Subject St. Peter's School

Enclosed is a map showing a 300 foot radius from the property line of St. Peter's School, and a tabulation of all parcels intercepted by the 300 foot radius.

The total intercepted area is 859,485 square feet which equals 19.74 acres.

Kindly call if there are further questions.

859,485 sq ft = 19.74 Acres

1 Acre = 43560 sq ft

44,381 sq. Feet =

43560 / 821 = 1 Acre + 821 sq ft

44381 / 859485 = .0516 %

A thought for the week

John L. Anderson, Director

"Nice to see you. Hope to see you at Christmas." Do you wonder whether ministers ever feel like saying that to the people they see only once or twice a year, at Easter and/or Christmas?

When you think about it, is it not remarkable how the glory of Easter has such a sharp but joyous impact? Even on the once or twice a year church goers? Is it not remarkable how the doubts and darkness of Calvary was followed by the brightness of the Resurrection?

How it emphasizes the promise of life after death? How the message of Easter is stressed in individual meaning that there is nothing one has done that can not be forgiven; nothing that God cannot correct by giving one a new start? Is it not remarkable how millions of people, on this one day, at least, feel the presence of Christ in their hearts, mind, body and soul?

If these things are true as surely millions of people believe, is it not strange how some people realize their retarded faith requires new hope on Easter - and then end such thoughts the day after Easter? Can you explain why the celebration of Easter seems to end so abruptly; why it is not a continuing experience?...Your thoughts and views are welcome - always...

City student, 19, dies in fall from mountain

By Lisa Latva
Special to the Chronicle

A 19-year-old Cambridge resident was killed Sunday after he lost footing and was unable to stop sliding 1500-2000 feet down an ice-covered trail on Mount Washington in New Hampshire.

Mark Brockman, a sophomore at Boston University and resident of Bigelow Street, suffered a skull fracture and dislocated neck. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Andro-scoggin Valley Hospital in Berlin, NH, Sunday evening.

Brockman was one of 10 members of the Boston University Outing Club who camped in a shelter in Tuckerman's Ravine Saturday night. Seven members set out for the summit of the mountain but four turned back due to inexperience or inappropriate equipment. Brockman and two others reached the 6288-foot summit and were descending when Brockman fell.

Born in Norfolk, Virginia, he attended Boston schools and was graduated from Boston Latin High School in 1981. He was enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts at BU in biology and was especially interested in pursuing some type of outdoor biology.

Brockman lived in the Earth-Environment Awareness House at Boston University and was a member of the Biology Majors Association, Outing Club, Hand Gliding Association and two clubs off-campus; the Spelunking Club and the Boston Grotto Club, both cave exploration groups.

He also actively supported Greenpeace and Amnesty International.

Brockman leaves his mother, Ellen Brockman of Cambridge; father, Dan Brockman of Swampscott and brother, James of Cambridge.

Radcliffe plans peace fellowship

The Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College has received a grant of $20,000 from an anonymous donor for a peace fellowship. The grant will support the work of a woman or women "actively involved in finding peaceful solutions to conflict or potential conflict among groups or nations."

The fellowship will provide a stipend for research on issues that affect the stability of people and nations, such as nuclear disarmament, cold war detente, population control, or utilization of resources.

The grant may be used by one woman for one year or two women for six months each and, in addition to the stipend, will provide office space, auditing privileges, and access to the libraries and other facilities of Radcliffe College and Harvard University.

Women who are eligible are those working with national or international groups in the general area of peace and disarmament or other relevant issues.

Applications will be judged on the significance of the proposed project and its potential contributions to the area of peace and disarmament. The application deadline is May 1. Funds are available for the fellowship to begin after July 1.

Inquiries and requests for application forms should be made to Peace Fellowship, The Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute, Radcliffe College, 10 Garden St., Cambridge, MA 02138; 495-8212.

Founded in 1960 as the Radcliffe Institute for Independent Study, the Bunting Institute is a multidisciplinary program for women scholars, scientists, artists, and writers.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Board of the City of Cambridge will hold a public hearing on April 19, 1983 at 7:30 P.M. on a petition by Patrick C. Corcoran, et al., to amend the text of the Zoning Ordinance as follows:

(1) In Table 5-3, Table of Dimensional Requirements - Business Districts, on line Business B-1, insert superscript (e) under column (5), Minimum Yard in Feet, at entries for side and rear.

(2) In footnote (e), replace the first sentence with the following: "Where any lot abuts a residential district, buildings above and below ground shall be set back a minimum of 20 feet from the zoning district boundary line, notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided in Article 6 of this Ordinance."

(3) In footnote (e), after the first sentence add: "Said setback shall consist exclusively of landscaped green area as defined in Article 2.000."

The Public Hearing will be held in the Conference Room, Community Development Department, 57 Inman Street, Cambridge.

The proposed amendment would require a new setback of 20 feet from residential district lines in the BB-1 District and would require that setback and the existing setback in the BB-2 District to be treated as landscaped green area and free from buildings above and below ground. The hearing on a similar petition by Marilyn Z. Wellons, et al, previously scheduled for April 5, 1983 has been cancelled. Copies of this petition are on file in the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cambridge. Questions concerning this petition may be addressed to Lester Barber at 498-9034.

In amendment to an ordinance entitled "The Zoning Ordinances of the City of Cambridge."

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

The Zoning Ordinances passed to be ordained September 26, 1977 entitled "The Zoning Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" is hereby amended by amending the Zoning Map by adopting the following District Designations:

1.0 Rezone to Office 1 (O-1) District that area presently zoned Residence C-1 which is circumscribed by a line beginning at a point, said point being the intersection of a line 100 feet southeast of and parallel to the centerline of Huron Avenue and the centerline of Concord Avenue;

1.1 Thence proceeding in a southeasterly direction along the centerline of Concord Avenue for approximately 250 feet to its intersection with the northeasterly projection of the centerline of Manassas Avenue;

1.2 Thence turning and proceeding in a southwesterly and northwesterly direction along the centerline of Manassas Avenue for approximately 475 feet to its intersection with a line 100 feet southeast of and parallel to the centerline of Huron Avenue;

1.3 Thence turning and proceeding in a northeasterly direction along a line 100 feet southeast of and parallel to the centerline of Huron Avenue for approximately 215 feet to its intersection with the centerline of Concord Avenue, the point of origin.

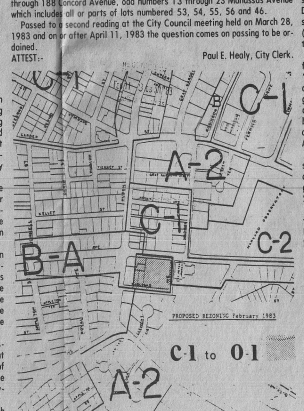

1.00 Said area includes all or parts of the following parcels of land:

1.01 Premises shown on Assessor's Plat No. 226: Even numbers 158 through 188 Concord Avenue, odd numbers 13 through 23 Manassas Avenue which includes all or parts of lots numbered 53, 54, 55, 56 and 46.

Passed to second reading at the City Council meeting held on March 28, 1983 and on or after April 11, 1983 the question comes on passing to be ordained.

ATTEST:-

Paul E. Healy, City Clerk.

Telephone company sets seminars for seniors

New England Telephone, in cooperation with Somerville - Cambridge Elder Services, is sponsoring a series of lunchtime seminars at nutrition sites in the two communities.

Guest speaker will be Roberta Clement, public relations manager for New England Telephone's north division.

Clement will preview some of the upcoming changes in the telecommunications industry that are the result of two recent actions on the part of the federal government.

She will also offer suggestions for dealing with annoyance calls and will respond to questions from the audience.

In addition, Robert Carroll, NET's manager of handicapped services, will discuss the company's services for special needs — telecommunications equipment designed for customers who are speech, hearing or motor impaired.

Reservations are required and information about meeting dates can be obtained by calling the local elderly center director or Elder Services at 628-2601.

Clement said that New England Telephone has established a toll-free information line 1-800-555-5000 — to respond to customer questions concerning recent and future changes as part of the company's "Let's Talk" program.

Spring festival fair set

Cambridge Camping Association, the Community Art Center(Cambridge), Omega, CASPAR (Cambridge and Somerville), St. Monica's Home in Roxbury, the Roxbury Community School, and Aid to Incarcerated Mothers (Framingham) are the community service agencies aided by proceeds from last year's Mardi Gras Fair at Christ Church, Harvard Square, Cambridge.

This year's fair was snowed out at Mardi Gras time, but this year's Spring Festival Fair will be held on Saturday, April 9 from 10 am to 5 pm, with auctions at 12 noon and at 3 pm. The Kids' Saturday Matinee Theater will perform at 11:30, 1:30, and 2:30. There will also be books, plants, food to take home, a snack bar, attic treasures, and games, activities, and entertainment for all ages. A crepe supper will be served at 6 for which a donation of $4.00 is requested.

Community service agencies such as those listed here are beset by decreasing funds and increasing work loads. Come have a good time at the Spring Festival Fair and crepe supper while at the same time helping agencies such as these to continue their good work. For further information and supper reservations please call 876-1814.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
PURCHASING DEPARTMENT
INVITATION TO BID
SECTION 1A

The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts (the Owner) acting through its Purchasing Agent, will receive sealed bids for Elevator Preventive Maintenance at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, Room 303, City Hall Cambridge, Mass. 02139.

Attention is called to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 149, Sections 44 A through 44 L or most recently amended, which require parties desiring to submit general bids to submit a completed prequalification form and an application to bid. All forms except plans and specifications, will be made available without cost or deposit by the Owner.

This project is concerned with Elevator Maintenance in various Municipal Buildings. Consequently, the Owner will consider general bids from contractors who specialize in such trades providing such contractors file the prequalification form and application to bid at the specified time and place. Completed prequalification forms and/or update and application to bid shall be submitted not later than:

12:00 Noon Thursday April 7, 1983

General bids shall be submitted by prequalified contractors not later than:

2:00 P.M. Thursday May 5, 1983

Specifications will be available not later than:

12:00 Noon Thursday April 7, 1983

The Contract Documents may be examined at the plan room of Dodge Construction Reports, 858 Park Square Building, Boston, and at the Office of the Master Builders Association, 383 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston.

Every bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form specified in General Laws, Chapter 149, Section 44B, as most recently amended, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond as set forth in the specifications, each in the full amount of the contract.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so.

Attention is called to the City's Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination and Affirmative Action Program as contained in the bidding documents.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in state and federal laws must be paid on this project.

Harvard ministers aid hospital

Dr. David Link, acting director of the Department of Pediatrics at Cambridge Hospital, recently received a donation of $2400 from the United Ministry of Harvard.

Link is concerned about the fact that some of the families of children hospitalized at Cambridge Hospital lack the funds to purchase such items as toys and pajamas for their children. He approached both Harvard and MIT for a donation, with the hope of raising $5000. This money would be invested by the Department of Pediatrics, with the interest generated used to purchase needed items for 25 to 30 children per year. The original $5000 would remain invested as a permanent source of income.

When Reverend Gomes of the United Ministry of Harvard presented Dr. Link with a check for $2400, Dr. Link was almost halfway to his goal. The United Ministry raised the $2400 from its Christmas season carol services at Memorial Church. Through its donation to the Cambridge Hospital Department of Pediatrics, the United Ministry is helping the children of Cambridge.

With $2600 still needed to reach this goal, Dr. Link is hopeful that the money can be raised. For more information concerning this fundraising effort, please contact Dr. Link at 498-1497.

Germans' Kohl, opponent both were in Hitler Youth

BONN, West Germany (AP) —Chancellor Helmut Kohl and his challenger Hans-Jochen Vogel both belonged to the Hitler Youth, their parties said yesterday after a newspaper. article about Vogel that his supporters called election-time "character assassination."

The article, published by the conservative Bild am Sonntag with the headline "In The Hitler Youth We Feared Vogel," claimed the Social Democratic Party candidate had been a squad leader of the Nazi youth movement during World War II.

The Social Democratic Party said Vogel was a member of the Hitler Youth because membership was required, but was not a squad leader. Kohl's office said the chancellor also was a member of the youth group.

"Everyone had to be," said Walter von Tiesenhausen, a spokesman for the ruling Christian Democrats who face a challenge from Vogel in the March 6 elections.

He added that at the end of World War II, Kohl, then 15, was pulled into a defense training camp and was preparing to take up arms when he was briefly taken prisoner by American forces in Bavaria.

Until the mid-1930s, membership in the Hitler Youth was voluntary. After that, Hitler's government required membership of non Jewish Germans over the age of 14 and fear of reprisals reduced the number of resisters to a small group.

The newspaper article quoted a 52-year-old veterinarian, Ernst Holler, as saying he recalled that Vogel had been a "culture commissioner" in the Giessen branch of the Hitler Youth organization.

Holler said Vogel had once demoted him to the rank of "cub" in the organization for getting into a fight.

The Social Democrats, in a statement released in Bonn, acknowledged Vogel had been a member of the Hitler Youth in 1941 and 1942 "as (were) all those of the same age." The statement denied that Vogel, then 16, had ever been a squad leader but said he had been responsible for theater, music and cultural activities of the Giessen organization.

They never tire of playing around

Youngsters exercise their climbing skills on this strange creature made of rubber tires at a playground in Tokyo. City employees in Tokyo's Ote Ward had the idea, and auto repair and tire companies contributed used tires in all shapes and sizes. The playground has an estimated 3,000 tires.

Gandhi offers deal to Assam & Sikhs in bid to end strife

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A new government was sworn in yesterday in Assam state, and the chief minister promised to provide relief to victims of the election-time battles that left at least 1,300 people dead and 100,000 homeless.

Hiteswar Saikai, a member of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party, took the oath of office as chief minister along with a 12-member Cabinet, ending nearly a year of direct federal rule in the northeastern state.

In another political development, Mrs. Gandhi announced a package of concessions to India's militant Sikhs, who have kept northern Punjab state in turmoil for months, but she avoided their major demands.

Saikai, 44, told reporters in Gauhati, Assam's main city, that his main task would be to end the bloodshed that erupted Feb. 2 in an attempt to block the elections ordered by Mrs. Gandhi.

In the three-stage election, the Congress Party took 90 seats in the 126-seat state assembly. Violence prevented voting in 18 districts, and election officials said those seats would remain vacant "indefinitely." The major opposition parties boycotted the election.

A student-led movement of Hindu Assamese, opposed to the hundreds of thousands of Moslem immigrants from Bangladesh, tried to block the voting as part of its effort to get the settlers expelled.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Gandhi told a crowd at a Sikh temple that Sikhs may now carry their traditional daggers on Indian Airlines domestic flights, and All India Radio will broadcast Sikh prayers. Daggers have been banned on domestic flights since one was used in the hijacking of a jetliner in 1981.

Disarm talks stall on Soviet nuke counting

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The Geneva disarmament talks between the United States and the Soviet Union are stalled on Soviet insistence that French and British nuclear arsenals be included in the discussions, the West German foreign office said yesterday.

In a briefing following the return Saturday of Bonn's disarmament expert, Briedrich Ruth, from two days of talks in Moscow, the foreign office said that if the "blockade" of the talks by the Soviets on the British-French question could be broken, real progress could follow.

The Soviets insist France and Britain's 162 older generation intercontinental nuclear missiles be included in the Geneva discussions. NATO and France, which does not belong to NATO's military wing, contend talks should be confined to middle-range weapons.

NATO has offered a middle-range zero-option proposal whereby NATO would halt deployment of new U.S. cruise and Pershing-2 missiles in Europe — mostly West Germany — if the Soviets scrap their middle-range rockets already targeted on the West.

Fundamental sects soar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ultra-fundamentalist sects are growing at an alarming rate in the United States and many of them are developing characteristics "chillingly similar" to the Peoples Temple before the Jonestown tragedy, a leading cult psychologist says.

Defectors in increasing numbers report that the groups are heavily armed and many of them are training in warfare in the belief the "great tribulation" is at hand which they must fight to defend themselves and their supplies from outsiders whom they consider the Antichrist.

"The warmings and appeals which I am receiving today from exmembers of these sects and the families of present members are chillingly similar to what I was hearing from concerned relatives of Peoples Temple members in the six-month period immediately preceding the Jonestown tragedy," Dr. Lowell Streiker said.

Streiker, a psychologist, played a key role in the counseling of Peoples Temple survivors.

Antigravity Jazz Band's future is on the rise

by Ed Rader
Special to the Chronicle

In the center of the stage a bust of the Buddha sat on a stool, as inscrutable as ever concerning the goings on around him. To his left a man was playing the bow chime, an instrument made from a curved piece of sheet metal connected to an iron bar with attached rods of adjustable lengths for tone variation. It makes a sound like rumbling thunder, only on key.

Next to him two women were playing the tambours and the shruti-box, instruments used in classical Indian music. In the middle of the stage, six men were playing the sorts of instruments you might expect to find in any jazz sextet: saxaphone, guitar, trombone, bass, drums, and congas.

But from the way this odd looking ensemble was able to switch from the mesmerizing, droning sound of Indian music to the "everybody up" beat of beebob jazz at the drop of a downbeat, this was clearly not your typical jazz combo.

It was, in fact, The Antigravity Jazz Band, one of the area's leading practitioners of New Music. Bassist Warren Senders, who calls himself "the de facto leader" of Antigravity, is also something of a self-appointed guru for the New Music. He defines it as, "Something that goes beyond the usual expectations of what people are going to hear in a jazz club. It may also go beyond what's commercially viable."

Trombonist Bob Pilkington, who along with Senders composes or arranges most of the band's material, adds that in New Music, "There are no rules as to what we can play or can't play; or how we approach playing. There are no formalized structures."

