AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled: "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge."

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

Chapter Two, entitled "Administration" is hereby amended by adding a new Article XXXII entitled "Cambridge Consumer Advisory Commission", which reads as follows:

ARTICLE XXXII. CAMBRIDGE CONSUMER ADVISORY COMMISSION.

Section 1. Establishment.

Under the authority conferred by Chapter 40, section 8F of the Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 153 of the Acts of 1970, and pursuant to the governmental powers possessed by cities and towns in accordance with Article LXXXIX of the Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, section 6, there be and is hereby created, in the City of Cambridge a Consumer Advisory Commission.

Section 2. Members; Terms.

The Commission shall consist of five (5) members, who must be citizens and residents of the City of Cambridge. One member shall be a consumer to be appointed by the City Manager; three other members shall be from the public-at-large, to be appointed by the City Manager. A fifth member shall be the Sealer of Weights and Measures, who shall serve as an ex-officio member.

The members shall serve for a term of two years each. Any member so appointed may be removed at the discretion of the City Manager. A vacancy occurring otherwise than by expiration of term, shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as the original appointment. Said members shall serve without compensation but shall receive their expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties.

Section 3. Meetings.

The Commission shall hold regular monthly meetings and shall designate the time and place thereof. Notice of such meetings shall be forwarded to the City Clerk.

The Commission shall have the power to adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of its business, and shall keep a record of its proceedings. A simple majority shall constitute a quorum. A vacancy shall occur when any member shall fail to be present at three (3) consecutive meetings or fifty (50%) percent of twelve (12) such meetings in any calendar year, unless such absence shall be excused by the Commission and the reason therefore entered in the proceedings.

Section 4. Officers.

The Commission shall from time to time designate a chairman. The chairman, or a person designated by him, shall preside at Commission meetings, and the chairman or a majority of the members shall have the power to call emergency meetings.

The Commission shall elect such officers, committees, and task forces from among its members as they may from time to time deem necessary.

Section 5. Powers and Duties.

The Commission shall exercise and perform the following powers and duties:

(a) The commission shall conduct investigations, studies and research into matters affecting consumer interest and education and shall advise and report the results of such investigations, studies and research to the general public as well as to local governmental authorities and law enforcement agencies. The Commission may also undertake or recommend programs, as it deems in the best interest of the City, to correct, improve, or coordinate the protection of consumers in the City. The Commission shall also have the duty to study and report all matters referred to it by any City official or department.

(b) The Commission shall have the power to hold a public hearing on any matter it deems important and necessary and may call upon any municipal official or department, or any resident of the City, for testimony in connection therewith. The Commission shall establish rules of procedure governing the conduct of its hearings which shall be available to each witness prior to his testimony.

(c) The Commission shall have the power to call upon any other department of the City government for assistance or information in performing its duties; and it shall be the duty of such other departments to comply with a proper request of the Commission. Any question as to what constitutes a proper request for assistance or information shall be decided by the City Solicitor. The Commission shall also seek the cooperation and assistance of the Chamber of Commerce, the Office of the District Attorney, the Department of the Attorney General, the Consumers' Council and other agencies which regularly deal with consumer related matters.

(d) The Commission may appear, through its members or staff, for and in behalf of the people of the City before boards, commissions, commissioners, departments or agencies of the City, county or commonwealth, in any hearing affecting the rights of the City's consuming public or in any proceeding seeking a change or curtailment of public transportation services, or an increase of rates or costs of services or commodities, and shall be deemed an aggrieved party for the purpose of judicial or administrative review of any decision or ruling in any such proceedings in which it has so appeared, any other provision of law to the contrary notwithstanding.

(e) The Commission shall have the power to provide for a complaint referral service. The Commission may receive, refer, act upon or otherwise handle consumer complaints as it best determines, and shall keep a record of such complaints and their disposition. The Commission may call upon any City official or department for assistance in resolving such complaints, and it shall be the duty of such other officials or departments to act as expeditiously as possible on such requests.

(f) The Commission shall have the power to promulgate rules and regulations to protect consumers from practices which it determines to be unfair and deceptive or otherwise detrimental to the consuming public. Such rules and regulations shall have the force of ordinance and shall be subject to judicial or administrative review.

Section 7. Staff.

