VICE MAYOR RUSSELL
COUNCILLOR SULLIVAN
COUNCILLOR TOOMEY
COUNCILLOR TRIANTAFILLOU

WHEREAS: The people of this City have time and time again demonstrated their diehard community spirit, through their ongoing support of public celebrations which showcase the finest assets of our communities; and

WHEREAS: What better cause for celebration in our City than diversity, for Cambridge truly is an international city whose residents include natives of countries, languages, and cultures from across the globe, and whose presence and vitality in our City has created an name for Cambridge both far and wide; and

WHEREAS: The World's Fair in Central Square, to take place on June 4, 1995 from one o'clock until six o'clock, will feature multicultural performances that truly capture the spirit of world music, representing the jazz, rock, Brazilian, gospel, funk, reggae, and New Orleans musical genres, among others; and

WHEREAS: In addition, dozens of Cambridge merchants and craftspeople will display their wares along Massachusetts Avenue, and goods from around the world will be for sale, ranging from handmade jewelry and clothing to artwork in various styles; and

WHEREAS: The World's Fair in Central Square would not have been possible without the efforts of the Central Square Business Association, the International Restaurants of Central Square, the Cambridge Arts Council, the Department of Traffic and Parking, the Police Department, the Department of Public Works, and other local businesses, organizations, and volunteers who have worked to bring the range of our many cultural traditions to center stage - and indeed the center of the City - in Central Square, Cambridge; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this Cambridge City Council urges all residents to attend and participate in The World's Fair in Central Square, a grand celebration of the diversity of our neighborhoods and our communities.

In City Council May 15, 1995