That absence of rules or formalized structure was strongly evident during last Wednesday's concert at the Berklee Performance Center. During the first part of the concert the band was joined on stage by eight additional brass or woodwind musicians and the five member Agbekor Drum Troupe, who play a variety of West African percussion instruments. Although no doubt internally consistent, the resulting cacaphony of sound may have proved too much for some of the approximately 200 members of the audience, since at least a quarter of them left during intermission or before.

After intermission, when the band appeared as described, at the beginning of this article, the music was much more enjoyable. It was still quite different from anything these ears had ever heard, and at times demanded a high level of concentration, but it was never boring and was quite often a lot of fun to listen to. Antigravity is also fun to watch, especially Senders and Pilkington, who are constantly in motion, bobbing, jumping, and weaving to the beat.

Senders says that their performance in the concert hall is nothing compared to the sorts of theatrics they've been known to engage in at small clubs. On the tenth anniversary of Watergate, for example, the band was playing at Ryles. To commemorate the event, guitarist D. Wood wore a Nixon mask, and drummer Gordon Hahn sported a devil mask.

Horn players Pilkington and Phil Scarf did a little two-step in the background, and the whole band played "bland Republican lounge music." Senders, meanwhile, was dressed in his high school graduation suit and was reading from Hunter Thompson's description of Nixon leaving the White House.

The theatrics, says Senders, help the band expose its audiences to new musical concepts. "If they've had their defenses softened by laughter, if the whole band suddenly makes a goo-goo face at you, you're momentarily defenseless, and it makes it easier for a different musical concept to get in and be heard as music, as opposed to, 'what is this, and why are they doing it?' "

Senders recalled how the band turned the tables on a heckler at Springfield's one night. "I was doing a vocal solo using a lot of extended vocal techniques, which translated into the vernacular means weird noises you make with your throat. A guy in the front row, who was obviously pretty juiced, shouted loudly, 'Give me a break, buddy!' I started singing back, 'Give me a break, buddy!' By the third time, the whole band had joined me in pointing our fingers at this guy and singing, 'Give me a break buddy! He cracked up, and after that he listened to the rest of our set with rapt attention."

Pilkington points out another use of the onstage antics. "It breaks up the musical parts," he says. "Instead of demanding attention from the listeners all the time we give them a chance to relax, but still retain their attention."

Both men deny, however, that their music is inordinately difficult to listen to. "The band is actually easy to listen to, if certain defenses are dropped," says Pilkington.

Senders insists that most of his compositions have pretty, definable melodies and are fairly simple in construction. "If you have something simple to start with, you can do more with it," he says. It is what they "do with it", in the form of long improvisational solos and jams that sets Antigravity apart and keeps its listeners on their toes. "What they hear," notes Senders, "refuses to be identified as jazz."

Much of Antigravity's uniqueness can be traced back to Senders' own diverse musical education. He became fascinated by the model droned bass systems that are prevalent in Indian classical music at an early age. "When I was growing up in Lexington there were bagpipers who lived down the street from me - Scottish expatriots," he explained. "Then when I heard Indian vocal music, it touched me very deeply." By the time he was thirteen, says Senders, he was not only listening to Ornette Colman, but Turkish, Indian and African music as well. "I'd go into Harvard Square and buy any records that looked weird. It was my raison d'etre!"

Senders went on to two and a half years of study in African Dance Drumming and five years of work in Hindsthani Vocal Music with a woman who lives in Brookline.

He also studied ethnomusicology and beeame fascinated by the underlying principles found in seemingly vastly different music. "You play me any piece of music that's been derived in the 20th century, using techniques of one order or another, and chances are I can find a piece that was made up by some guy in the Amazon somewhere that uses the same techniques."

All of his listening and learning had a direct effect on the music he began to compose, says Senders. "I assimilated the music on an emotional and gut level without trying to technologically analyze it," he recalls. "As I was walking down the street I found myself making up melodies based on Indian modal techniques."

The result of all the cross-currents has been what he terms, "Music for a technologically condensed society." Explains Senders, "I think that it's an important element in our culture that we can hear music from around the world instantaneously. Our music reflects that

Lewis Hayden had an overflow, then he would get the slaves into my grandfather's house.

"My grandfather was very outspoken and made a lot of speeches at Faneuil Hall all through his life. Those slaveholders would come up, knew of John J. Smith, only knew the name. Many a time he was spirited away from home for safety...

"They tried to get the free men in the North, colored; if they could capture them, they'd take them back South and make slaves of them.

"My grandmother, with these six little children, said to him, 'John, will you please stop this foolishness? What am I going to do if you get captured or killed? I've got those six little children to take care of.'

"But my grandfather was a very strong-minded man, very kind-hearted, very keen and an excellent orator, and he did his own thinking, and fearless."

Smith was known as a spunky community activist, and prided herself on speaking her mind to anyone without fear. Below is her memory of an exchange with Rep. Tip O'Neill on the inner belt controversy:

"This very Thomas P. O'Neill, who is speaker now, told me, 'Oh no, there was no danger.' He didn't know me, know anything about me. He was up here to get some award, and I said to him, 'Well, Mr. O'Neill, you took an oath of office to protect your constituents, and I'm in your jurisdiction.' I said, 'You don't know anything about it.'"

Below, Smith talks about her love for wild flowers:

"I used to walk all around and people would say, 'I know you were here, Miss Smith. I saw you with your flowers in your hand.' I'd say, 'You don't say weeds?' They'd say, 'No, because you didn't like the word weeds, because you always call them flowers.' I said, 'They are flowers. They are just as beautiful as though they are carnations and roses. All have their places. I just love them.'"

Ozeline B. Wise

Ozeline B. Wise, who currently lives on Mead Street, was interviewed about her own life, and the life of her older sister, Satyra Bennett, who died in June of 1977. The women were daughters of Frances Lavinia Pearson and Rev. William B. Pearson, who served as the pastor of St. Paul's AME Church, on Bishop Allen Drive.

Bennett was born in Jamaica in 1892, when her mother was visiting relatives.

Bennett attended the Cambridge High and Latin School, and graduated from Wilberforce University in 1913. She took a teaching position in Virginia, but soon moved back to the Boston area. In 1919, she married Cyril Geoge Bennett. The couple had one son, George Barrett Bennett.

Bennett worked as a linotype operator for 30 years, and was very active in St. Paul's AME Church for more than 70 years. She was also a co-founder of the Cambridge Community Center.

Wise, 11 years younger than Bennett, was attending college when her father died. She therefore went straight to work, and never finished college. In 1931, she married John Wise.

Wise became the first black woman employed in the banking department of the Massachusetts state government, and she worked there 20 years.

Below, Wise talks about her first efforts to get a job:

"My brother was a pharmacist, my sister was a teacher, and I hoped to go into medicine. And it didn't work because my father died before I could get my college education.

"My mother thought I shouldn't give up, because she did own property, and she was willing to see that I went. But I thought it was unfair because I didn't know what might happen, and I didn't want to use all her financial resources...

"I took the Civil Service exam — the postal exam — and received a nice mark, 92.6, on my exam, and I thought maybe I would get a chance to work in the post office.

"But at that time, the postmaster general didn't believe that women were all sufficient to their jobs, and I didn't get it. My mother was persistent, though. She even wrote the attorney general in Washington, but to no avail."

Baseball clinics set

For the second year, the North Division of the Cambridge Little Baseball League in cooperation with the Fitzgerald Community School will sponsor a series of baseball clinics for boys and girls between the ages of seven and ten.

The clinics are specifically geared toward those who are about to begin their first season in April, as well as players who wish to join the North Division but wish to sharpen their baseball skills before the spring registration period.

The clinics will cover the fundamentals of baseball, such as throwing, catching and hitting.

The first clinic meeting will be held Tuesday, march 1, with subsequent meetings on March 8, 15 and 22. All sessions will begin at 4:30 pm at the M. E. Fitzgerald School gym.

A thought for the week

John L. Anderson, Director

Lots of proud people strive for and glory in a stunning status symbol. Other people, equally proud, have a sad status. For some families, a status symbol is a heritage given in the cradle...released at the grave. A status symbol is an accomplishment. However a moral stature linked to the material status is far more important. Surely all good people will agree moral stature should overshadow material status.

A status symbol is a fragile possession. Bad judgment, bad breaks, bad behavior - even other people can crash a status symbol to 'smithereens'. A moral stature is not so fragile. You can destroy it, of course, but no one else can destroy it for you. A status symbol is a part of the world. Moral stature is a part of the person. This is another way of pointing out, "We are in the world - we are not of the world."...

Hiring plan

The community selection process would begin with letters sent to parents, in the case of a position – such as principal – based in a single school. All parents of students in the school would be invited to participate in the process, as well as teachers and other staff from the school.

In the case of a position that covered the whole school system – for instance, coordinator of a specific field, such as science – newspaper advertisements would be among the first steps.

In either case, community organizations, school bulletins, and other methods also would be used to notify members of the community.

Meetings would be held to explain the community participation process and the position being filled.

Community committees would then be set up by lottery, with different lottery pools to assure representation of minority and non-minority parents and staff.

"Job description," "resume screening" and "interview" committees would be created from the staff and parents in the lottery.

Alternates would also be chosen for the committees in the lottery, to serve in the event that one or another of the selected parents or staff turned out not to be able to serve.

Training sessions for the parents and staff on all three committees would be a major part of the process.

In the training sessions, the school department's affirmative action plan, agreement on minority hiring, the teachers' contract provisions on hiring, and the position in question would be described and explained.

Another major feature of the process as described in the draft version of the plan is the training of eight non-voting chairs, one of whom would be in charge of carrying out the community participation process for each position to be filled. These could be teachers or parents, and would be trained by the school department.

The affirmative action officer or the AAAC would have to certify that the hiring plan had been followed correctly at a number of points, including: when the parent-staff committees were selected; when the administration finished its recruiting of candidates for a specific post; when the resume-screening committee had made its choices; and before the final recommendation is submitted to the school committee for a vote.

The AAAC suggestions included more specific lines of responsibility at the administraton level, and a suggestion that notices to parents launching the process be delivered by certified mail.

Roland MacKinnon

Roland M. MacKinnon, who was born in Somerville and lived many years in Cambridge, died suddenly February 19 in Springfield. He was a shipper with Houghton Mifflin Company.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred (Crowley); a son, Keith and two sisters, Laverna Razunski of Chicopee Falls and Burnalda MacKinnon of Florida.

Funeral services held in Grace Methodist Church were arranged by Watson Funeral Home. Burial was in Cambridge Cemetery. Donations may be made to the above church, 56 Magazine St., Cambridge, MA 02139 or the Home for Little Wanderers, 161 South Huntington Ave., Jamaica Plain, MA 02130.

CAMBRIDGE TRUST COMPANY
1336 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS 02138
NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Cambridge Trust Company (the "Trust Company") will be held at the banking rooms, 1336 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts on Monday, February 28, 1983, at 2:00 P.M. for the transaction of the following business:
1. To consider and vote upon a proposed Plan of Acquisition whereby all of the outstanding shares of capital stock of the Trust Company (the "Trust Company Stock") would be acquired (the "Acquisition") by Cambridge Bancorp (the "Holding Company"), a Massachusetts corporation organized solely to become a bank holding company for the Trust Company, and holders of Trust Company Stock would receive one share of the common stock of the Holding Company in exchange for each share of Trust Company Stock held by them.
2. To consider and vote upon amendments to the By-laws of the Trust Company to provide for (a) classification of the Board of Directors into three classes to serve staggered terms of three years each, (b) removal of directors only for cause by a vote of either the holders of 80 % of the Trust Company Stock or a majority of the directors then in office, and (c) the filling of vacancies on the Board of Directors by vote of a majority of the remaining directors.
3. To consider and vote upon an amendment to the By-laws of the Trust Company to permit, with certain exceptions, a majority of the Board of Directors to amend the By-laws.
4. To fix the number of directors of the Trust Company and to elect a Board of Directors.
5. To elect a Secretary for the Trust Company.
6. To consider and take action upon all matters that may arise in connection with any of the foregoing purposes and upon any other business that may legally come before the meeting.
January 14, 1983, has been fixed as the record date for the determination of stockholders entitled to notice of and to vote at the Annual Meeting and any adjournments thereof. Each stockholder is entitled to one vote for each share of Trust Company Stock owned by such stockholder as of the record date.
If the Acquisition is opposed by the holders of Trust Company Stock at the meeting and effected by the Trust Company, any stockholder (1) who files with the Trust Company, before the taking of the vote on the approval of the Acquisition, written objection to the Acquisition stating that he intends to demand payment for his shares if the Acquisition is consummated and (2) whose shares are not voted in favor of the Acquisition has or may have the right to demand in writing from the Trust Company, within twenty days after the date of mailing to him of notice in writing that the Acquisition has become effective, payment for his shares and an appraisal of the value thereof. The Trust Company and any such stockholder shall in such cases have the rights and duties and shall follow the procedure set forth in Sections 85 to 98, inclusive, of Chapter 156B of the General Laws of Massachusetts.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
PURCHASING DEPARTMENT
INVITATION TO BID
The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, (the Owner) acting through its Purchasing Agent, will receive sealed bids for Masonry Repairs to Cambridge Police Station, 5 Western Avenue, Cambridge.
Bids will be received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, Room 307, City Hall, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139.
Attention is directed to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 149, Sections 44A through 44L as most recently amended, which require parties desiring to submit general bids to submit completed prequalification form and application to bid. All forms except Specifications will be made available, without cost or deposit, by Owner.
The majority of this project is concentrated within the Masonry trade; consequently, the owner will consider bids from contractors who specialize in such trade providing such contractors file the prequalification form, application to bid, each at the specified time and place.
Completed prequalification forms and/or update and the application to bid shall be submitted no later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.
Bids shall be submitted by prequalified contractors not later than: 2:00 P.M. April 7, 1983.
Plans and Specifications will be available not later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.
All material shall be issued and received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, City Hall, Cambridge, MA 02139. Bidders may obtain specification by depositing Twenty five dollars ($25.00) per set; refundable immediately after the bid opening upon return of documents in usable condition.
The Contract Documents may be examined at the plan room of Dodge Construction Reports, 858 Park Square Building, Boston; at the Office of the Master Builders Association, 383 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston.
Every bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form specified in General Laws, Chapter 149, Section 44B as most recently amended, in the amount of five percent (5 %) of the bid.
The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and also a Labor and Material or Payment Bond as set forth in the specifications, each in the full amount of the contract.
The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so.
Attention is called to the City's Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action Program as contained in the bidding documents, Section 18.
Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in state and federal laws must be paid on this project.

Germans' Kohl, opponent both were in Hitler Youth

Hans-Jochen Vogel

BONN, West Germany (AP) —Chancellor Helmut Kohl and his challenger Hans-Jochen Vogel both belonged to the Hitler Youth, their parties said yesterday after a newspaper article about Vogel that his supporters called election-time "character assassination."

The article, published by the conservative Bild am Sonntag with the headline "In The Hitler Youth We Feared Vogel," claimed the Social Democratic Party candidate had been a squad leader of the Nazi youth movement during World War II.

The Social Democratic Party said Vogel was a member of the Hitler Youth because membership was required, but was not a squad leader. Kohl's office said the chancellor also was a member of the youth group.

"Everyone had to be," said Walter von Tiesenhausen, a spokesman for the ruling Christian Democrats who face a challenge from Vogel in the March 6 elections.

He added that at the end of World War II, Kohl, then 15, was pulled into a defense training camp and was preparing to take up arms when he was briefly taken prisoner by American forces in Bavaria.

Until the mid-1930s, membership in the Hitler Youth was voluntary. After that, Hitler's government required membership of non Jewish Germans over the age of 14 and fear of reprisals reduced the number of resisters to a small group.

The newspaper article quoted a 52-year-old veterinarian, Ernst Holler, as saying he recalled that Vogel had been a "culture commissioner" in the Giessen branch of the Hitler Youth organization.

Holler said Vogel had once demoted him to the rank of "cub" in the organization for getting into a fight.

The Social Democrats, in a statement released in Bonn, acknowledged Vogel had been a member of the Hitler Youth in 1941 and 1942 "as (were) all those of the same age." The statement denied that Vogel, then 16, had ever been a squad leader but said he had been responsible for theater, music and cultural activities of the Giessen organization.

They never tire of playing around

Youngsters exercise their climbing skills on this strange creature made of rubber tires at a playground in Tokyo. City employees in Tokyo's Ote Ward had the idea, and auto repair and tire companies contributed used tires in all shapes and sizes. The playground has an estimated 3,000 tires. AP Photo

Gandhi offers deal to Assam & Sikhs in bid to end strife

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A new government was sworn in yesterday in Assam state, and the chief minister promised to provide relief to victims of the election-time battles that left at least 1,300 people dead and 100,000 homeless.

Hiteswar Saikai, a member of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party, took the oath of office as chief minister along with a 12-member Cabinet, ending nearly a year of direct federal rule in the northeastern state.

In another political development, Mrs. Gandhi announced a package of concessions to India's militant Sikhs, who have kept northern Punjab state in turmoil for months, but she avoided their major demands.

Saikai, 44, told reporters in Gauhati, Assam's main city, that his main task would be to end the bloodshed that erupted Feb. 2 in an attempt to block the elections ordered by Mrs. Gandhi.

In the three-stage election, the Congress Party took 90 seats in the 126-seat state assembly. Violence prevented voting in 18 districts, and election officials said those seats would remain vacant "indefinitely." The major opposition parties boycotted the election.

A student-led movement of Hindu Assamese, opposed to the hundreds of thousands of Moslem immigrants from Bangladesh, tried to block the voting as part of its effort to get the settlers expelled.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Gandhi told a crowd at a Sikh temple that Sikhs may now carry their traditional daggers on Indian Airlines domestic flights, and All India Radio will broadcast Sikh prayers. Daggers have been banned on domestic flights since one was used in the hijacking of a jetliner in 1981.