The Commission may appoint, by and with the approval of the City Manager, an executive director and such assistants, investigators, consultants, attorneys and experts on either a full or part time basis, as it deems necessary to carry out its functions and duties.

Section 7. Offices.

The Commission shall be provided with offices in City Hall or elsewhere within the City.

Section 8. Annual Report.

The Commission shall submit an annual report of its activities which shall include an evaluation of its effectiveness, and shall send a copy thereof to the Consumers' Council of the Commonwealth.

Section 9. Conflicting Ordinances.

All ordinances, resolutions, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed, and this ordinance shall take effect upon the date of passage.

New mural installed in Burns complex

A tactile mural, "Paces Along the Charles," designed and executed by Joan Schwartz was installed at the entrance of Daniel F. Burns Housing Complex, last week.

The work has been commissioned by the Cambridge Arts Council as one of the Cambridge River Festival's art project enhancement projects.

BACK TO WORK—Letitia Cole, left, was able to reenter the job market after a nursing refresher program at Mount Auburn Hospital.

Older workers meeting set

SECOE Elderly Services in conjunction with Polaroid will host a state wide meeting of the Older Workers Employment Network (O.W.E.N.) on July 8 in Waltham.

The Older Workers Employment Network is an organization of elderly employees from New York, dedicated to removing the barriers faced by the elderly in the work force or those wishing to get back into the work force.

Rosemarie Marchi, director of SECOE's Older Hire Program, will present her highly successful program.

Class of 1931 holds reunion

On June 13, the Class of 1931 of Cambridge High and Latin School held their 50th Reunion at the Holiday Inn, Somerville.

George Curtin was master of ceremonies for the evening and the Rev. Albert Good, Maryknoll Missionary from New York, gave the invocation at which time he also called for a moment of silence in memory of departed classmates.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Blinderman entertained with a solo dance and also led the line dancing.

Cambridgeport picnic planned

Riverside Cambridgeport Picnic Committee presents its 6th annual community picnic on Saturday, July 4, from 9 am to 12 midnight. Hoyt Field, Western Avenue and Gilmore Street.

The day's activities include races, sport events, rides, games, obstacle course (30 yrs and over), live broadcast by WCAS Dejay D.K. Gilmore 9 am to 8 pm. At 8:30 pm this year evening entertainment will be provided by the

to the gathering of public sector and private industry representatives. Her emphasis will be on how private industry would benefit from the completion of the older worker Joseph Perkins, Polaroid Executive, will talk about Polaroid's older worker force, and employment opportunities at Polaroid.

Thomas Bee Kociemba, SECOE Elderly Services Director, will speak on employment program marketing issues and the development of a new and different management plan for all human service programs.

Experience counts at Mt. Auburn Hospital

Letitia Cole is back. After taking over ten years away from nursing to raise a family, this wife and mother from Newton, Massachusetts is now back at work, on a bustling medical ward at Mount Auburn Hospital.

"It wasn't an easy decision to return to nursing after being away for all those years," admits Cole. "In fact, it took me about three years to get up the nerve to do it. I was concerned about not being home for my two boys and my husband, and worried about whether my skills had become outdated."

Cole discovered she needn't have worried about her family.

"Since I've started working all three boys have been terrific. They help do the cooking, cleaning, and keep the house running smoothly while I'm away."

However, Cole's worries about her skills were more legitimate. Acute-care nursing, which she wanted to resume, is a technical and rapidly changing field, and a 10-year break can leave one far behind.

"Though I'd kept my registered nurse license renewed, and had worked on and off as a consultant to local public health nurses, I'd been away from caring for acutely ill patients for years. I felt unprepared to return to a large, busy hospital."

Fortunately, just when Cole was puzzling over how she might acquire the training she needed, she read about Mount Auburn Hospital's newly created "Nurse Refresher Program." Like many hospitals across the nation, Mount Auburn faced the possibility of being affected by the nursing shortage. The hospital decided to train registered nurses from the ranks of those who, like Cole, wanted to resume their nursing careers.

Says Karen Chantemere, director of nursing staff development at Mount Auburn Hospital: "We recognized that many nurses who had not been working for some time, or had been employed in non-acute care facilities, felt deficient in clinical skills. We created this eight-week course, combining classroom and clinical instruction, for them. And it works. By the end of the first session, most of our

for the most challenging nursing positions."

