CELEBRATION

Thursday, June 20, 1991 at 3:00 p.m.

Peter Renz was employed at Homeowner's Rehab, Inc., a nonprofit housing organization in Cambridge for over fifteen (15) years.

As a key member of Homeowner's Rehab, Inc's Sweat Equity Program, Peter has the skills of a carpenter and construction manager that gave him the ability and the patience to train families to use their own unskilled labor to help in the restoration of their homes, homes which they otherwise would never have been able to obtain. Peter had a keen eye toward detail and was a master at historical restoration. His style and approach to construction created a precedent for Homeowner's Rehab which proves that you can restore and build low-income affordable housing that has character, charm and is appreciated. Peter was directly responsible for assisting many Cambridge families, in fulfilling their dreams to become homeowners, and the impact he made on HRI and the City of Cambridge is manifested in projects like Columbia Street and other affordable housing projects throughout the City.

In memory of Peter Renz, Homeowner's Rehab, Inc., Councilor Sheila Russell and the Cambridge City Councilors would like to dedicate the construction of Columbia Townhouses and permanently name the entrance of this development in his honor.

I present to you: Renz Way.