Disarm talks stall on Soviet nuke counting

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The Geneva disarmament talks between the United States and the Soviet Union are stalled on Soviet insistence that French and British nuclear arsenals be included in the discussions, the West German foreign office said yesterday.

In a briefing following the return Saturday of Bonn's disarmament expert, Friedrich Ruth, from two days of talks in Moscow, the foreign office said that if the "blockade" of the talks by the Soviets on the British-French question could be broken, real progress could follow.

The Soviets insist France and Britain's 162 older generation intercontinental nuclear missiles be included in the Geneva discussions. NATO and France, which does not belong to NATO's military wing, contend talks should be confined to middle-range weapons.

NATO has offered a middle-range zero-option proposal whereby NATO would halt deployment of new U.S. cruise and Pershing-2 missiles in Europe — mostly West Germany — if the Soviets scrap their middle-range rockets already targeted on the West.

Fundamental sects soar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ultra-fundamentalist sects are growing at an alarming rate in the United States and many of them are developing characteristics "chillingly similar" to the Peoples Temple before the Jonestown tragedy, a leading cult psychologist says.

Defectors in increasing numbers report that the groups are heavily armed and many of them are training in warfare in the belief the "great tribulation" is at hand which they must fight to defend themselves and their supplies from outsiders whom they consider the Antichrist.

"The warmings and appeals which I am receiving today from exmembers of these sects and the families of present members are chillingly similar to what I was hearing from concerned relatives of Peoples Temple members in the six-month period immediately preceding the Jonestown tragedy," Dr. Lowell Streiker said.

Streiker, a psychologist, played a key role in the counseling of Peoples Temple survivors.

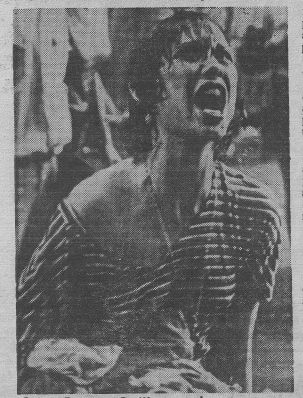

Punk pays off for new director

By GREG KILDAY

"Smithereens" opened in Boston in late January.

It's run was short and not too sweet, but such is often the fate of low-budget, up-from-the-underground movies.

But don't mourn for its 29 year-old director, Susan Seidelman. She's a comer. And even if

Susan Berman 'Smithereens.'

"Smithereens" didn't wow them at the box-office, this punk comedy — about an adventuress named Wren (actress Susan Berman) and her ups and downs in New York's East Village — was invited to the Cannes Film Festival last spring as an official U.S. entry.

Seidelman, a native of Philadelphia and graduate of NYU's film school, made three short films with the assistance of grants from the American Film Institute and the National Endowment for the Arts before attempting "Smithereens," her first feature.

"While I was attending NYU, I lived in the East Village," Seidelman explained. "When I first moved there the place was dead, but in about '79, new kinds of people began moving in. Culturally, things were changing a lot. The '70s, in my opinion, had been a dead period, artistically and musically — especially coming after all the excitement of the '60s. And suddenly at the end of the '70s, something new was happening that I hadn't seen recorded on film.

"I wasn't interested in making a rock 'n' roll film, though. I was more interested in the culture than the music. Because I'd lived there, I had an idea about a certain kind of character. As a woman, I was also interested in creating a certain type of heroine, an antiheroine really, who I'd seen in real life, but I hadn't really seen in the movies."

Serving as her own producer, Seidelman budgeted the screenplay, written by Ron Nyswaner and Peter Askin, at $25,000, which she raised with the help of relatives and friends. But two weeks after she began filming in the summer of 1980, with $18,000 already spent, the project was forced to shut down when Berman broke her leg when she fell from a fire escape while rehearsing a scene.

"It was very bizarre," recounted Seidelman. "Apparently, it was a faulty fire escape — it just ended. She was running along it without looking down and she just ran off the edge."

The movie resumed later that winter. The interiors were shot over a three-week period, and work was finally completed after two weeks of exterior work in the summer of '81. At a final cost of $80,000, the 16mm film (later blown up to 35mm) required all the ingenuity that Seidelman could muster.

Utilizing a core crew of 12 to 15 non-union film workers, mostly fellow NYU graduates, Seidelman wasn't above resorting to barter.

For example, in order to film inside the Peppermint Lounge, Seidelman worked a deal with the management. Figuring that Tuesday nights were slow at the club, she offered to bring in a band and 30 unpaid extras. The club, in turn, could keep its bar open and profit from the extra business.

Although "Smithereens" is proving to be Seidelman's calling card into establishment show business (she's currently working on two potential projects, one already optioned by producer Edgar Sherrick) Seidelman appears to be resisting the temptation to hype her own work.

SACK THEATRES

Boston Herald READER BONUS

The Boston Herald joins Paramount Pictures and Sack Theatres in offering 50 tickets to THE LORDS OF DISCIPLINE starring David Keith as a senior military institute cadet drawn into an ordeal against a dangerous secret elite society. THE LORDS OF DISCIPLINE is now playing at the Sack Cinema 57, Boston; Sack Cinema City, Danvers and Sack Assembly Square, Somerville.

Question: David Keith co-starred as Richard Gere's tragic friend in this hit film about naval flight school trainees. What was the name of this movie?

Just name the movie. Send your answer by letter or postcard to THE LORDS OF DISCIPLINE, P.O. Box 900, Boston MA 02103. No purchase necessary. Enter as many times as you'd like. Two tickets will be sent directly to each of the first 25 correct entries drawn, so be sure to include your name and mailing address. Winners will be drawn on March 4 and will be notified immediately thereafter.

TICKETS ARE GOOD AT ANY SACK CINEMA PLAYING "THE LORDS OF DISCIPLINE."

Announcing This Magnificent Commemorative To One Of Our Nation's Most Beloved Leaders...

John F. Kennedy, 35th President of the United States

KENNEDY Half-Dollar

Plated With Genuine 24-Karat Gold

INCREDIBLY PRICED AT JUST $5.99

Kennedy Half-Dollars are becoming increasingly hard to find. This special commemorative edition will not be repeated after the Sterling Treasury exhausts its supply.

The Kennedy Half-Dollar is the most widely collected and sought after of all coins ever issued by The United States Mint.

This is attributed to both our great love for John F. Kennedy, and the extraordinary beauty of the coin.

Now, The Sterling Treasury has greatly enhanced both the beauty and the value of this masterful coin. This increasingly hard-to-find coin is stamped with the legend 1960 - 1980, to commemorate the 20th anniversary of John F. Kennedy's election to the presidency. It is then electroplated with gleaming genuine 24-karat gold.

You'll be proud to own and display this magnificent commemorative. It makes an extra-special gift for friends and loved ones too.

Price Guaranteed For Only 30 Days Due to fluctuations in the cost of gold, we guarantee this incredible low price for only 30 days. Don't miss this unique collecting opportunity. Order now.

Each Golden Kennedy Half-Dollar you order comes with a serial-numbered Certificate of Authenticity, affirming this to be a U.S. Government Mint Kennedy Half-Dollar electroplated with genuine 24-karat gold.

Wear your Golden Kennedy Half-Dollar on this elegant 18-karat gold electroplated frame, on a 16-inch chain. Your coin removes easily for return to your display. Only $11.95.

All orders processed promptly. Credit card orders processed immediately upon credit approval. Delays notified promptly. Shipment guaranteed within 60 days.

The community selection process would begin with letters sent to parents, in the case of a position — such as principal — based in a single school. All parents of students in the school would be invited to participate in the process, as well as teachers and other staff from the school.

In the case of a position that covered the whole school system — for instance, coordinator of a specific field, such as science — newspaper advertisements would be among the first steps.

In either case, community organizations, school bulletins, and other methods also would be used to notify members of the community.

Meetings would be held to explain the community participation process and the position being filled.

Community committees would then be set up by lottery, with different lottery pools to assure representation of minority and non-minority parents and staff.

"Job description," "resume screening" and "interview" committees would be created from the staff and parents in the lottery.

Alternates would also be chosen for the committees in the lottery, to serve in the event that one or another of the selected parents or staff turned out not to be able to serve.

Training sessions for the parents and staff on all three committees would be a major part of the process.

In the training sessions, the school department's affirmative action plan, agreement on minority hiring, the teachers' contract provisions on hiring, and the position in question would be described and explained.

Another major feature of the process as described in the draft version of the plan is the training of eight non-voting chairs, one of whom would be in charge of carrying out the community participation process for each position to be filled. These could be teachers or parents, and would be trained by the school department.

The affirmative action officer or the AAAC would have to certify that the hiring plan had been followed correctly at a number of points, including: when the parent-staff committees were selected; when the administration finished its recruiting of candidates for a specific post; when the resume-screening committee had made its choices; and before the final recommendation is submitted to the school committee for a vote.

The AAAC suggestions included more specific lines of responsibility at the administraton level, and a suggestion that notices to parents launching the process be delivered by certified mail.

A thought for the week

Lots of proud people strive for and glory in a stunning status symbol. Other people, equally proud, have a sad status. For some families, a status symbol is a heritage given in the cradle...released at the grave. A status symbol is an accomplishment. However, a moral stature linked to the material status is far more important. Surely all good people will agree moral stature should overshadow material status.

John L. Anderson, Director

A status symbol is a fragile possession. Bad judgment, bad breaks, bad behavior - even other people can crash a status symbol to 'smithereens'. A moral stature is not so fragile. You can destroy it, of course, but no one else can destroy it for you. A status symbol is a part of the world. Moral stature is a part of the person. This is another way of pointing out, "We are in the world - we are not of the world."...

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE PURCHASING DEPARTMENT INVITATION TO BID

The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, (the Owner) acting through its Purchasing Agent, will receive sealed bids for Masonry Repairs to Cambridge Police Station, 5 Western Avenue, Cambridge.

Bids will be received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, Room 307, City Hall, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139.

Attention is directed to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 149, Sections 44A through 44L as most recently amended, which require parties desiring to submit general bids to submit completed prequalification form and application to bid. All forms except Specifications will be made available, without cost or deposit, by Owner.

The majority of this project is concerned with the Masonry trade, consequently, the owner will consider bids from contractors who specialize in such trade providing such contractors file the prequalification form, application to bid, each at the specified time and place.

Completed prequalification forms and/or update and the application to bid shall be submitted no later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.

Bids shall be submitted by prequalified contractors not later than: 2:00 P.M. April 7, 1983.

Plans and Specifications will be available not later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.

All material shall be issued and received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, City Hall, Cambridge, MA 02139. Bidders may obtain specification by depositing Twenty five dollars ($25.00) per set, refundable immediately after the bid opening upon return of documents in usable condition.

The Contract Documents may be examined at the plan room of Dodge Construction Reports, 858 Park Square Building, Boston; at the Office of the Master Builders Association, 383 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston.

Every bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form specified in General Laws, Chapter 149, Section 44B as most recently amended, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and also a Labor and Material or Payment Bond as set forth in the specifications, each in the full amount of the contract.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so.

Attention is called to the City's Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action Program as contained in the bidding documents, Section 1F.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in state and federal laws must be paid on this project.

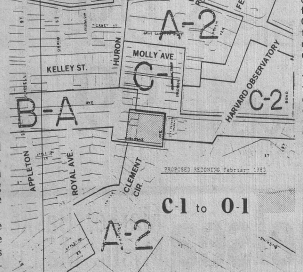

Barbara L. Duffy
Purchasing Agent

On the arts scene

Collage offers sometimes tasty buffet of new music

By Nick Tate
Special to the Chronicle

Much of today's true contemporary art, music and literature is defined by its ability to transcend the traditional forms and devices used by artists, musicians and writers to convey emotion or experience. The whimsical abstractions of a DeKooning, for example, or the cubist psychoses of a Picasso are classic representations of artistic statements which avoid the usual reference points. They, like the plotless novel and the non-tonal movement, attempt to present us with new artistic challenges which we, in turn, either accept as art; or reject as trash.

MUSIC REVIEW

Pop culture aside, a scanning open mind will find a reasonably equal distribution of both, art and trash, cropping up in the galleries, libraries and auditoriums of today's cities. It is in these places we can begin to define the point at which abstract art becomes laughable dim-wittery, literary invention becomes confused ambiguity, and where atonal music becomes white noise.

It is at this very point that we find Boston's "Collage," an unusually professional new-music group primarily composed of Boston Symphony Orchestra musicians. Principally concerned with the performance of 20th century works (read: "non-tonal"), "Collage" balances itself at the forefront of contemporary chamber music, oftentimes shining with musical brilliance; and alternately occluding itself in occasional aural oblivion.

Celebrating its 10th year of performance, "Collage" presented its second of three seasonal programs last week in Sanders Theatre, Cambridge. The presentation was in keeping with the group's tradition of giving us "the whole bag," and though the smorgasbord of musical entrees (presented "buffet-style") included many seemingly half-baked, or overly embellished ideas, much of the performance was fresh and enriching, spiced with a depth and professionalism worthy of comparison with the BSO presentations.

Particularly noteworthy was the collaborative clarinet/electronic music piece, "Effetti Collaterali," composed by computer musician James Dashow. The work found Dashow at the controls of a tape-player, while clarinetist Robert L. Annis took center stage. With schizophrenic humor and a surprising range of sound color and texture, the computer music alternately countered and complemented the strangled non-tonal melodies of Annis' clarinet.

Dashow displayed the full range of his "computer-ship," as the complex rhythmic and harmonic clusters of the electronic voice pushed Annis to displaying the masterful range of his musicianship. Tastefully avoiding the expected "Close Encounters" scheme of dialoging, the interaction of artificial/acoustic sound resulted in a musical coup which was as engaging as it was interesting.

Similarly exciting was "Non Dance," a piece completed in December of 1982 for "Collage," by New York City composer Joan Tower. Written for flute, clarinet, violin, cello, piano and percussion, "Noon Dance" is Tower's attempt to interpret how chamber music players " 'move' with each other, sometimes following or leading, other times blending different kinds of energies in the pacing of sections." Though last Monday's premiere revealed the piece to be a successful "dance" of musical voices, it was not always a fluid dance of mellifluous agreement.

Though beginning harmlessly enough, it was not long before the composition crashed into the argumentative dissonance which characterizes most of the piece. With each instrument alternately rising in protest and falling back in acquiescence, the music was at times fierce and fiery—all instruments competing for attention; and at others cool and indifferent—a solo instrument moving articulately to the front while the others fall back in insouciance. This interactive scheme was repeated with slight alterations, building tension into the final crescendo until the exciting violin of BSO member Joel Smirnoff led the others to near resolution in the piece's final passages.

The intensity of "Noon Dance" marked a complete contrast to the piano composition "Requiescat: Let The Bells Mourn For Us For We Are Remiss," by William Kraft. Though expertly played by Christopher Oldfather on electric piano, "Requiescat" placed too heavy an emphasis on the overly reverberant "phase shifter," and resulted in a lackluster mish-mash of murky one-colored sounds. Referensing the 12-tone piece with the introduction of a diatonic scale (produced at certain intervals with the aid of a rubber brick) might have been more interesting had the composer not interrupted Oldfather's playing to tell him to increase the volume. This distraction, though handled professionally by Oldfather who asked the audience's forgiveness, was an inexcusable lapse of judgment on the part of Kraft.

Though the other pieces of the evening were executed without incident ("Trio," for clarinet, violin and piano by Gary Philo, and Charles Wuorinen's "Bassoon Variations," for harp, bassoon and timpani) they were not nearly as striking in their innovative triple-instrument integration, as were the compositions by Tower and Dashow.

All of the pieces did, however, collectively reflect on each other, giving the audience a decently well-rounded presentation of many-faceted contemporary chamber works.

With the support of the National Endowment for the Arts and the Mass. Council on the Arts and Humanities, "Collage" has continued to bring new music to the public and at the same time allowed composers to share their work.

As the name implies, however, it will take a discriminating eye (or ear) to discern the difference between those "Collage" works which fall into the category of "brilliant," and those which are unfortunately lost in oblivion.

James Dashow

mathematical term meaning a series of equations, the end of which produces a value (or solution) which has importance to the computer in generating a kind of sound. He explains: "The (playing of) a wind instrument consists of breath, a vibrating reed and the manipulation of a series of holes. If you could describe these things mathematically, you could say that this is an algorithm in so far as it takes a certain amount of pressure from the mouth, a certain amount of velocity of the reed and a certain amount of agility of the fingers."

It follows then, that if Dashow wants to imitate the sound of a clarinet, what he has is essentially a chunk of program that has inputs for pitch, volume, tonal quality and the rate at which the piece is to be played. This added flexibility allows for unprecedented musical arrangements as "you can design super-clarinets, if you want, that do impossible leaps and can do impossible rhythmic figures that a human could never do. This is because the computer can realize all this complication without batting an eyelash."

This sophisticated process is not, however, a digital rose garden. The lack of a player's physical contact with the instrument can result in a kind of musical presentation which is often too cerebral or intellectual (read: "non-emotional").

Dashow admits this to be a potentially serious problem, but suggests, "maybe there is a persuasive music that doesn't require physical contact. Maybe there is something the computer can do that is convincing." He goes on to explain that a possible alternative would be to study the acoustical parameters of the sound produced when Isaac Stern, for example, plays a crescendo de crescendo. That way, if the information could be reduced to data, it could be punched into the machine and called upon at will.

Dashow assures that this kind of imitation is definitely possible, but he is quick to emphasize, "we've already got Isaac Stern; let's find out what the computer can do, that Isaac Stern can't do."