For Cole, who now works three days a week, the course was invaluable. For a $300 tuition, $250 of which was reimbursed after working at Mount Auburn Hospital for six months, Cole acquired the skills and confidence needed to keep up with her new, demanding job. She attended classes, listened to lectures by experts, participated in simulated medical situations, and teamed up with a "preceptor" to work one shift a week at the hospital.

Instructor Billie Ferrisner attributes much of the program's success to the preceptor system. "Preceptors are nurses on our staff who have volunteered to work with the help train nurse-refresher students. Each is a kind of 'buddy'—someone there to show newcomers the ropes. We find that it helps students tremendously to have a contact person, one who knows them and who won't mind if they ask lots of questions."

"Having a preceptor gave me confidence," agrees Cole. Another reason Cole cites for effectiveness of the nurse-refresher course is that it is centered in a teaching hospital, where learning is encouraged.

After more than six months on the job, Cole finds that nursing, though demanding and challenging, is still for her. In fact, she's enjoying it today as never before. "The classmates are falling well, too—of 17 are now working in hospitals or health-care facilities."

The nurse refresher course is clearly a success. With a reasonable commitment of time and money, nurses like Letitia Cole are able to resume their careers. And hospitals like Mount Auburn, for a moderate expense, increase the pool of experienced, well-trained nurses available for work.

"Many of the nurses in this program have raised a family," explains Ferrisner, "and others have been nurturing and caring for others for years. When they return to nursing, they bring with them the skills of a dazed good nurse. And after all, if you've raised a family, you know something about crisis intervention!"

Mr. and Mrs. Babajtis renew wedding vows

The nicest day in their lives was June 29, 1941. So on Monday, the 40th anniversary of that day, Stella M. (Boczenowski) and Henry J. Babajtis of 67 Fifth Street happily revived memories of the last four decades.

Before a group of family and friends, Stella and Henry repeated their marriage vows at the altar in St. Hedwig's Church.

The Rev. Msgr. Francis D. Chmaj, pastor of St. Hedwig's, performed the ceremony — just as he had done 40 years before when he was a curate at the church.

The "bride's" sister, Edna Martell of Otis street, served as matron of honor, while her husband, Joseph, was best man at the 8:30 a.m. marital Mass.

On Monday night, the couple were honored at a surprise wedding dinner at the Mt. Vernon Restaurant in Somerville.

Stella and Henry have a daughter, Carol Ann Cadigan of Sheffield; three sons, Robert P. of Derry, N.H., Richard A. of Burlington, and Henry J. Babajtis, Jr., of Rochester, N.Y., and seven grandchildren.

If you were a student at MIT in the mid or late 1960's and worked in the school's laboratories handling mercury, Frank Baird wants to hear from you.

Baird says he has suffered the last 15 years permanently disabled with brain and liver damage, as well as other illnesses. The disease has robbed him of his power and ruined his marriage, he says, and he believes strongly that it all is a result of his exposure to mercury vapor thousands of times greater than the amount known to cause poisoning.

He thinks there may be as many as 10 other, one-time MIT student/workers who suffered the same fate as he and would like to find them. He can be contacted at 613 New Gulph Road, Bryn Mawr, PA 19010; (215) 525-3235.

Elders mobile market summer schedule set

The elderly and handicapped in Cambridge can help fight inflation these days by shopping at the Elders Mobile Market, a converted school bus which stops at 21 sites throughout the city to bring low-cost nutritious food to residents.

In its fifth year of operation, the Elders Mobile Market serves about 500 residents weekly with about 125 of them handicapped persons, says Director Jay Wilson. Over the years, the traveling food service has expanded from one to four days of service.

It provides produce, fruit, dairy products, bread and meat, as well as cookies and crackers, at the same prices offered by the Cambridge Food Cooperative. The coop provides insurance and volunteers to coordinate the market.

Wilson says the market receives funding from a variety of sources, including the city of Cambridge, Cambridge-Somerville Elders Services, and a private foundation. A few years ago, the market received the old school bus from the Council on Aging.

Those eligible for the service include anyone over age 60, and the handicapped. For those who can't make it to the site, the market provides volunteers who will deliver the food.

"People can either call us at 661-1580 or ask their neighbors to pick something up for them," says Wilson. "Many people shop for their friends who can't get out."

