborhoods that shaped this city; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the City Council go on record dedicating the corner of Fifth Street and Charles Street as "Eduardo Silva Corner" in his memory; and be it further

RESOLVED: That the City Clerk be and hereby is requested to prepare a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution for presentation to the Silva family on behalf of the entire City Council.