Other composers seem to take the exploratory approach to music - making that Dashow does, for as many computers as there are who have had some success using the machine, there are as many kinds of computer music pieces being produced.

"Computer music embraces a wide vocabulary," he notes. "It ranges from people who are doing things with tonality, to people who are using the sounds in an abstract fashion, the way I do. So, y'know, choose your own poison. It's an instrument that lets you realize whatever you want!"

If all of this sounds a bit like science fiction, well...it is. Add to the fact that Dashow has received a commission from the Rockafeller Foundation to compose a complete opera of electronic music, and you just might have something that would make Herbert, Heinlein or Asimov write yet another sequel. Though the work is still in its beginning stages, Dashow is considering a range of potential possibilities, not the least of which includes the illustration of his opus with lazers and computer graphics, to give it complete audio-visual cohesion.

Perhaps it is not so strange that computer music is to be gaining popularity in a year which has already given us the first book of short stories completely written by computer, and a full feature film ("TRON") in which 68 percent of the animation was done by computers. It may be that as the groundwork is being laid for a real computer society, so is computer-art coming culturally of age.

An anonymous author once wrote: "Mathematics is music for the mind; Music is mathematics for the soul."

According to James Dashow, it's all just a matter of semantics...

Previews

Potpourri

The Cambridge Public Schools Music Department will present an International Music Festival on Friday, March 25, from 4 to 10 pm at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School. The event will feature a potpourri of many ethnic cultural groups offering gourmet foods, slide shows, paintings, calligraphy, photographs, exhibits, singers, dancers and instrumental enbsembles demonstrating the cultural achievements of nearly 40 nations. The event is free and open to the public.

Good eggs

Once again, the Heritage Center Library at the East Cambridge Branch Public Library will offer its annual series of classes for children in the art of Pisanki, traditional Polish Easter egg decorating.

Mrs. Julia Gelowtsky will instruct children in the simplified techniques which will result in lovely eggs at Easter time. While the kids learn to decorate the eggs, they will also hear stories associated with the traditions of Easter and Pisanki making. Classes will be held at 3:30 pm on March 9, 16 and 23 and are free. For information, call the Heritage Center at 498-9082.

Sing-out

The John Oliver Chorale will present a concert of 20th Century English choral music on Sunday, March 13, at 3 pm at the First Church Congregational, 11 Garden St. The program will include Benjamin Britten's "A Hymn to the Virgin," Vaughn Williams' "Three Shakespeare Songs" and two sets of part-songs by Gustav Holst.

Tickets are $10, $8 and $5 and are available at the door or by calling 232-7177.

Happy Birthday, Johannes

The Masterworks Chorale will mark the 150th anniversary of the birth of Johannes Brahms with a Brahms Festival on two Sunday afternoons this month at Sanders Theatre.

On Sunday, March 13, the chorale will perform the composer's "Trio in B Major for Violin, Cello and Piano" with the Arriaga Trio, "Two Songs for Contralto and Viola," "Five Part Songs" and "Liebeslieder Walzer."

"EARN AN M.S., OR FINISH MY B.S. IN A YEAR?
YOU'RE KIDDING!"
No, we're not.
As an adult student in Lesley College's Programs in Management for Business and Industry, you can complete the coursework leading to a master's degree in management in 58 weeks.
Or, if you have previous college experience but don't have a degree, and have at least 56 transferable credits, you can finish the coursework leading to a bachelor's degree in organizational behavior in 52 weeks.
Both degrees can be earned while you continue your career. You won't have to quit your job, or reduce your hours.
At Lesley College we're aware that work, family, and personal commitments make it difficult for you, as a working adult, to return to school. Accordingly, PMBI facilitates your return.
For instance, PMBI classes are held weekly, one night a week, for four hours, at a location near where you live or work. We make it convenient for you to attend class. In fact, you'll help pick the day you'll meet, the time, the site, and even when your class will start.
It won't be easy, however. Assigned readings, written reports, study groups, and a project or thesis will require a minimum of 15-20 hours of out-of-class work each week. But, since the curriculum is work related, it won't be as demanding as it might seem. For example, your job is a learning laboratory and PMBI's curriculum reflects this awareness.
Your class sessions will also be different. We know that adults, in part because of your life experiences, learn well from each other. Thus we place a premium on the sharing of these experiences in class. In essence, you'll help teach the course.
Lesley also recognizes the value of experiential learning and if you're in our degree completion or undergraduate program you can earn credit for life learning experiences. It's not an automatic process; you'll have to document the learning that took place and petition for credit, but the option exists.
If you'd like to learn more about either the master's or bachelor's program, call 868-9624, 25, or 26, and we'll invite you to attend one of the information meetings we have scheduled for 6 p.m., Thursday, March 10, or 7 p.m., Thursday, March 24, on the Lesley College campus, 29 Everett St., Cambridge.

TAKE THE CHALLENGE
Be a Carrier!

Having a newspaper route is a great learning experience—one that can help you do better in school and give you valuable job skills and references for the future. But you get a whole lot more than an education out of being a carrier—benefits that you won't find in most jobs available to young people.
Not only do you have a steady income each week but you also have the chance to win cash bonuses and prizes. You also get to meet people and make new friends. It's a challenging and satisfying experience—one that you can be proud of!
Take the challenge! Call 625-6300 to find out if there is a route available in your neighborhood, or come and visit us Tues., Thurs., and Fri. between 2:00 P.M. and 5 P.M., Saturday, 9 A.M. - 1:30 P.M.

OFFICE OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE
456 Broadway
Cambridge,
Massachusetts 02138

The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, acting through its School Committee will receive sealed bids for:

New Boilers, Agassis and Haggerty Schools

Bids will be received at the Office of Oliver S. Brown, Assistant Superintendent, 159 Thorndike Street, Cambridge, Mass. 02141.

Attention is directed to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 149, Sections 44A through 44L as most recently amended, which require parties desiring to submit general bids to submit completed prequalification form and application to bid. All forms will be made available without cost or deposit by the School Department.

The majority of this project is concerned with the plumbing and heating trades. Consequently, the School Department will consider bids from contractors who specialize in such trade providing such contractors file the prequalification form, application to bid, each at the specified time and place.

Copies of completed prequalifications forms and updates and the application bid shall be submitted to the School Department, 159 Thorndike Street, Cambridge, Mass. 02141, no later than 12:00 noon March 24, 1983. Bids shall be submitted by prequalified contractors not later than: April 14, 1983.

All material shall be issued and received at the Office of the Manager of Procurement, 159 Thorndike Street, Cambridge, Ma. 02141.

A Bidder's Conference shall be held on April 1, 1983 at the Office of the Superintendent for Planning and Management.

Every bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form specified in General Laws, Chapter 149, Section 44B, as most recently amended, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and also a Labor and Material or Payment Bond as set forth in the specifications, each in the full amount of the contract.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so.

Attention is called to the City's Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination and Affirmative Action Program as contained in the bidding documents.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in state and federal laws must be paid on this project.

Oliver S. Brown
Assistant Superintendent

WELLINGTON-HARRINGTON URBAN RENEWAL AREA
FRAGMENT TRACT NUMBERS 23F-9, 23F-10, 23F-11, 23F-12
CAMBRIDGE REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY
PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF INTENT TO DISPOSE OF LAND

Cambridge Redevelopment Authority ("Authority") is considering on or after March 23, 1983, the disposition of the following fragment parcels of land located in the Wellington-Harrington Urban Renewal Area ("Project Area").

1. The site consists of approximately 2564 square feet of land located at the side of Webster Avenue, Windsor and Lincoln Streets and designated as Fragment Tract Numbers 23F-9, 23F-10 and 23F-11 (also known as Block 19) within the Project Area. The proposed purchasers, Albert M. and Leatina O. Pacheco 390-396 Windsor Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, intent is to utilize the property as yard area and residence parking.

2. The site consists of approximately 226 square feet of land located at the side of 160-166 Webster Avenue and designated as Fragment Tract Number 23F-12 (also known as Block 19), within the Project Area. The proposed purchaser, Carmen Medeiros of 160-166 Webster Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts, intent is to utilize the property as yard area.

The Project Area consists of approximately 130 acres of land, bounded generally by the Cambridge-Somerville City Line on the north, the Boston and Albany (Grand Junction) Branch Railroad on the east, Broadway on the south, and Elm Street on the west.

The "Redeveloper's Statement for Public Disclosure" (Statement), in the form prescribed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) pursuant to Section 105(e) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, has been filed with the Authority, and, according to the information contained therein, discloses, among other things, the name of the proposed redeveloper, together with the names of its officers and principal members, shareholders, investors (if any), other interested parties and the organizations assisting in the proposed redevelopment.

The statement also furnishes the proposed redeveloper's estimate of the cost of the improvements. The statement and the proposed form of agreement are available for public examination at the office of the Cambridge Redevelopment Authority, 336 Main Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, during its regular office hours, 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., daily, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
PURCHASING DEPARTMENT
INVITATION TO BID

The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, (the Owner) acting through its Purchasing Agent, will receive sealed bids for Masonry Repairs to Cambridge Police Station, 5 Western Avenue, Cambridge.

Bids will be received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, Room 307, City Hall, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139.

Attention is directed to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 149; Sections 44A through 44L as most recently amended, which require parties desiring to submit general bids to submit completed prequalification form and application to bid. All forms except Specifications will be made available, without cost or deposit, by Owner.

The majority of this project is concerned with the Masonry trade, consequently, the owner will consider bids from contractors who specialize in such trade providing such contractors file the prequalification form, application to bid, each at the specified time and place.

Completed prequalification forms and/or update and the application to bid shall be submitted no later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.

Bids shall be submitted by prequalified contractors not later than: 2:00 P.M. April 7, 1983.

Plans and Specifications will be available not later than: 12:00 P.M. March 10, 1983.

All material shall be issued and received at the Office of the Purchasing Agent, City Hall, Cambridge, MA 02139. Bidders may obtain specification by depositing Twenty five dollars ($25.00) per set, refundable immediately after the bid opening upon return of documents in usable condition.

The Contract Documents may be examined at the plan room of Dodge Construction Reports, 858 Park Square Building, Boston; at the Office of the Master Builders Association, 383 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston.

Every bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form specified in General Laws, Chapter 149, Section 44B as most recently amended, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and also a Labor and Material or Payment Bond as set forth in the specifications, each in the full amount of the contract.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so.

Attention is called to the City's Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action Program as contained in the bidding documents, Section 1F.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in state and federal laws must be paid on this project.

Panthers knocked out of Catholic tournament

Marian Hill of Southbridge ended North Cambridge Catholic's 13 game winning streak last Saturday in the first round of the New England Catholic Tourney, edging the panthers 59-57.

North Cambridge dominated the first half, and led by as many as 15 points, with Jimmy Ryan and Bobby Cochran scoring 23 of the team's 33 points. The Panthers held a 33-24 lead at the half.

But the game quickly went sour for North Cambridge in the third period as Marian Hill forced 5 turnovers and outscored NCC 22 - 11, taking a 46 - 44 lead. The final frame was a seesaw battle as the lead changed hands several times, but with only 1:10 remaining, Marian Hill took a commanding 7 point lead.

However, with the same spirit they have shown all year, NCC refused to quit, and with 10 seconds left, Bobby Cochran stole the ball and passed to Kenney Simms who laid it in, bringing them to within 2 points, 59-57.

After a North Cambridge time out, Kenny Simms forced Marian Hill's inbounds pass loose, but the remaining seconds ticked away as the NCC players tried desperately to get a firm hold on the ball to take a final shot.

Marian Hill also went on to defeat St. Clement's of Somerville in the final round to capture the Class C title. After again falling behind in the first half, they took charge and beat St. Clement's by 16 points.

North Cambridge Catholic will have another chance at a tourney victory on Friday evening when they play North Reading High School in the opening round of the MIAA Basketball Tournament.

She breaks the sex barrier in CRLS hockey

By David Gillis
Special to the Chronicle

Watching the Cambridge Rindge and Latin boys hockey team practice, it's not difficult to spot Holly Silcox with her long, curly brown hair flowing out from under her white hockey helmet.

The 16-year-old freshman is smaller than a lot of the players, her frame sheltered by padding as she darts about the ice at the Gore Street rink.

But even if her hair were tucked up under her helmet, there would be little problem in spotting her in the crowd: she's often the one working the hardest.

"She puts more effort into playing hockey than any boy I've ever coached," says Sil Ferreira, a veteran Cambridge Youth Hockey Coach now in his first year of coaching CRLS hockey.

And not only is she playing hockey with a bunch of boys — the first girl ever to do so at Rindge and Latin — Holly's also playing goal, the position where pucks come hurtling at you from every conceivable direction at frightening speeds.

Holly Silcox is the starting goalie for the Junior Varisty boys team, and she dresses for and usually sees some action in varsity games, sometimes for as long as a full period.

How does she feel about playing goalie on a boys' team?

"I love it," she says. "At first I was a little scared, but you get used to it."

She still feels a bit nervous about playing against boys' teams because "they're bigger and take harder shots."

"Most guys who coach a team wouldn't even consider playing a girl," Ferreira says of Holly's participation on the CRLS team.

But Ferreira has no such qualms.

"She's extremely good," he says. "She's aggressive, she likes to work and she's competitive."

Silcox receives no special treatment from Ferreira, either.

"She's in a sport that requires a lot of work and commitment. Nobody goes easy on her," he says.

Ferreira has good reason to speak well of Silcox, describing her as a "protege" whom he has coached in youth hockey for the past three years.

Although she started playing as a forward in youth hockey, she always had her eye on the crease.

"I always wanted to be a goalie, but my mother was against it at first," she says, adding that her mother has adjusted to her daughter's role as a target.

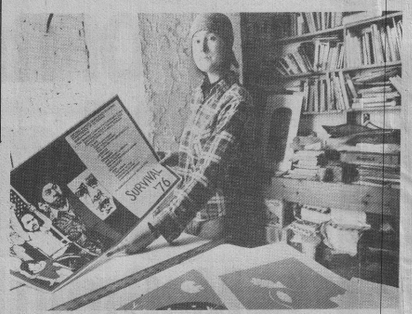

"She's nervous sometimes that I'm playing on a high school boys' team," Silcox says.

Other family members and friends are generally supportive, she says, but adds that "you always get some people who think girls shouldn't play hockey."

Silcox, who trains year-round, became interested in hockey when she was growing up.

"I came from a neighborhood where there were just a bunch of boys. They were always playing hockey, so I was too."

And she still is.

Hospital taps director

Dr. Lloyd I. Sederer was recently appointed medical director of Outpatient Psychiatric Services at Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge. Sederer was formerly Director of Inpatient Psychiatric Services at Massachusetts General Hospital and is currently an instructor in psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.

Describing the services provided by the outpatient psychiatry department, which has served the community since 1974, Sederer said, "The clinic is very broad based. It is a general psychiatric practice providing evaluation and counseling services for any emotional or mental disorder in adults and older teenagers." Treatment is available for individuals, couples, and families.

Services are available by appointment. For further information, call 492-3500, extension 1445 weekdays, or extension 1443 after hours.

Hyatt tips Georgie's

The Hyatt Regency Hotel and Georgie's Cafe finished deadlocked during the regular season in B West City Action.

Both teams ended with identical 13 - 1 records, having split during the regular season.

A play-off game was held at Rindge and Latin Field House before a large contingent of fans from both teams who were treated to a great game.

The lead exchanged hands continually with Georgie's leading, then Hyatt, and finally both teams tied with the score 39 - 39, with two seconds remaining on the game clock.

Hyatt's Harold Dottins' (former Rindge Tech Star) desparation shot from half court, amazingly went in giving Hyatt the game and the League Championship. Harold's play was outstanding throughout the game earning him game MVP honors.

Timmy Boyle played well for Georgie's. Hats off to John Semper and Kevin Clark who did an outstanding job officiating this very competitive and exciting game.

Cambridge Housing was the only undefeated team among the 38 competing in the leagues this winter, capturing the C West title.

Congratulations also to Papa Gino's, A Champions; Toomey Nuggets - B East Champions, and Yellow Cab, C East Champions.

What goes up the chimney

one day she stayed home from work.

Because the chimney now only comes up to the level of third floor windows on the four story apartment building — which is about eight feet away from the smokestack — the smoke flows directly into rooms on the two top floors, according to tenants.

The chimney is also too short for city regulations, according to Clark. A chimney must be at least three feet higher than the roof of any building within ten feet, Clark explained.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Oliver Brown said Tuesday that the school department plans to raise the chimney to a height of about 40 feet.

The smoke comes from a boiler in the Transportation Center — a building which houses the Occupational Education garage, the Enterprise Co-op pizza and sub shop, and the school committee offices — that was replaced a year and a half ago.

"I assure you," said health inspector Clark, "Mr. Brown wouldn't sleep there for two minutes."

Brown was optimistic on Tuesday that the problem would be taken care of swiftly. "I hope to see them working on it tomorrow," he said.

Handicapped students seek funds for Disneyworld trip

A three-year effort by handicapped students at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School to fund a trip to Disneyland is becoming more of a reality than a dream.

The students are seeking to raise over $8000 for the trip. According to teachers Suzanne Palmeri and Shauvan O'Neill, the pupils have, since 1980, raised over $3000 through raffles, bake sales and lotteries.

Mayor Alfred Vellucci is offering a mayoral spaghetti dinner at 5:30 pm on March 3 in an effort to help students meet their goal. Tickets for that affair are $5.

