By George Donnelly
Staff writer

"If you're going to an Italian place, you'd better take me along," she teased. "You can't be entirely trusted."

Intimidated by that snipe at my ethnic background, I gave in and even recruited another Italian connoisseur to lend more authenticity to my findings at Bertucci's, the original Somerville pizza place with restaurants in Cambridge, Brookline and other suburban locations.

One obvious discovery about Bertucci's is you don't need to be anything but remotely hungry to appreciate what they create—the most unusual and possibly best pizza in the area. Its themes are freshness, quality and Italian, in every combination you can imagine.

It helps, though, to have some experts along to articulate the flavors and to point out the exceptional and not so wonderful. It also helps to have the Italian women along to make fun of the nouveau boce players using the downstairs pit like a bowling alley.

I had no recollections of olives to share except for the green ones in my father's martinis, but it wasn't long before our pies arrived. The Rustica ($5.50 for a small; $9.95 for a large) was topped with roasted peppers, pepperoni, fresh tomato slices and the multi-purpose black olives, and proved to be an excellent combination. Praises for the roasted peppers were sung: "Mmmm, that pepper is really good. They really make the difference."

About the Florentine ($5.50 and $10.50) — sliced tomatoes, imported prosciutto, mozzarella and oregano — it was said, "You won't find this in any other pizza place in Boston."

"Yes, they're not afraid to use the oregano."
We tried the Romano, too, ($4.95 and $8.95) which was billed a "vegetable" pizza with white mushrooms, sautéed onions, green peppers and mozzarella. The mushrooms were fresh and the dough, it was remarked, was "nice and light."

These were just a few of the combinations Bertucci's offers. You can get pizza with eggplant (the "Melanzana"), broccoli florets (the "Primavera"), sweet Italian sausages (the "Pannino" and the "Sporkie") and even a pizza that in four segments, the "Quattro Stagioni," which is divided by sections of artichoke hearts, mushrooms, prosciutto and sweet peppers. There is also thick pizza, including the triple cheese covered "Focaccia Bertucci."

I was told to say that if you follow your tastes you can't go wrong. After a long fight, the Somerville Bertucci's won a battle for a beer and wine license. They offer beer by the glass or pitcher and wine by the glass or carafe. There were no drinks slobbering on the floors of the restaurant as those opposed to the license seemed to fear.

Unfortunately, the Somerville Bertucci's is too small to offer the menu it has in its other locations, where you can get pasta.

My friends, however, were not to be denied their espresso and cappuccino, so it was off to the much more spacious Cambridge location where those specialties are offered. It was generally agreed that both coffees were strong and not worth making the trip. A man in a ponytail was playing boce when we got there. And our waitress tried her best to pretend we weren't there.

"But at least I was told the truth: 'Do you know St. Patrick was Italian?'"

AMINA CLAUDINE MYERS, a keyboard player and vocalist for Whos' Improvising has a vibrant gospel flavor even at its most experimental, returns to Cambridge this weekend at Charlie's Tap, 280 Green St. Call 492-9723.

Radcliffe hosts 350th exhibition

Radcliffe College was awarded $7,600 from the AT&T Foundation in support of the "Women of Courage" exhibition, which will be on view at Radcliffe in September. The exhibition, currently on national tour, will be a part of Radcliffe's events in honor of Harvard University's 350th anniversary celebration.

The AT&T Foundation is funding the costs of shipping and mounting the exhibition, which will be located in Agassiz House in the Radcliffe Yard. The exhibition will be open during the 350th celebration, Sept. 3-6, from 8 am to 11 pm, and at other times, Sept. 7 through 26, from 9 am to 5 pm. AT&T is also providing financial support for the Radcliffe College symposium on Women and the Oral Tradition and the reception for the "Women of Courage" exhibition, both scheduled for Sept. 5.

