

City of Cambridge

IN CITY COUNCIL

Councillor William H. Walsh

December 12, 1988

- WHEREAS: Oftentimes, in our search for persons of promise, we tend to look only outside our own locale and, by so doing, overlook persons of enormous promise who live only a matter of a few streets away; and
- WHEREAS: This resolution counters that tendency as we call attention to a native Cantabridgian, a person of limitless promise, a resident of Matignon Road, David Barry Connolly, who will be sworn in on December 13, 1988 as an attorney empowered to practice law within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and
- WHEREAS: From his earliest days of education at the M.E. Fitzgerald School and participation in the Academically Talented Program at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School during his 6th, 7th and 8th grade years, through Boston College High School and subsequent graduation from Harvard University and Cornell University Law School, the competence and consistent carefulness with which he has disciplined his development in every facet of his person bode well for his personal and professional success in the life of the law and in the life of the wider community; and
- WHEREAS: The selfless support and encouragement provided by his parents all along the way, urging him to become all that he has the potential to be, will reach a plateau of fruition when, as he is sworn in, his day is, in reality, their day; now therefore be it
- RESOLVED: That this City Council congratulates David Barry Connolly, a person with great promise yet to unfold, as he begins the practice of law; and be it further
- RESOLVED: That the City Clerk be and is requested to prepare a duly engrossed copy of this Resolution for presentation to David Barry Connolly.