Palmeri said the Special Needs Class at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School is planning a Junior-Senior Class Trip to Disneyland, Florida. This group of 18 to 22 year old students from all over Cambridge have varying degrees of mental retardation and other disabilities such as speech and language limitations, physical problems and emotional handicaps. Since these students are mentally retarded, they spend six to seven years in a high school setting learning various skills preparing them for sheltered employment and some independent living. For these reasons this trip is the culmination of several years learning in areas such as money management, appropriate social behaviors, grooming and personal hygiene skills to enable them to cope after graduation. These skills are taken for granted by non-handicapped high school students; these mentally retarded students however have to be taught and have years of repeated practice in order to achieve mastery of such skills.

"This is a once in a lifetime opportunity for these students and your contribution and support will indeed pave the way for making their dream become a reality," Palmeri said.

O'Neill noted some of the ongoing activities this year include bake sales, raffle tickets to Celtics games and a major drawing for numerous prizes including a bicycle, television and other miscellaneous items donated by merchants throughout the city. In addition, the safety and security staff at the high school has actively supported this project by helping run the raffle and participate in the trip arrangements.

Recipe contest for senior citizens announced

Cambridge Senior Citizens can win up to $100 in the upcoming Second Annual New Horizons-New Nutrition Recipe Contest to be held at Assembly Square Mall April 21. Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services is sponsoring the event.

Second and third prizes are $50 and $25 in either cash or gift certificates. All prizes will be awarded in each of four categories—breads, desserts, main dishes, and a combined group of salads-vegetables.

The event is to emphasize the important relationship of a nutritious diet to good health. All recipes should consist of a variety of fruits, vegetables, whole-grain products, fish, and poultry, to insure adequate vitamins and fiber.

Over 600 senior citizens from Cambridge and Somerville attended the "cook-off" last year to witness the final judging of almost 60 different nutritious dishes.

The contest earned the organization a National Award for being one of the best nutrition education projects in the country. From this success came the decision by the Mass Association for Elderly Nutrition to sponsor a state-wide recipe contest which will be held in Boston in mid-May.

All contestants must be 60 years or older and be a resident of either Cambridge or Somerville. Interested younger persons may only enter by "sponsoring" an elder citizen.

The deadline for submitting recipes is March 31. An official entry form may be obtained by calling Somerville-Cambridge Elder Services at 628-2601.

Energy audit workshops

Have you had an energy audit but don't know how to make it work for you?

Cambridge Action to Save Heat (CA$H) is sponsoring four workshops to explain the potentially money-saving tool. Attention will be focused on how to weatherize your home or apartment inexpensively or at not cost by using the audit.

More than 3,000 Cambridge households have had energy audits performed by Mass Ave, Inc.

Workshops will be held March 8 at 7:30 pm at the Fletcher School, 89 Elm Street, with a focus on "do it yourself," weatherization, and on March 10 at 7 pm at the East Cambridge Branch Library, 66 Sixth St.

For more information, call the Community Development Department at 498-9034.

Cantabs

Roy Baker, Michael Bonilla, Margo Brathwaite, Joel Edoka, Mitsuhiro Koushima, Mary Lackie, Elizabeth Murray, Roberta Polley, Rachel Rapa, Maria Rico, Safwat Sariedding and Arleen Scott, all of Cambridge, were named to the dean's list at Newbury Junior College for the first semester.

Workshop on school testing

Standarized tests, why schools give them and what they tell about your child will be the subject of a series of conferences sponsored by the Cambridge Public Schools Title I Programs.

The series, scheduled to begin on Thursday, March 3rd at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School at 7 pm, will focus on an explanation of standarized tests, how to interpret them, and what they tell you about your child.

According to Title I Director Dr. Diane Bushner discussions will also be held at 10 am on Tuesday, March 8 at the Fitzgerald School, Wednesday, March 9 at the King School, and Thursday, March 10 at the Harrington School.

"Parents may attend whichever of these workshops that is most convenient for them," Bushner notes "It does not matter which school your child attends. The information will be the same at all meetings."

Bushner urges parents of students who receive Title I services in reading or math to attend the information sessions but emphasized that parents of all Cambridge children are invited to participate in the meetings.

'Cambridge...USA' looks at care for terminally ill

"They assumed that mother wasn't going to live for more than a few months," said Kenneth Redmond, 51, of Arlington. His mother, Margaret Redmond of Cambridge, was 81 when she was diagnosed as terminally ill. "No one really believed that additional treatment would extend her life. So prior to Christmas of 1982, she elected to come home."

Is home care a viable alternative for the terminally ill in Cambridge? How do we deal with dying?

These and related questions will be explored on this week's "Cambridge...USA" show on WLVI, Channel 56, airing at 9:30 am on Thursday, March 3 and at 10 am on Saturday, March 5.

Guests joining host Jim Vetter include Kristina Synder, administrative coordinator of Hospice of Cambridge, and Dr. Hilary Worthen, director of the Primary Care Unit at Cambridge Hospital. Other guests are the Rev. Thomas A. Welch, director of Omega, a grief assistance program in Somerville and Kenneth Redmond, who will give a personal view of home hoice care.

"The beauty of hospice program is that it opens up your options," said Redmond. The best of all possible worlds for mother and myself was for her to be home and in her own bed among loved ones and people who cared about her.

"We are very fortunate to have a hospice program right in our town," said Redmond. He and his mother decided to participate in Hospice of Cambridge, a program of the Cambridge Visiting Nurse Association, located at 35 Bigelow Street, which provides home health care for terminally ill persons and their families 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Hospice of Cambridge is not a facility for the dying, but a system of health care. "It focuses on the symptoms of terminally ill persons as worth dealing with even though a cure is not in sight," said Kristina Synder of Hospice of Cambridge. "A lot of care is paid to pain control and sympton control. It focuses on the person and family as one unit of care. A very large portion of hospice care is bereavement care.

"About 90 percent of hospice patients have cancer," said Snyder. "The hospice program has serviced about 30 percent of cancer patients in Cambridge. Our goal is to double that percent in three years." All residents of Cambridge with a terminal diagnosis of six months or less are eligible for the program.

The appearance of Synder on "Cambridge...USA" is part of a community education and support drive for Hospice of Cambridge. The organization has produced a slide show explaining its services and how they work. To arrange for your group to see the slide presentation, contact Kristian Synder at 547-2620.

Best Auto Mechanic
J&S Automotive
277 Northampton Street
Boston
It looks like a big commercial garage, but there are all these weird little things about it. Reggie music is blasting away, signs for political and union meetings are taped up, the mechanic might be a woman, and sometimes it's hard to find anyone in charge. J & S has been Boston's hippest garage for years and years, and for the last few years, it's also been

OPPORTUNITIES FOR PRIVATE DEVELOPMENT
The Cambridge Redevelopment Authority is currently seeking expressions of interest in the purchase and development of all or any of the parcels of land known as Tract Numbers 6, 8A, 28 and 37A in the Wellington-Harrington Urban Renewal Area (Project No. Mass. R-108). Any proposed development that provides for long-term owner-occupied residential use by low-to moderate-income families will be given preference.
Tract Number 6 is a 10,968-square-foot site at 65-71 Hampshire Street to be developed with a maximum of five (5) residential units.
Tract Number 8A is a 6,370-square-foot site at 109-111 Hampshire Street to be developed with a maximum of three (3) residential units.
Tract Number 28 is a 5,114-square-foot site at 136 Berkshire Street to be developed with a maximum of two (2) residential units.
Tract Number 37A is a 8,583-square-foot site at 329-331 Portland Street to be developed with a maximum of four (4) residential units.
All have been acquired by the Authority for development consistent with the Wellington-Harrington Urban Renewal Program.
This announcement provides an opportunity for home ownership for Cambridge residents. By offering land at minimal cost, the cost of owning a home will be significantly reduced. Since the development is intended for affordable, long-term, home-ownership, the Authority contemplated an individual developer for each tract, but will consider a developer for multiple tracts with specific controls placed by the Authority on the development. In addition, the Authority will give preference to developments utilizing passive solar design.
The Authority is accepting Letters of Interest from developers who may obtain a Developer's Kit outlining details, including development guidelines and submission requirements, in person at the Authority office or by writing to the Cambridge Redevelopment Authority, 336 Main Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02142. Letters of Interest must be submitted to the Cambridge Redevelopment Authority by 12:00 noon on April 14, 1983.
These announcements of availability are not an offer to sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of the property. Note that construction on this land is considered "federally assisted construction" and is subject to Executive Order 11246 and the Department of Labor Office of Federal Contract Compliance implementing regulations.

Germans' Kohl, opponent both were in Hitler Youth

BONN, West Germany (AP) —Chancellor Helmut Kohl and his challenger Hans-Jochen Vogel both belonged to the Hitler Youth, their parties said yesterday after a newspaper article about Vogel that his supporters called election-time "character assassination."

Hans-Jochen Vogel

The article, published by the conservative Bild am Sonntag with the headline "In The Hitler Youth We Feared Vogel," claimed the Social Democratic Party candidate had been a squad leader of the Nazi youth movement during World War II.

The Social Democratic Party said Vogel was a member of the Hitler Youth because membership was required, but was not a squad leader. Kohl's office said the chancellor also was a member of the youth group.

"Everyone had to be," said Walter von Tiesenhausen, a spokesman for the ruling Christian Democrats who face a challenge from Vogel in the March 6 elections.

He added that at the end of World War II, Kohl, then 15, was pulled into a defense training camp and was preparing to take up arms when he was briefly taken prisoner by American forces in Bavaria.

Until the mid-1930s, membership in the Hitler Youth was voluntary. After that, Hitler's government required membership of non Jewish Germans over the age of 14 and fear of reprisals reduced the number of resisters to a small group.

The newspaper article quoted a 52-year-old veterinarian, Ernst Holler, as saying he recalled that Vogel had been a "culture commissioner" in the Giessen branch of the Hitler Youth organization.

Holler said Vogel had once demoted him to the rank of "cub" in the organization for getting into a fight.

The Social Democrats, in a statement released in Bonn, acknowledged Vogel had been a member of the Hitler Youth in 1941 and 1942 "as (were) all those of the same age." The statement denied that Vogel, then 16, had ever been a squad leader but said he had been responsible for theater, music and cultural activities of the Giessen organization.

They never tire of playing around

Youngsters exercise their climbing skills on this strange creature made of rubber tires at a playground in Tokyo. City employees in Tokyo's Ote Ward had the idea, and auto repair and tire companies contributed used tires in all shapes and sizes. The playground has an estimated 3,000 tires.

Gandhi offers deal to Assam & Sikhs in bid to end strife

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A new government was sworn in yesterday in Assam state, and the chief minister promised to provide relief to victims of the election-time battles that left at least 1,300 people dead and 100,000 homeless.

Hiteswar Saikai, a member of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party, took the oath of office as chief minister along with a 12-member Cabinet, ending nearly a year of direct federal rule in the northeastern state.

In another political development, Mrs. Gandhi announced a package of concessions to India's militant Sikhs, who have kept northern Punjab state in turmoil for months, but she avoided their major demands.

Saikai, 44, told reporters in Gauhati, Assam's main city, that his main task would be to end the bloodshed that erupted Feb. 2 in an attempt to block the elections ordered by Mrs. Gandhi.

In the three-stage election, the Congress Party took 90 seats in the 126-seat state assembly. Violence prevented voting in 18 districts, and election officials said those seats would remain vacant "indefinitely." The major opposition parties boycotted the election.

A student-led movement of Hindu Assamese, opposed to the hundreds of thousands of Moslem immigrants from Bangladesh, tried to block the voting as part of its effort to get the settlers expelled.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Gandhi told a crowd at a Sikh temple that Sikhs may now carry their traditional daggers on Indian Airlines domestic flights, and All India Radio will broadcast Sikh prayers. Daggers have been banned on domestic flights since one was used in the hijacking of a jetliner in 1981.

Disarm talks stall on Soviet nuke counting

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The Geneva disarmament talks between the United States and the Soviet Union are stalled on Soviet insistence that French and British nuclear arsenals be included in the discussions, the West German foreign office said yesterday.

In a briefing following the return Saturday of Bonn's disarmament expert, Briedrich Ruth, from two days of talks in Moscow, the foreign office said that if the "blockade" of the talks by the Soviets on the British-French question could be broken, real progress could follow.

The Soviets insist France and Britain's 162 older generation intercontinental nuclear missiles be included in the Geneva discussions. NATO and France, which does not belong to NATO's military wing, contend talks should be confined to middle-range weapons.

NATO has offered a middle-range zero-option proposal whereby NATO would halt deployment of new U.S. cruise and Pershing-2 missiles in Europe — mostly West Germany — if the Soviets scrap their middle-range rockets already targeted on the West.

Fundamental sects soar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ultra-fundamentalist sects are growing at an alarming rate in the United States and many of them are developing characteristics "chillingly similar" to the Peoples Temple before the Jonestown tragedy, a leading cult psychologist says.

Defectors in increasing numbers report that the groups are heavily armed and many of them are training in warfare in the belief the "great tribulation" is at hand which they must fight to defend themselves and their supplies from outsiders whom they consider the Antichrist.

"The warmings and appeals which I am receiving today from ex-members of these sects and the families of present members are chillingly similar to what I was hearing from concerned relatives of Peoples Temple members in the six-month period immediately preceding the Jonestown tragedy," Dr. Lowell Streiker said.

Streiker, a psychologist, played a key role in the counseling of Peoples Temple survivors.

Germans' Kohl, opponent both were in Hitler Youth

BONN, West Germany (AP) —Chancellor Helmut Kohl and his challenger Hans-Jochen Vogel both belonged to the Hitler Youth, their parties said yesterday after a newspaper article about Vogel that his supporters called election-time "character assassination."

The article, published by the conservative Bild am Sonntag with the headline "In The Hitler Youth We Feared Vogel," claimed the Social Democratic Party candidate had been a squad leader of the Nazi youth movement during World War II.

The Social Democratic Party said Vogel was a member of the Hitler Youth because membership was required, but was not a squad leader. Kohl's office said the chancellor also was a member of the youth group.

"Everyone had to be," said Walter von Tiesenhausen, a spokesman for the ruling Christian Democrats who face a challenge from Vogel in the March 6 elections.

He added that at the end of World War II, Kohl, then 15, was pulled into a defense training camp and was preparing to take up arms when he was briefly taken prisoner by American forces in Bavaria.

Until the mid-1930s, membership in the Hitler Youth was voluntary. After that, Hitler's government required membership of non Jewish Germans over the age of 14 and fear of reprisals reduced the number of resisters to a small group.

The newspaper article quoted a 52-year-old veterinarian, Ernst Holler, as saying he recalled that Vogel had been a "culture commissioner" in the Giessen branch of the Hitler Youth organization.

Holler said Vogel had once demoted him to the rank of "cub" in the organization for getting into a fight.

The Social Democrats, in a statement released in Bonn, acknowledged Vogel had been a member of the Hitler Youth in 1941 and 1942 "as (were) all those of the same age." The statement denied that Vogel, then 16, had ever been a squad leader but said he had been responsible for theater, music and cultural activities of the Giessen organization.

Gandhi offers deal to Assam & Sikhs in bid to end strife

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A new government was sworn in yesterday in Assam state, and the chief minister promised to provide relief to victims of the election-time battles that left at least 1,300 people dead and 100,000 homeless.

Hiteswar Saikai, a member of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party, took the oath of office as chief minister along with a 12-member Cabinet, ending nearly a year of direct federal rule in the northeastern state.

In another political development, Mrs. Gandhi announced a package of concessions to India's militant Sikhs, who have kept northern Punjab state in turmoil for months, but she avoided their major demands.

Saikai, 44, told reporters in Gauhati, Assam's main city, that his main task would be to end the bloodshed that erupted Feb. 2 in an attempt to block the elections ordered by Mrs. Gandhi.

In the three-stage election, the Congress Party took 90 seats in the 126-seat state assembly. Violence prevented voting in 18 districts, and election officials said those seats would remain vacant "indefinitely." The major opposition parties boycotted the election.

A student-led movement of Hindu Assamese, opposed to the hundreds of thousands of Moslem immigrants from Bangladesh, tried to block the voting as part of its effort to get the settlers expelled.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Gandhi told a crowd at a Sikh temple that Sikhs may now carry their traditional daggers on Indian Airlines domestic flights, and All India Radio will broadcast Sikh prayers. Daggers have been banned on domestic flights since one was used in the hijacking of a jetliner in 1981.

Disarm talks stall on Soviet nuke counting

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The Geneva disarmament talks between the United States and the Soviet Union are stalled on Soviet insistence that French and British nuclear arsenals be included in the discussions, the West German foreign office said yesterday.

In a briefing following the return Saturday of Bonn's disarmament expert, Briedrich Ruth, from two days of talks in Moscow, the foreign office said that if the "blockade" of the talks by the Soviets on the British-French question could be broken, real progress could follow.

The Soviets insist France and Britain's 162 older generation intercontinental nuclear missiles be included in the Geneva discussions. NATO and France, which does not belong to NATO's military wing, contend talks should be confined to middle-range weapons.

NATO has offered a middle-range zero-option proposal whereby NATO would halt deployment of new U.S. cruise and Pershing-2 missiles in Europe — mostly West Germany — if the Soviets scrap their middle-range rockets already targeted on the West.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Suffolk, ss. PROBATE COURT. Case No. 520908. To all persons interested in the estate of Violella J. Butner, late of Boston, in said County, deceased. A petition has been presented to said Court for the probate of a certain instrument purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Benjamin F. Robinson, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, praying that he be appointed executor thereof without giving a surety on his bond. If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Boston before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the 31st day of March 1983, the return day of this citation. You must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty (30) days after said return day a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore. Witness, Mary C. Fitzpatrick, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this 28th day of February 1983. JAMES MICHAEL CONNOLLY, Register.