On Tuesday, the market stops at Rindge Avenue and Haskell Street, 12:15 pm; the Burns Apartments, 1 pm; Rindge Apartment, No. 364, 2:15 pm; No. 402 at 4:40 pm; and the Weaver Apartments, 81 Clifton Street, 3:15 pm.

On Wednesday, the bus stops at 411 Franklin St., 10:45 am; 2 Mt. Auburn St., 11:45 am; Lincoln School, Walden St., 1 pm; Congregational Church, Mass. Ave. near Porter Square, 1:30 pm; 116 Norfolk St., 2:15 pm; and 808 Memorial Dr., 3 pm.

On Thursday, the market stops at the Kennedy Apartments, noon; Cambridge Community Center, 5 Calendar St., 1 pm; Putnam Gardens, Putnam Ave., 1:25 pm; LBJ Apartments, Erie St., 2:15 pm; and Highland Ave. and Broadway, 3:15 pm.

Friday the Market stops at Huron Towers, Huron Ave., 11 am; Corcoran Park, 100 Thingivalva Ave., noon; 1221 Cambridge St., 1:15 pm; Truman Apartments, 80 St., 1:45 pm; and Millers River Apartments, Lambert St., 2:30 pm.

Though there is no work requirement, Wilson says the elderly are encouraged to help out at the site, weighing produce or selling the food. Volunteers are also needed for the handicapped or shut-in, she says. If the market doesn't have the food item requested, she says orders will be filled the following week.

Former Cambridge resident Paul D. Firestone, 42, was found murdered in his apartment at 325 Marlborough St., Back Bay on June 23. Although Mr. Giunta was living in the Back Bay at the time of his death he was born and raised in Cambridge.

Most recently, Mr. Giunta had been a part-time lecturer at the Forsyth School of Dental Hygiene and was a dental hygienist at the Martha Eliot Health Center. He was also a part-time salesman for the Edward Harvey Luggage Company while trying to raise money to refurbish the organ in the Church of the New Jerusalem. Mr. Giunta was also studying as a Divinity student at the Swedborg School of Religion in Newton.

Mr. Giunta had received an Associate of Science Degree from Boston University in 1958 and had graduated from the Forsyth School of Dental Hygiene in 1977. He then went on to receive a degree in health sciences from Northeastern University. A long-time resident of Cambridge, Mr. Giunta had been active in the Cambridge Redevelopment Association, helping to relocate Cambridge families.

John Dieselman, 80, died after a short illness in the Santa Maria Hospital on June 22. The life-long Cambridge resident was a former purchasing agent for Cambridge as well as treasurer of the Yankee Chapter of the American Defense Preparedness Association. He was also a life-member of the Cambridge Lodge of the Elks No. 839 and was the treasurer of the Sea Shore Improvement Association of Scituate.

He is survived by his wife, Frances E. (Bogus), his children Louise, Anthony and Michael, of Cambridge, and Joseph of Somerville. He was the son of St. Peter's Church followed a funeral from the Keefe Funeral Home. He was buried in Saint Michael's Cemetery.

Joseph L. Sullivan, 65, died after a long illness in Veterans Hospital on June 26. The retired bookkeeper had been born and raised in Cambridge but was living in Hyde Park at the time of his death.

Helene Thorpe, 70, died unexpectedly on June 27 in the South Shore Hospital, Weymouth. The life-long Cambridge resident was World War Army veteran and a foreman at the National Biscuit Company.

He is survived by his wife, Frances (Bogus), and his children Louise, Anthony and Michael, of Cambridge, and Joseph of Somerville. He was the son of St. Peter's Church followed a funeral from the Keefe Funeral Home. He was buried in Saint Michael's Cemetery.

Stanley R. Skerry died in Youville Hospital on June 23. He was the husband of Dorothy (Barleigh), and the father of Richard Skerry of Avon, Thelma McCormack of Cambridge and Stanley R. Skerry of Ashland. He was also the brother of Frederick Skerry of Springfield, Clifford Skerry of Reno, Nevada, Lois Clarke of Gloucester, Edna Clarke of Winchester, the late Robert Skerry, and the late Helen Smith. He is also survived by 14 grandchildren.

A funeral service was held at the Chinese Bible Church of Greater Boston. Arrangements were made by the Doane, Beal and Ames Funeral Home.