"Women of Courage" is a collection of 55 photographs by Judith Sedwick of 55 women who were interviewed for the Black Women Oral History Project, begun in 1976 by Radcliffe College's Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America. The interviewees represent a cross section of the women of African descent who made significant contributions to American society in the middle decades of the 20th century. Included in the exhibition are photographs of such well known women as Rosa Parks, whose refusal to give up her bus seat in 1955 dealt the fatal blow to segregation in public transportation; Ellen Jackson, organizer of Operation Exodus in the Boston Public Schools; Muriel Snowden, cofounder of Freedom House; Harlem Renaissance novelist Dorothy West; painter Lois Jones; and early childhood educator Lucy Miller Mitchell. Judith Sedwick began to photograph the project participants in 1981. Her color portraits, taken in the home or professional environment of the subjects, illuminate the varied qualities of these remarkable women: courage, serenity, compassion, dignity, humor, and sophistication.

The exhibition, after leaving Cambridge, will be shown in Los Angeles from October through December; Baltimore, March through April; Nashville, October; and Memphis, November through December. While at Radcliffe, the exhibition will be open to the public. Tickets are required for the Women and Oral Tradition symposium on Sept. 5. For more information about "Women of Courage" exhibition or other Radcliffe College events during Harvard's 350th celebration, call (617) 495-8688.

The Committee on Ordinances conducted a public hearing on Wednesday, August 20, 1986, beginning at 5 PM in the Sullivan Chambers, City Hall. The purpose of the hearing was to review and consider a proposed amendment to the General Ordinance relative to the expansion of the Consumer Advisory Commission.

This hearing began at 8:05 PM and Councillor William Walsh, Chairman of the Committee requested those interested individuals to come forward.

At this time Mr. Paul Schlaver, Executive Director of the Consumer Advisory Commission, appeared before the Committee and briefly outlined the activities of the Commission and stated that due to age and/or poor health of one or more members, the Commission some times lacks a quorum. He further stated that the Commission receives approximately 40 inquiries per month and they have some 50 open cases at this time. Mr. Schlaver further stated that the proposed expansion would enhance the ability of the Commission to deal effectively with consumer issues.

Councillor Walsh stated he was uncertain as to the need to expand the Commission and stated that if vacancies exist they should be filled in a timely manner. Mr. Schlaver responded by stating the expansion would provide a better liaison with departments with whom he deals on a regular basis, i.e., the License Commission, and by this proposal its Chairman would serve as an ex-officio member.

At this time Mr. James McDavitt, Chairman of the License Commission, spoke in favor of the proposed amendment.

No one appeared in opposition to the amendment.

Vice Mayor Alfred Vellucci moved that the proposed amendment be referred to the full City Council without recommendation. The motion prevailed.

The hearing was adjourned at 8:13 PM.

For the Committee,

Councillor William H. Walsh
Chairman

CAMBRIDGE CONSUMERS' COUNCIL

57 Inman Street

City of Cambridge

May 28, 1986

Mr. Robert W. Healy
City Manager
Cambridge City Hall
Cambridge, MA 02139

Dear Mr. Healy:

I am submitting to you a proposed change to the Ordinance governing the Consumers' Council. At the last meeting of the Consumer Advisory Commission on May 7th, this matter was discussed and the vote taken was to ask you to recommend this change in the membership of the Advisory Board to the Ordinance Committee of the City Council.

The rationale for this change includes a need to have a Board of sufficient size to insure a quorum at meetings. This Board has often had a problem in this regard (due to the health of some of its members, not their lack of interest!) Secondly, it is hoped that the expanded Board will offer the Consumers' Council a broader base of resources to draw from in its work. The Council is currently working on a proposal and plan to target consumer education and problem intervention services for the elderly citizens of Cambridge. Some anticipated involvement with the Community Access phase of Cable TV in Cambridge is also on the drawing boards. I would look forward to the active participation and expertise of some of the Advisory Board members with these upcoming programs.

If the Ordinance change meets your approval, I would welcome the process starting as soon as possible, so recommendations for the vacancies can be sent your way soon. Also, aside from the License Commission Chair, one other recommendation could be made at this time. The public request for volunteers to complete the board seats could then be made in September, and then full 2 year terms could begin in October. If you have questions or feel this should be handled in a different manner, please give me a call.

I am also pleased to inform you that the month of May has brought in as many cases to this office as any month in the last 2½ years. This trend should continue as more outreach is done. Fortunately, most of the backlog of cases that had built up from last December until April of this year has been dealt with now so people's complaints are being addressed in a timely manner.

Sincerely,

Paul J. Schlaver
Executive Director