PROPOSED REZONING February 1983

C-1 to O-1

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS
PLANNING BOARD
CITY HALL ANNEX, 57 INMAN STREET, CAMBRIDGE 02139

To the Honorable, the City Council:

SUBJECT: Planning Board Recommendation on a Petition by Councillor Leonard Russell to Rezone from Residence C-1 to Office-1 an Area Between Manassas Avenue and Concord Avenue

In accordance with Chapter 40A of the General Laws, the Planning Board held a public hearing on Tuesday, March 15, 1983 in the Community Development Department Conference Room on the above referenced petition.

The Petition

The proposed petition would rezone an area (approximately one-acre) containing two parcels of land and portions of the three parcels of land from Residence C-1 to Office-1.

The proposed new Office-1 designation has the same dimensional requirements as the existing Residence C-1 designation with a .75 FAR, 35 foot height limitation and residential density of 36 dwelling units per acre. The major change would be in the permitted uses. The existing Residence C-1 district only permits residential uses and certain institutional uses. The Office-1 district permits residential, office and institutional uses.

Decision

The Planning Board, based on the following findings, recommends that the petition to rezone this area to Office-1 be APPROVED.

Findings

1. The land area (approximately one acre) within the proposed Office-1 district contains several properties, the most distinguishable being the vacant St. Peter's Parish School (a former institutional use), three residential uses and a portion of a commercial retail store. The retail store is a non-conforming use under the current Res. C-1 zoning and the proposed Office-1 designation.

2. The proposed O-1 district would abut an existing neighborhood business district located to the west along Concord Avenue and a Residence C-1 district to the south and east. This new Office-1 district, logically contained by Manassas Avenue, could provide an effective use and density transition from the business district to the residential neighborhood. As this area has distinguishable locational characteristics, unlike other institutional buildings along Concord Avenue, the Board finds that this rezoning is not a precedent for other rezonings along Concord Avenue.

3. The largest parcel affected by the proposed rezoning is the vacant St. Peter's Parish School which contains approximately 34,601 square feet of land area and has a nonconforming FAR of .9. The existing Residence C-1 zoning restricts the reuse of this site to either residential use or certain institutional uses including educational or institutional office facilities by special permit. The proposed new Office-1 designation would allow the building's reuse to business and professional offices as well as institutional and residential uses.

4. The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, owners of the St. Peter's School applied to the Board of Zoning Appeal for a use variance to convert the vacant school building to office use. The variance was granted and is now being appealed. At the time of the variance procedure the City Traffic Department reviewed the proposed office development plan and found that "the proposed development will not create any additional traffic problems."

5. The proposed new Office-1 district is immediately adjacent to Concord Avenue and Huron Avenue. Both streets are heavily travelled major arteries and are served by regular bus routes. Reuse of the St. Peter's Parish School to offices provides a unique opportunity to lessen the potential traffic problems in the area by enabling the adjacent church to share parking with the office tenants.

6. The proposed new Office-1 district designation will not impact the neighborhood more than the previous school use nor more than other institutional office uses permitted by special permit in the Residence C-1 district.

7. The proposed new Office-1 district designation provides an opportunity for reuse of a significant neighborhood landmark.

Public Hearing

Kathy Spiegelman explained the technical aspects of the proposed rezoning from Residence C-1 to Office-1. Both districts have the same dimensional requirements, the only difference is that the proposed new Office-1 district allows office use while the Res. C-1 district does not.

John Good, 30 Normandy Avenue, member of the St. Peter's Parish committee, spoke as representative for the St. Peter's Parish. The following people from the parish were present to answer any questions:

Ms. McCann, parish committee member
Mr. Rob Wolf, architect
Mr. Jeff Millman, architect
Mr. John Russo, attorney

Mr. Good explained the history of the site and that there had been several meetings to discuss possible reuse options for the St. Peter's school building. The parish committee concluded that reuse of the school building to office was the most acceptable to them for they could retain ownership of the property, thus enabling the church to share the parking lot on weekends and evenings with the office tenants. The following people spoke in opposition to the proposed rezoning.

a) Webb Nichols
   201 Huron Avenue

b) Thomas Anninger
   26 Healy Street

c) David Wylie
   City Councillor

d) John Brode
   23 Berkley Street

e) Bill Fawler
   29 Buckingham Street

Several issues raised by those who spoke in opposition to the proposed rezoning included the existing Residence C-1 designation offers, reasonable re-use of the St. Peter's parish school to multi-family residential use, the proposed new Office-1 designation would introduce office uses to the neighborhood which would generate additional traffic and parking problems, the character of the commercial area next to the proposed Office-1 district would be threatened, this area had been down-zoned several years ago to Res. C-1, to reverse this land use decision now is not justifiable particularly since this specific area is indistinguishable from land use patterns further down Concord Avenue.

The following people spoke in favor of the proposed rezoning:

a) Margaret Dwyer
   Manassa Avenue, indicated that as an immediate abutter reuse to office would have less of an impact on the immediate neighborhood as it would generate less traffic during evening and weekend hours and would ensure more privacy to the existing residential abutters.

Respectfully submitted,

For the Planning Board

IN RE:

PROPOSAL TO CHANGE ZONING AFFECTING ST. PETER'S PARISH SCHOOL FROM RESIDENCE C-1 TO OFFICE O-1

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF PROPOSAL

1. THE PREMISES. The subject premises (the "Premises") are the location of St. Peter's Parish Elementary School, bounded in part by Concord and Manassas Avenues and in part by land currently zoned Business A. The existing school building is comprised of approximately 37,100 square feet of interior gross floor area and the lot upon which it is situated is comprised of approximately 40,720 square feet. The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, through St. Peter's Parish of Cambridge (the "Church") proposes to lease the Premises for conversion into first-class office space with required parking to be contained upon the lot.

The Church appeared before the Cambridge Board of Zoning Appeal seeking a variance to permit the proposed office use, as well as a special permit to permit alteration of a non-conforming structure and a special permit to reduce shared parking. The Board of Appeal determined that the relief requested was appropriate and that the facts in the case supported the findings required for the variance and special permits, and the Board's decision granting such relief was filed with the Cambridge City Clerk on February 8, 1983. On February 25, 1983, four persons appealed such decision.

2. BACKGROUND OF ZONING CHANGE PROPOSAL. A concern has been raised by certain neighbors and by the Cambridge Planning Board that the variance might well establish a potential precedent respecting other properties. Accordingly, the subject change in zoning has been sought, changing the balance of the city block comprising the Premises from Residential C-1 to Office O-1. The change would by its terms be limited to these Premises and, unlike the variance, would not necessarily set any precedent for other properties, each of which is unique and subject to its own set of facts.

3. HOUSING IS NOT APPROPRIATE. We hear a great deal about how appropriate this site would be for housing, how much Cambridge needs housing and how housing would be a stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. The Church has explored housing at length with its own parishioners and with third parties. Inevitably, the same conclusion was reached each time: housing is not appropriate for this site. Most importantly, the Church needs all of the parking on the Premises in order to continue its religious and other activities. Absence of the parking would completely disrupt those activities, would result in congestion in all of the neighborhood streets, might well pursuade some parishioners - especially the more elderly ones - from participating, and thus lead to a deterioration in the Church itself and thus in its own special stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. Those who advocate housing continue to disregard the facts in this case. In a perfect world, with different facts, housing might have been more appropriate. The zoning proposal acknowledges the particular facts in this case and provides a logical land use resolution. In addition, it should be pointed out that the immediate abutters - those who both support the proposal and who will be most directly affected by it - are unanimously opposed to housing because of the twenty-four hour a day congestion and level of activity that housing, as opposed to office, would entail. Finally, the object of the deliberation respecting this proposal ought not to be exploration of potential benefits which housing could provide - if the facts in this case were different and if housing were available - but rather an examination of how the proposed office use will be compatible with (i) the neighborhood, (ii) the facts in this case and (iii) the purposes of zoning.

4. THE PROPOSAL COMPLIES WITH CAMBRIDGE ZONING PURPOSES. Among the stated purposes of the Cambridge Zoning Ordinance are two purposes which should be particularly emphasized in this case, namely to "lessen congestion in the streets" and to "encourage the most rational use of land".

As the record reflects in the variance petition and decision, the Church has a definite parking need in conjunction with its continued use of its adjacent church property. At least 50 cars must be parked upon the Premises on weekends and during occasional evenings. Even the overflow lot at the Smithsonian is often utilized. By definition, this parking requirement is at odds with any proposed housing use. However, the proposed office use is uniquely compatible with the Church's parking needs in that the office parking use will be limited to normal office hours during the week, thus leaving the needed parking area available to the Church during evenings and weekends. Accordingly, parking congestion will be eliminated with the proposed use, whereas parking congestion in the neighborhood would be extraordinary if the Church were unable to use the Premises for its parking needs.

In addition, it is difficult to argue in good faith for the proposition that requiring the Church to use the adjacent streets for parking or, in the alternative, to curtail its church activities, is a "rational use of land". The proposed office use would be clean, silent and benign. Given the availability of bus service and the fact that Concord Avenue is a relatively major thoroughfare, traffic congestion would be minimal. Evening and weekend use would be non-existent. There is no proposal for brand new construction or for the demolition of existing housing. Indeed, the extension of the non-residential use already established by the adjacent business district is logical given the natural boundaries of Concord and Manassas Avenues. The dimensional and density regulations applicable to the O-1 District are essentially the same as those required for the existing C-1 District. In short, the proposed office use, being compatible with neighborhood needs and especially with the Church's real parking requirements, is a "most rational use of land".

5. THE PROPOSAL PRESERVES NEIGHBORHOOD STABILITY. Fears have been voiced about the threat to neighborhood stability posed by use of this building for office purposes. No one has been able to quantify that threat. Indeed, the charge almost seems to be a convenient generalization by those would would cling to the housing preference notwithstanding the Church's obvious needs. In the first place, since the school has existed for years, the proposed investment in rehabilitation for office use and the landscaping of the grounds can only have a positive effect upon local property values. Second, first-class office use is a nine-to-five, uniform, safe and silent activity, with full security during off hours, as opposed to the twenty-four hour a day panoply of housing activities. Third, although there will be an increase in traffic, the vast majority of such traffic activity will be confined to normal rush hours and will be restricted to Concord Avenue, an existing major traffic artery. Fourth, the opponents fear that this proposal will lead to other properties, particularly the Lesley College property, being afforded non-residential status. However, in point of fact every single action can be seen by alarmists as the beginning of a "trend". The more rational approach acknowledges that each property is unique, with its own peculiar facts, location and history and this Council is entirely capable of viewing each matter independently, without any pressure to be bound by results in different matters. Finally, notwithstanding the general fears voiced, and with all due respect to the intelligence, concern and able representation of those opposed to this proposal, does it not stretch credulity to observe that in all of the hours of deliberation to date before the Zoning Board of Appeal and the Planning Board, not one person has seen fit to attempt to quantify his fears by pointing to any alleged corelation between the presence of the Smithsonian, with more than four times the number of employees that will be on the Premises, and any particular deterioration in the neighborhood.

6. THE PROPERTY WILL GENERATE TAXES. In addition, since the user will not be a tax-exempt entity, significant long-term revenues will be generated by the proposed office use. Currently, the property is tax-exempt and generates no tax revenues. We note as well that favorable action upon the proposed zoning change could render moot the need for a variance, thus saving the City the expense of responding to the appeal to the variance decision.

7. THIS IS A LOGICAL LOCUS FOR ZONING CHANGE. As referred to above, as a matter of zoning planning, the proposal suggests a logical extension of an existing non-residential use to the extent of the natural boundaries of Manassas Avenue, and one which has already been approved by the Board of Appeal. This is an institutional building self-contained on an existing block. Furthermore, the immediate abutters, being those most directly affected by the proposed use, are in favor of the proposal. Since the building has existed in its present form for a number of years, the relatively benign office use constitutes a logical buffer between the business and residential zones.

8. THIS IS NOT SPOT ZONING. It is almost too easy to seek to oppose such a proposal by asserting "spot zoning". Massachusetts cases have defined spot zoning as the singling out of one lot for different treatment from that accorded to similar surrounding land indistinguishable from it in character, all for the economic benefit of that lot's owner. See Crall & others v. City of Leominster & others, 362 Mass. 95 (1972) and the cases cited therein. These Premises are clearly distinguishable from all of the surrounding land. The large, vacant school building and paved parking area are unique in the neighborhood. The Premises are bounded by streets on three sides and by a flourishing business district on the fourth. Church property is directly across Manassas Avenue, multiple housing is across Concord Avenue and the Smithsonian Institution is diagonally opposite. These premises are unique in their nature and their history. This is not, for instance, a classic case of contriving to destroy existing residences and carve an industrial or business area out of the heart of a uniquely residential area.

In Peters v. Westfield, 353 Mass. 635 (1968), a rezoning was upheld where the rezoning of property on a principal thoroughfare amounted to moving the boundary line between a business district and a residential district from the middle of a block to the end of a block. Because of that property's location on the corner of the thoroughfare, and because it was adjacent to a business district, it was found to be distinguishable from other residential parcels in that residential district. Similarly, charges of spot zoning have been disregarded wherever the property in question is distinguishable in character from surrounding land. See also Martin v. Town of Rockland, 1 Mass. App. 167 (1973).

While it is true that the Church will derive financial benefit from the proposed leasing of the Premises, the rezoning can in no way be said to be all for its economic benefit. For that matter, the Petitioner could likely realize a greater current economic benefit by simply selling the Premises to a housing developer. However, as noted above, such a use would preclude the continuation of the Church's activities by reason of its parking needs. In any event, there are other substantial benefits to the neighborhood and to the City which would necessarily flow from the zoning change. The proposed office use will allow the preservation of a landmark in its current condition. Indeed, the proposed lease of the Premises will preclude any change to the exterior other than improved landscaping. The currently vacant and potentially derelict building will cease to be a security risk to the neighborhood. Compatible parking uses will be self-contained, thus avoiding congestion and danger. Needed tax revenues will be generated by the project. In short, incidential economic benefit to the Church should not undermine the validity of the proposal. In Peters, the court noted that the subject zoning change

"has been adopted at this time at the instigation of the lot owners who will profit therefrom. It cannot be ruled, however, that benefiting them is the sole purpose of the change...We are unable to rule, however, that the council could not find that it would be reasonably related to public convenience and welfare and calculated to encourage the most appropriate use of land throughout the City."

Most importantly, however, in reviewing spot zoning cases, the court in Crall reconfirmed the scope of permitted judicial review of municipal zoning by-laws and ordinances as follows:

> "'The question to be decided is not whether we approve such a by-law. It is whether we can pronounce it an unreasonable exercise of power having no rational relation to the public safety, public health or public morals.' This clear limitation of the scope of judicial review has since been consistently recognized and unwaveringly applied in every case involving this question. We have said repeatedly that if the reasonableness of a zoning by-law or ordinance is fairly debatable, the judgment of the local legislative body responsible for the enactment must be sustained.
> Another rule which we have followed with equal consistency in the judicial review of municipal by-laws and ordinances is that every presumption is to be made in favor of their validity, and that their enforcement will not be refused unless it is shown beyond reasonable doubt that they conflict with the applicable enabling act or the Constitution."

9. CONCLUSION. In conclusion, logic and reason have to play a significant role in any consideration of zoning change. In this case, the compatible parking use of an office building, given the unique parking needs of the adjacent Church, coupled with the obvious benefits to public welfare, and weighed against the minimal impact to the neighborhood of a first-class office use, constitute a "most rational use of land", as well as rendering moot any potential precedent concern associated with the use variance.

City of Cambridge

In City Council March 21, 1983

The Ordinance Committee comprised of the entire membership of the City Council, to which was referred the petition of Vice-Mayor Leonard J. Russell to amend the Zoning Map of the City of Cambridge by rezoning an area along Concord Avenue and Manassas Avenue from Residence C-1 to Office-1 (as illustrated on the attached map designated "A" for identification and described in detail on the attachment designated "B"), met in the City Council Chamber, City Hall on Wednesday, March 16, 1983 at 7:15 p.m. Councillor Walter J. Sullivan, Chairman of the Ordinance Committee presided.

At this time the Chairman called for the proponents to appear and be heard.

In response to the call of the Chair, the Committee heard from Robert Wolff of 57 Adams Avenue, Watertown, a developer who submitted a document attached hereto and designated as "C", outlining the proposed development of the Saint Peter's Parish School for conversion into first-class office space with parking if the zoning change was approved. Mr. Wolfe stated that the building could provide under a lease 37,100 square feet of interior gross area on a lot of approximately 40,720 square feet. He stated that the Church had obtained a variance before the Cambridge Board of Zoning Appeal, which variance was filed with the City Clerk on February 8, 1983 and appealed by four persons on February 25, 1983.

Attorney John F. Rousseau, Trustee of 60 State Street, Boston outlined in great detail why housing would not be appropriate and that no function of the Church regarding parking for services would be impaired by the proposal. He further stated that the proposal would be in accord with the stated purpose of the Zoning Ordinances, in that it would lessen congestion in the streets and encourage the most rational use of land and that parking could be provided for fifty cars and limited to the usual office hours leaving the parking area available for Church services after hours and weekends. He further stated that the regulations applicable to the Office-1 district were essentially the same for the existing Residence C-1 districts and is compatible with the Zoning Ordinance requirements of the most rational use of land.

Mr. Wolff stated that one million dollars would be used to upgrade the interior of the building and estimated that sixty-five thousand dollars would be required for the parking area, that such conversion posed no threat to neighborhood stability and would have a positive effect on property values, provide full security during off hours, that the traffic activity would be confined to the usual rush hours and would be restricted to Concord Avenue, an existing major traffic artery.

