WHEREAS: Arbor Day was first celebrated in 1872 with the planting of more than a million trees in Nebraska and is now observed throughout the nation and the world, and

WHEREAS: Cambridge's City Arborist, Kelly Writer, brings with him a vision for renewed celebration of our trees and urban forest area and tree maintenance and a focus on the education of children as central to the maintenance of the urban forest of the future; and

WHEREAS: Urban Forestry Department and Public Works in Cambridge, students from schools and Cambridge Tree Project are involved in teaching us all how to take care of trees in Cambridge through demonstrations on Arbor Day; and

WHEREAS: Arbor Day is celebrated in Cambridge in late April and early May; and

WHEREAS: Cambridge has again won the designation as Tree City USA; and

WHEREAS: Trees can cut heating and cooling costs, moderate the temperature, decrease flooding and store water, clean the air, produce life-giving oxygen, reduce the erosion of our precious topsoil by wind and water, and provide habitat for wildlife, and

WHEREAS: Trees are a renewable resource giving us paper, wood for our homes, fuel for our fires, and beautify our community; and

WHEREAS: Trees, wherever they are planted, are a source of joy and spiritual renewal; now therefore be it
