Mayor Walter J. Sullivan

September 21, 1987

Cg.
WHEREAS:

With the death of Theresa "Terry" Rowe-McCauley, Cambridge has lost a feeling human being and a great friend; and

WHEREAS:

As secretary and counsellor at the Cambridge and Somerville Program for Alcohol and Rehabilitation, a shelter for alcoholics and the homeless in Somerville, and, since 1980, as Director of the Cambridge Program for Alcohol and rehabilitation, Terry gave care to those who did not care, and could not care for themselves; and

WHEREAS:

She was not afraid to disturb the comfortable in order to comfort the disturbed and left little doubt that what was important was not from where you came but where you were going in life, not how much you had but how well you were doing with the challenges of life; now therefore be it

RESOLVED:

That this City Council expresses sympathy to Theresa "Terry" Rowe-McCauley's husband, William, her daughter, Donna Moschella, her mother ^{and her} brothers and sisters. Further, that this City Council appreciates the life of the late Terry Rowe - all of us are richer from her presence, we are poorer by her absence; and be it further