Mr. Wolff further stated that the property would generate taxes of $55,000. and is a logical extension of an existing non-residential use along the Manassas Avenue boundary, that the immediate abuttors are in favor of the proposal, that the office use would be a logical buffer between the present business and residential zones. He cited several Massachusetts cases to rebut the presumption of spot zoning. (The documents referred to by Mr. Wolff and compiled by Attorney John F. Rousseau of 60 State Street, Boston, concluded that the zoning changes would provide benefits to the area with minimal impact on the neighborhood and constituted a most rational use of land).

Mr. Wolff stated that three of the six abuttors favored the change, including Mrs. Charles Heard of 11 Clement Circle and Dr. Leon Eisenberg of 5 Clement Circle and Dr. John Habraken of 5 Clement Circle, that the opposition at the Board of Zoning Appeal Hearing was from persons not within eyesight of the proposal, that all property owners within eyesight were in favor.

In answer to Councillor David Sullivan, Mr. Rousseau stated that it would be difficult to show spot zoning under the law.

Mayor Vellucci stated that he would favor the proposed amendment and that the property was offered to the School Department, but turned down by the School Committee.

Mr. Wolff stated that a petition with 1,300 signatures favored the proposed zoning change.

The Committee heard from Father Herlihy, Pastor of Saint Peter's Church, who outlined the history fo the school and its impact on the community, the various propositions that he received and refused regarding the building, until he agreed to consider the office proposal, which he stated made sense since there would be no loss of parking to the Church, that the High School was thriving with a long waiting list and no change was contemplated in the use of that building. He stated that all other proposed uses were unsatisfactory and that the proposed office use was the best solution for the property.

The Chairman, Councillor Walter J. Sullivan, announced to the meeting that the persons present could record themselves in favor or against the proposed zoning amendment by signing the appropriate pads whcih were distributed to the audience.

In response to the call of the Chair, 105 residents indicated their approval and 18 indicated their disapproval to the proposal. Councillor Danehy recorded himself in favor by a letter to the Chairman.

The Chair declared the case for the proponents closed and called for the opponents to appear and be heard.

The Committee heard from William Fowler, 29 Buckingham Street, who stated that he believed the proposal constituted spot zoning that a new commercial core will be created at the location if office development is allowed.

In answer to Councillor Clinton, Mr. Fowler stated that lots of people are interested in housing developments from unused school buildings. He further indicated that the Church had never come to the neighborhood with a housing proposal.

In answer to Councillor David Sullivan, Mr. Fowler stated that he would personally support housing for the location and that others would, that he did not know of anyone who would oppose it. He further stated that he was approached by the developer, Mr. Wolff on December 26, 1982 and did not want to take a position on this issue.

The Committee heard from Attorney Thomas Bracken of 2 Highland Street, who recorded his opposition and stated that in his opinion the plaintiffs in the Board of Zoning Appeal case have standing in Court.

The Committee heard from Thomas Anniger of 26 Healy Street, who stated that the Chairman of the Board of Zoning Appeal recommended that the petitioners go to the City Council because they have a weak case and that is the reason the petitioners for the Zoning change are here tonight. He further stated that this is a matter of policy decision, involving up-zoning not down zoning, that the parking lot is an issue that the commercial area would be hurt and lose its identity with the new offices. He stated that the neighborhood was concerned about increased traffic.

In answer to Councillor David Sullivan, Mr. Anniger stated that he would welcome low and moderate income housing if the economics are present, that most people may be in favor of it.

Dr. William Ackerly, in a letter to Councillor David Sullivan recorded his opposition.

No one else appearing at the call of the Chair for the opposition, the Chair declared the hearing closed at 9:43 p.m. and moved that the proposed zoning amendment be referred to the City Council without recommendation for future consideration.

The Chair also announced that the Council must await the report of the Planning Board, which held their hearing on March 15,1983. There being no objection, the motion carried and the matter was referred to the City Council and the Committee adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

For the Committee,

Walter J. Sullivan

March 22, 1983

Mr. David Sullivan
City Councilor
Cambridge City Hall
795 Massachusetts Avenue
Cambridge, MA 02139

Dear Mr. Sullivan,

As an abutter of St. Peter's Parish School I would like to express to you and the City Council my opposition to the Church's request to re-zone its school building to commercial use. I have lived at 159 Concord Avenue since August 1979 and since I am directly across the street from the school I have a considerable interest, and have given considerable thought to the impact of various alternative uses of the property. After stating my objections to the proposed commercial use, I will make two suggestions for what I think would be most appropriate use.

My objections are as follows:

1) Parking situation

Although the developer indicates that sufficient parking will be available on premise for all workers in the building, that will not prevent a massive parking overflow in the neighborhood. Any business, particularly those suggested by the developer, will have a number of transcient visitors during the course of the day. Even though some parking may be available on premises, many business visitors will be tempted to park on the street, even at risk of getting a parking ticket. The price of a parking ticket is a small item for most business consultants, architects, and software firms (all of which are proposed tenants). It has been suggested that overflow parking can be prevented by No Parking signs and strict ticketing of illegally parked cars. THIS WILL DESTROY THE RESIDENTIAL NATURE OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD. One convenience of a residential neighborhood is that the transcient guests of the residents can have the ability to park nearby for short visits. By making parking illegal, we will lose that convenience. The Cambridge resident guest parking permits are not really an offset when someone is coming for a short visit or you are having five or six visitors at once for afternoon tea. We have already incurred this parking problem when the Harvard Observatory recently started to charge its parkers, which caused them to overflow on to the streets. The resultant "No Parking" signs and ticketing has already been a detriment to the residential nature of our neighborhood.

Night parking will also be a problem. Although developer has suggested tenants will be required to leave the premises during non-business hours, it is ludicrous to suggest that architects, business consultants, software workers, and any other ambitious young man or woman will not want to work at night. This will involve their parking their cars somewhere. If they are prohibited from parking on premises at night, they will all be on the streets. There is no way to prevent this.

2) Traffic Problem

The traffic entering and leaving the commercial premises in the morning and the evening will undoubtedly be a detriment to the residential character of the neighborhood as well as generally slowing down traffic on Concord Avenue. Although developer has (presumably correctly) shown that the number of cars that may be added is small relative to the total flow in on Concord Avenue, his figures don't take into account that there will be slowing down, stopping, and turning into a parking lot. With everyone coming at the same hour it will undoubtedly have a detrimental effect on Concord Avenue. In addition, the exhaust fumes caused by cars slowing down, but especially cars being started up is a commercial nuisance we don't need.

3) Changed Character of Neighborhood Due to Use of Local Stores

The commerical occupants will have a significant impact on the nature of the local stores. To begin with, there will be long lines at Sage's between 8 and 9 in the morning to buy coffee and doughnuts. The prices will go up consistent with the impulse-willingness to pay by business people. This means both the residents will be crowded out and forced to pay more. This same phenomenon will occur at many of of the local stores where business will improve enabling prices to go up. More importantly, the nature of the stores will change within 5 years. Undoubtedly at least one or two "residential" such stores will give way to a business lunch place, a secretarial supply store, and perhaps even fast food. Further, it will increase the pressure for other nearby buildings to be converted to commercial useage for either expansion or to accomodate the existing commercial businesses. If this neighborhood is to be preserved as residential, it is important not to let commercial business get a foothold. To repeat, the prices in the stores will change, the nature of the product sold in the stores will change, and the stores themselves will turn over. This is an inevitable process unless it is stopped early.

4) Changed Physical Appearance of Neighborhood

The combination of a filled parking lot, and/or a fence on Concord Avenue will do nothing to enhance the attractiveness of the neighborhood. More importantly, a fence as proposed, will simply attract litter at its bottom,and present a sterile appearance despite the shrubbery proposed. If you don't believe this,look at the physical appearance of the fence on the Concord Avenue property just below 159 Concord Avenue (I don't know the number). We will end up with fences on both sides of the road. Not very attractive.

We propose the following. Sympathetic to the Church's need for the parking lot, the School could comfortably be used in two ways. First, it should be converted to elderly housing. This serves not only the elderly in an ideal location, but keeps the neighborhood residential. Elderly should enjoy this neighborhood both because it is in immediate walking distance of a food store, a hardware store, a cleaner, as well as other facilities, and second, because it is right on a bus stop to Harvard Square. With elderly presumably having less need for parking, the parking problem would be solved. A second suggestion for the property would be to allow market rate condominiums. At market rate, I suspect a developer would have no difficulty either converting the building or totally or partially demolishing it in order to produce attractive, residential units that would be consistent with the current neighborhood.

In sum, while the Church has been an excellent neighbor and we are sympathetic to its needs, its particular desires for use of the property should not necessarily determine its ultimate disposition. Residential zoning exists for a reason and that reason is no less valid at the corner of Concord and Huron than any other neighborhood in Cambridge. Please vote to preserve this as a residential neighborhood.

I have enclosed extra copies and request that you distribute them to other City Councilors. Thank you.

Sincerely,

William H. Pike

Re: St. Peter's Zoning Petition

Dear Councillor Sullivan,

I regret that an unavoidable professional commitment prevents me from attending the hearing this evening on the above petition. I hope the Committee on Ordinances and ultimately the Council itself will reject this petition. Hardly a week goes by without one or another Council member rightly voicing concern about the loss of housing in Cambridge. How then can the Council in good conscience support this petition to change the zoning on this site from residential to office use? Not only would such action deprive the community of a site that appears to be ideal for housing use (as exemplified by the serious interest of the Cambridge Housing Authority in it); it would also send a clear signal to developers that City Council members do not mean what they say, and are too ready and willing to aid in the unfortunate reduction of housing in Cambridge.

I would appreciate it if you would distribute copies of this letter to the other members of the Committee.

Respectfully yours,

Frank E.A. Sander

Dear Mr. Sullivan:

The Ordinance Committee is hearing a petition from St. Peter's Church requesting a zoning change for its former elementary school from Residence C-1 to Office-1. As neighbors of St. Peter's we wish to be recorded in opposition to this zoning change. We wish to protect the residencial character of this neighborhood and although we would support the use of St. Peter's School for housing, we oppose its use as office space. Concord Ave. is prime property for various kinds of commercial development. We oppose any change in its zoning which would allow other than residensial use and do not want a precedent set by allowing thepetition which is before you.

Sincerely,

Not only would such action deprive the community of a site that appears to be ideal for housing use (as exemplified by the serious interest of the Cambridge Housing Authority in it); it would also send a clear signal to developers that City Council members do not mean what they say, and are too ready and willing to aid in the unfortunate reduction of housing in Cambridge.

I would appreciate it if you would distribute copies of this letter to the other members of the Committee.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. Sullivan,

As an abutter of St. Peter's Parish School I would like to express to you and the City Council my opposition to the Church's request to re-zone its school building to commercial use. I have lived at 159 Concord Avenue since August 1979 and since I am directly across the street from the school I have a considerable interest, and have given considerable thought to the impact of various alternative uses of the property. After stating my objections to the proposed commercial use, I will make two suggestions for what I think would be most appropriate use.

My objections are as follows:

1) Parking situation

Although the developer indicates that sufficient parking will be available on premise for all workers in the building, that will not prevent a massive parking overflow in the neighborhood. Any business, particularly those suggested by the developer, will have a number of transient visitors during the course of the day. Even though some parking may be available on premises, many business visitors will be tempted to park on the street, even at risk of getting a parking ticket. The price of a parking ticket is a small item for most business consultants, architects, and software firms (all of which are proposed tenants). It has been suggested that overflow parking can be prevented by No Parking signs and strict ticketing of illegally parked cars. THIS WILL DESTROY THE RESIDENTIAL NATURE OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD. One convenience of a residential neighborhood is that the transient guests of the residents can have the ability to park nearby for short visits. By making parking illegal, we will lose that convenience. The Cambridge resident guest parking permits are not really an offset when someone is coming for a short visit or you are having five or six visitors at once for afternoon tea. We have already incurred this parking problem when the Harvard Observatory recently started to charge its parkers, which caused them to overflow on to the streets. The resultant "No Parking" signs and ticketing has already been a detriment to the residential nature of our neighborhood.

Night parking will also be a problem. Although developer has suggested tenants will be required to leave the premises during non-business hours, it is ludicrous to suggest that architects, business consultants, software workers, and any other ambitious young man or woman will not want to work at night. This will involve their parking their cars somewhere. If they are prohibited from parking on premises at night, they will all be on the streets. There is no way to prevent this.

2) Traffic Problem

The traffic entering and leaving the commercial premises in the morning and the evening will undoubtedly be a detriment to the residential character of the neighborhood as well as generally slowing down traffic on Concord Avenue. Although developer has (presumably correctly) shown that the number of cars that may be added is small relative to the total flow in on Concord Avenue, his figures don't take into account that there will be slowing down, stopping, and turning into a parking lot. With everyone coming at the same hour it will undoubtedly have a detrimental effect on Concord Avenue. In addition, the exhaust fumes caused by cars slowing down, but especially cars being started up is a commercial nuisance we don't need.

3) Changed Character of Neighborhood Due to Use of Local Stores

The commerical occupants will have a significant impact on the nature of the local stores. To begin with, there will be long lines at Sage's between 8 and 9 in the morning to buy coffee and doughnuts. The prices will go up consistent with the impulse-willingness to pay by business people. This means both the residents will be crowded out and forced to pay more. This same phenomenon will occur at many of of the local stores where business will improve enabling prices to go up. More importantly, the nature of the stores will change within 5 years. Undoubtedly at least one or two "residential" such stores will give way to a business lunch place, a secretarial supply store, and perhaps even fast food. Further, it will increase the pressure for other nearby buildings to be converted to commercial useage for either expansion or to accomodate the existing commercial businesses. If this neighborhood is to be preserved as residential, it is important not to let commercial business get a foothold. To repeat, the prices in the stores will change, the nature of the product sold in the stores will change, and the stores themselves will turn over. This is an inevitable process unless it is stopped early.

4) Changed Physical Appearance of Neighborhood

The combination of a filled parking lot, and/or a fence on Concord Avenue will do nothing to enhance the attractiveness of the neighborhood. More importantly, a fence as proposed, will simply attract litter at its bottom,and present a sterile appearance despite the shrubbery proposed. If you don't believe this,look at the physical appearance of the fence on the Concord Avenue property just below 159 Concord Avenue (I don't know the number). We will end up with fences on both sides of the road. Not very attractive.

We propose the following. Sympathetic to the Church's need for the parking lot, the School could comfortably be used in two ways. First, it should be converted to elderly housing. This serves not only the elderly in an ideal location, but keeps the neighborhood residential. Elderly should enjoy this neighborhood both because it is in immediate walking distance of a food store, a hardware store, a cleaner, as well as other facilities, and second, because it is right on a bus stop to Harvard Square. With elderly presumably having less need for parking, the parking problem would be solved. A second suggestion for the property would be to allow market rate condominiums. At market rate, I suspect a developer would have no difficulty either converting the building or totally or partially demolishing it in order to produce attractive, residential units that would be consistent with the current neighborhood.

In sum, while the Church has been an excellent neighbor and we are sympathetic to its needs, its particular desires for use of the property should not necessarily determine its ultimate disposition. Residential zoning exists for a reason and that reason is no less valid at the corner of Concord and Huron than any other neighborhood in Cambridge. Please vote to preserve this as a residential neighborhood.

I have enclosed extra copies and request that you distribute them to other City Councilors. Thank you.

Sincerely,

William H. Pike

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

IN RE:

PROPOSAL TO CHANGE ZONING AFFECTING ST. PETER'S PARISH SCHOOL FROM RESIDENCE C-1 TO OFFICE O-1

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF PROPOSAL

1. THE PREMISES. The subject premises (the "Premises") are the location of St. Peter's Parish Elementary School, bounded in part by Concord and Manassas Avenues and in part by land currently zoned Business A. The existing school building is comprised of approximately 37,100 square feet of interior gross floor area and the lot upon which it is situated is comprised of approximately 40,720 square feet. The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, through St. Peter's Parish of Cambridge (the "Church") proposes to lease the Premises for conversion into first-class office space with required parking to be contained upon the lot.

The Church appeared before the Cambridge Board of Zoning Appeal seeking a variance to permit the proposed office use, as well as a special permit to permit alteration of a non-conforming structure and a special permit to reduce shared parking. The Board of Appeal determined that the relief requested was appropriate and that the facts in the case supported the findings required for the variance and special permits, and the Board's decision granting such relief was filed with the Cambridge City Clerk on February 8, 1983. On February 25, 1983, four persons appealed such decision.

2. BACKGROUND OF ZONING CHANGE PROPOSAL. A concern has been raised by certain neighbors and by the Cambridge Planning Board that the variance might well establish a potential precedent respecting other properties. Accordingly, the subject change in zoning has been sought, changing the balance of the city block comprising the Premises from Residential C-1 to Office O-1. The change would by its terms be limited to these Premises and, unlike the variance, would not necessarily set any precedent for other properties, each of which is unique and subject to its own set of facts.

3. HOUSING IS NOT APPROPRIATE. We hear a great deal about how appropriate this site would be for housing, how much Cambridge needs housing and how housing would be a stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. The Church has explored housing at length with its own parishioners and with third parties. Inevitably, the same conclusion was reached each time: housing is not appropriate for this site. Most importantly, the Church needs all of the parking on the Premises in order to continue its religious and other activities. Absence of the parking would completely disrupt those activities, would result in congestion in all of the neighborhood streets, might well pursuade some parishioners - especially the more elderly ones - from participating, and thus lead to a deterioration in the Church itself and thus in its own special stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. Those who advocate housing continue to disregard the facts in this case. In a perfect world, with different facts, housing might have been more appropriate. The zoning proposal acknowledges the particular facts in this case and provides a logical land use resolution. In addition, it should be pointed out that the immediate abutters - those who both support the proposal and who will be most directly affected by it - are unanimously opposed to housing because of the twenty-four hour a day congestion and level of activity that housing, as opposed to office, would entail. Finally, the object of the deliberation respecting this proposal ought not to be exploration of potential benefits which housing could provide - if the facts in this case were different and if housing were available - but rather an examination of how the proposed office use will be compatible with (i) the neighborhood, (ii) the facts in this case and (iii) the purposes of zoning.

