Product of the Cambridge Public School System

Head Coach Northeastern University Women's Volleyball Team

Weekend of November 18 Won the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championships

What makes it so unique is they won with seven players and her three best players were out due to the measles outbreak on campus. When all other people felt maybe the team should forfeit the weekend because of the lack of depth the Coach and Team opted to be counted and wanted to either win or be defeated because playing and not forfeiting.