4. THE PROPOSAL COMPLIES WITH CAMBRIDGE ZONING PURPOSES. Among the stated purposes of the Cambridge Zoning Ordinance are two purposes which should be particularly emphasized in this case, namely to "lessen congestion in the streets" and to "encourage the most rational use of land".

As the record reflects in the variance petition and decision, the Church has a definite parking need in conjunction with its continued use of its adjacent church property. At least 50 cars must be parked upon the Premises on weekends and during occasional evenings. Even the overflow lot at the Smithsonian is often utilized. By definition, this parking requirement is at odds with any proposed housing use. However, the proposed office use is uniquely compatible with the Church's parking needs in that the office parking use will be limited to normal office hours during the week, thus leaving the needed parking area available to the Church during evenings and weekends. Accordingly, parking congestion will be eliminated with the proposed use, whereas parking congestion in the neighborhood would be extraordinary if the Church were unable to use the Premises for its parking needs.

In addition, it is difficult to argue in good faith for the proposition that requiring the Church to use the adjacent streets for parking or, in the alternative, to curtail its church activities, is a "rational use of land". The proposed office use would be clean, silent and benign. Given the availability of bus service and the fact that Concord Avenue is a relatively major thoroughfare, traffic congestion would be minimal. Evening and weekend use would be non-existent. There is no proposal for brand new construction or for the demolition of existing housing. Indeed, the extension of the non-residential use already established by the adjacent business district is logical given the natural boundaries of Concord and Manassas Avenues. The dimensional and density regulations applicable to the O-1 District are essentially the same as those required for the existing C-1 District. In short, the proposed office use, being compatible with neighborhood needs and especially with the Church's real parking requirements, is a "most rational use of land".

5. THE PROPOSAL PRESERVES NEIGHBORHOOD STABILITY. Fears have been voiced about the threat to neighborhood stability posed by use of this building for office purposes. No one has been able to quantify that threat. Indeed, the charge almost seems to be a convenient generalization by those would would cling to the housing preference notwithstanding the Church's obvious needs. In the first place, since the school has existed for years, the proposed investment in rehabilitation for office use and the landscaping of the grounds can only have a positive effect upon local property values. Second, first-class office use is a nine-to-five, uniform, safe and silent activity, with full security during off hours, as opposed to the twenty-four hour a day panoply of housing activities. Third, although there will be an increase in traffic, the vast majority of such traffic activity will be confined to normal rush hours and will be restricted to Concord Avenue, an existing major traffic artery. Fourth, the opponents fear that this proposal will lead to other properties, particularly the Lesley College property, being afforded non-residential status. However, in point of fact every single action can be seen by alarmists as the beginning of a "trend". The more rational approach acknowledges that each property is unique, with its own peculiar facts, location and history and this Council is entirely capable of viewing each matter independently, without any pressure to be bound by results in different matters. Finally, notwithstanding the general fears voiced, and with all due respect to the intelligence, concern and able representation of those opposed to this proposal, does it not stretch credulity to observe that in all of the hours of deliberation to date before the Zoning Board of Appeal and the Planning Board, not one person has seen fit to attempt to quantify his fears by pointing to any alleged corelation between the presence of the Smithsonian, with more than four times the number of employees that will be on the Premises, and any particular deterioration in the neighborhood.

6. THE PROPERTY WILL GENERATE TAXES. In addition, since the user will not be a tax-exempt entity, significant long-term revenues will be generated by the proposed office use. Currently, the property is tax-exempt and generates no tax revenues. We note as well that favorable action upon the proposed zoning change could render moot the need for a variance, thus saving the City the expense of responding to the appeal to the variance decision.

7. THIS IS A LOGICAL LOCUS FOR ZONING CHANGE. As referred to above, as a matter of zoning planning, the proposal suggests a logical extension of an existing non-residential use to the extent of the natural boundaries of Manassas Avenue, and one which has already been approved by the Board of Appeal. This is an institutional building self-contained on an existing block. Furthermore, the immediate abutters, being those most directly affected by the proposed use, are in favor of the proposal. Since the building has existed in its present form for a number of years, the relatively benign office use constitutes a logical buffer between the business and residential zones.

8. THIS IS NOT SPOT ZONING. It is almost too easy to seek to oppose such a proposal by asserting "spot zoning". Massachusetts cases have defined spot zoning as the singling out of one lot for different treatment from that accorded to similar surrounding land indistinguishable from it in character, all for the economic benefit of that lot's owner. See Crall & others v. City of Leominster & others, 362 Mass. 95 (1972) and the cases cited therein. These Premises are clearly distinguishable from all of the surrounding land. The large, vacant school building and paved parking area are unique in the neighborhood. The Premises are bounded by streets on three sides and by a flourishing business district on the fourth. Church property is directly across Manassas Avenue, multiple housing is across Concord Avenue and the Smithsonian Institution is diagonally opposite. These premises are unique in their nature and their history. This is not, for instance, a classic case of contriving to destroy existing residences and carve an industrial or business area out of the heart of a uniquely residential area.

In Peters v. Westfield, 353 Mass. 635 (1968), a rezoning was upheld where the rezoning of property on a principal thoroughfare amounted to moving the boundary line between a business district and a residential district from the middle of a block to the end of a block. Because of that property's location on the corner of the thoroughfare, and because it was adjacent to a business district, it was found to be distinguishable from other residential parcels in that residential district. Similarly, charges of spot zoning have been disregarded wherever the property in question is distinguishable in character from surrounding land. See also Martin v. Town of Rockland, 1 Mass. App. 167 (1973).

While it is true that the Church will derive financial benefit from the proposed leasing of the Premises, the rezoning can in no way be said to be all for its economic benefit. For that matter, the Petitioner could likely realize a greater current economic benefit by simply selling the Premises to a housing developer. However, as noted above, such a use would preclude the continuation of the Church's activities by reason of its parking needs. In any event, there are other substantial benefits to the neighborhood and to the City which would necessarily flow from the zoning change. The proposed office use will allow the preservation of a landmark in its current condition. Indeed, the proposed lease of the Premises will preclude any change to the exterior other than improved landscaping. The currently vacant and potentially derelict building will cease to be a security risk to the neighborhood. Compatible parking uses will be self-contained, thus avoiding congestion and danger. Needed tax revenues will be generated by the project. In short, incidential economic benefit to the Church should not undermine the validity of the proposal. In Peters, the court noted that the subject zoning change

"has been adopted at this time at the instigation of the lot owners who will profit therefrom. It cannot be ruled, however, that benefiting them is the sole purpose of the change...We are unable to rule, however, that the council could not find that it would be reasonably related to public convenience and welfare and calculated to encourage the most appropriate use of land throughout the City."

Most importantly, however, in reviewing spot zoning cases, the court in Crall reconfirmed the scope of permitted judicial review of municipal zoning by-laws and ordinances as follows:

> "'The question to be decided is not whether we approve such a by-law. It is whether we can pronounce it an unreasonable exercise of power having no rational relation to the public safety, public health or public morals.' This clear limitation of the scope of judicial review has since been consistently recognized and unwaveringly applied in every case involving this question. We have said repeatedly that if the reasonableness of a zoning by-law or ordinance is fairly debatable, the judgment of the local legislative body responsible for the enactment must be sustained.
> Another rule which we have followed with equal consistency in the judicial review of municipal by-laws and ordinances is that every presumption is to be made in favor of their validity, and that their enforcement will not be refused unless it is shown beyond reasonable doubt that they conflict with the applicable enabling act or the Constitution."

9. CONCLUSION. In conclusion, logic and reason have to play a significant role in any consideration of zoning change. In this case, the compatible parking use of an office building, given the unique parking needs of the adjacent Church, coupled with the obvious benefits to public welfare, and weighed against the minimal impact to the neighborhood of a first-class office use, constitute a "most rational use of land", as well as rendering moot any potential precedent concern associated with the use variance.

On February 25, 1983, four persons appealed such decision.

2. BACKGROUND OF ZONING CHANGE PROPOSAL. A concern has been raised by certain neighbors and by the Cambridge Planning Board that the variance might well establish a potential precedent respecting other properties. Accordingly, the subject change in zoning has been sought, changing the balance of the city block comprising the Premises from Residential C-1 to Office O-1. The change would by its terms be limited to these Premises and, unlike the variance, would not necessarily set any precedent for other properties, each of which is unique and subject to its own set of facts.

3. HOUSING IS NOT APPROPRIATE. We hear a great deal about how appropriate this site would be for housing, how much Cambridge needs housing and how housing would be a stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. The Church has explored housing at length with its own parishioners and with third parties. Inevitably, the same conclusion was reached each time: housing is not appropriate for this site. Most importantly, the Church needs all of the parking on the Premises in order to continue its religious and other activities. Absence of the parking would completely disrupt those activities, would result in congestion in all of the neighborhood streets, might well pursuade some parishioners - especially the more elderly ones - from participating, and thus lead to a deterioration in the Church itself and thus in its own special stabilizing influence in the neighborhood. Those who advocate housing continue to disregard the facts in this case. In a perfect world, with different facts, housing might have been more appropriate. The zoning proposal acknowledges the particular facts in this case and provides a logical land use resolution. In addition, it should be pointed out that the immediate abutters - those who both support the proposal and who will be most directly affected by it - are unanimously opposed to housing because of the twenty-four hour a day congestion and level of activity that housing, as opposed to office, would entail. Finally, the object of the deliberation respecting this proposal ought not to be exploration of potential benefits which housing could provide - if the facts in this case were different and if housing were available - but rather an examination of how the proposed office use will be compatible with (i) the neighborhood, (ii) the facts in this case and (iii) the purposes of zoning.

4. THE PROPOSAL COMPLIES WITH CAMBRIDGE ZONING PURPOSES. Among the stated purposes of the Cambridge Zoning Ordinance are two purposes which should be particularly emphasized in this case, namely to "lessen congestion in the streets" and to "encourage the most rational use of land".

As the record reflects in the variance petition and decision, the Church has a definite parking need in conjunction with its continued use of its adjacent church property. At least 50 cars must be parked upon the Premises on weekends and during occasional evenings. Even the overflow lot at the Smithsonian is often utilized. By definition, this parking requirement is at odds with any proposed housing use. However, the proposed office use is uniquely compatible with the Church's parking needs in that the office parking use will be limited to normal office hours during the week, thus leaving the needed parking area available to the Church during evenings and weekends. Accordingly, parking congestion will be eliminated with the proposed use, whereas parking congestion in the neighborhood would be extraordinary if the Church were unable to use the Premises for its parking needs.

In addition, it is difficult to argue in good faith for the proposition that requiring the Church to use the adjacent streets for parking or, in the alternative, to curtail its church activities, is a "rational use of land". The proposed office use would be clean, silent and benign. Given the availability of bus service and the fact that Concord Avenue is a relatively major thoroughfare, traffic congestion would be minimal. Evening and weekend use would be non-existent. There is no proposal for brand new construction or for the demolition of existing housing. Indeed, the extension of the non-residential use already established by the adjacent business district is logical given the natural boundaries of Concord and Manassas Avenues. The dimensional and density regulations applicable to the O-1 District are essentially the same as those required for the existing C-1 District. In short, the proposed office use, being compatible with neighborhood needs and especially with the Church's real parking requirements, is a "most rational use of land".

5. THE PROPOSAL PRESERVES NEIGHBORHOOD STABILITY. Fears have been voiced about the threat to neighborhood stability posed by use of this building for office purposes. No one has been able to quantify that threat. Indeed, the charge almost seems to be a convenient generalization by those would would cling to the housing preference notwithstanding the Church's obvious needs. In the first place, since the school has existed for years, the proposed investment in rehabilitation for office use and the landscaping of the grounds can only have a positive effect upon local property values. Second, first-class office use is a nine-to-five, uniform, safe and silent activity, with full security during off hours, as opposed to the twenty-four hour a day panoply of housing activities. Third, although there will be an increase in traffic, the vast majority of such traffic activity will be confined to normal rush hours and will be restricted to Concord Avenue, an existing major traffic artery. Fourth, the opponents fear that this proposal will lead to other properties, particularly the Lesley College property, being afforded non-residential status. However, in point of fact every single action can be seen by alarmists as the beginning of a "trend". The more rational approach acknowledges that each property is unique, with its own peculiar facts, location and history and this Council is entirely capable of viewing each matter independently, without any pressure to be bound by results in different matters. Finally, notwithstanding the general fears voiced, and with all due respect to the intelligence, concern and able representation of those opposed to this proposal, does it not stretch credulity to observe that in all of the hours of deliberation to date before the Zoning Board of Appeal and the Planning Board, not one person has seen fit to attempt to quantify his fears by pointing to any alleged corelation between the presence of the Smithsonian, with more than four times the number of employees that will be on the Premises, and any particular deterioration in the neighborhood.

6. THE PROPERTY WILL GENERATE TAXES. In addition, since the user will not be a tax-exempt entity, significant long-term revenues will be generated by the proposed office use. Currently, the property is tax-exempt and generates no tax revenues. We note as well that favorable action upon the proposed zoning change could render moot the need for a variance, thus saving the City the expense of responding to the appeal to the variance decision.

7. THIS IS A LOGICAL LOCUS FOR ZONING CHANGE. As referred to above, as a matter of zoning planning, the proposal suggests a logical extension of an existing non-residential use to the extent of the natural boundaries of Manassas Avenue, and one which has already been approved by the Board of Appeal. This is an institutional building self-contained on an existing block. Furthermore, the immediate abutters, being those most directly affected by the proposed use, are in favor of the proposal. Since the building has existed in its present form for a number of years, the relatively benign office use constitutes a logical buffer between the business and residential zones.

8. THIS IS NOT SPOT ZONING. It is almost too easy to seek to oppose such a proposal by asserting "spot zoning". Massachusetts cases have defined spot zoning as the singling out of one lot for different treatment from that accorded to similar surrounding land indistinguishable from it in character, all for the economic benefit of that lot's owner. See Crall & others v. City of Leominster & others, 362 Mass. 95 (1972) and the cases cited therein. These Premises are clearly distinguishable from all of the surrounding land. The large, vacant school building and paved parking area are unique in the neighborhood. The Premises are bounded by streets on three sides and by a flourishing business district on the fourth. Church property is directly across Manassas Avenue, multiple housing is across Concord Avenue and the Smithsonian Institution is diagonally opposite. These premises are unique in their nature and their history. This is not, for instance, a classic case of contriving to destroy existing residences and carve an industrial or business area out of the heart of a uniquely residential area.

In Peters v. Westfield, 353 Mass. 635 (1968), a rezoning was upheld where the rezoning of property on a principal thoroughfare amounted to moving the boundary line between a business district and a residential district from the middle of a block to the end of a block. Because of that property's location on the corner of the thoroughfare, and because it was adjacent to a business district, it was found to be distinguishable from other residential parcels in that residential district. Similarly, charges of spot zoning have been disregarded wherever the property in question is distinguishable in character from surrounding land. See also Martin v. Town of Rockland, 1 Mass. App. 167 (1973).

While it is true that the Church will derive financial benefit from the proposed leasing of the Premises, the rezoning can in no way be said to be all for its economic benefit. For that matter, the Petitioner could likely realize a greater current economic benefit by simply selling the Premises to a housing developer. However, as noted above, such a use would preclude the continuation of the Church's activities by reason of its parking needs. In any event, there are other substantial benefits to the neighborhood and to the City which would necessarily flow from the zoning change. The proposed office use will allow the preservation of a landmark in its current condition. Indeed, the proposed lease of the Premises will preclude any change to the exterior other than improved landscaping. The currently vacant and potentially derelict building will cease to be a security risk to the neighborhood. Compatible parking uses will be self-contained, thus avoiding congestion and danger. Needed tax revenues will be generated by the project. In short, incidential economic benefit to the Church should not undermine the validity of the proposal. In Peters, the court noted that the subject zoning change

"has been adopted at this time at the instigation of the lot owners who will profit therefrom. It cannot be ruled, however, that benefiting them is the sole purpose of the change...We are unable to rule, however, that the council could not find that it would be reasonably related to public convenience and welfare and calculated to encourage the most appropriate use of land throughout the City."

Most importantly, however, in reviewing spot zoning cases, the court in Crall reconfirmed the scope of permitted judicial review of municipal zoning by-laws and ordinances as follows:

> "'The question to be decided is not whether we approve such a by-law. It is whether we can pronounce it an unreasonable exercise of power having no rational relation to the public safety, public health or public morals.' This clear limitation of the scope of judicial review has since been consistently recognized and unwaveringly applied in every case involving this question. We have said repeatedly that if the reasonableness of a zoning by-law or ordinance is fairly debatable, the judgment of the local legislative body responsible for the enactment must be sustained.
> Another rule which we have followed with equal consistency in the judicial review of municipal by-laws and ordinances is that every presumption is to be made in favor of their validity, and that their enforcement will not be refused unless it is shown beyond reasonable doubt that they conflict with the applicable enabling act or the Constitution."

9. CONCLUSION. In conclusion, logic and reason have to play a significant role in any consideration of zoning change. In this case, the compatible parking use of an office building, given the unique parking needs of the adjacent Church, coupled with the obvious benefits to public welfare, and weighed against the minimal impact to the neighborhood of a first-class office use, constitute a "most rational use of land", as well as rendering moot any potential precedent concern associated with the use variance.
