WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the Cambridge City Council that a surprise birthday party is being held in honor of the 40th Birthday of David Dubois; and

WHEREAS: David "Dube" Dubois is a true son of Cambridge; and

WHEREAS: David attended the Peabody Elementary School in Cambridge where he developed his networking skills, his unique sarcasm and his patented John Belushi "Animal House" imitations; and

WHEREAS: As David became the young Mayor of Harvard Square he perfected his street smarts taking his first job in the restaurant industry as a marketing consultant (handing out leaflets for $3.00 per hour and free meals) at 33 Dunster Street; and

WHEREAS: Dube always had a knack for being around pretty women, he became the favorite of the boss at 33 Dunster (an Italian knockout from East Boston) and consequently got all his "boys" jobs; and

WHEREAS: Dube became well known throughout the city for his great personality and his never-ending "hook ups" including using vacant apartments in his Dad Harold's building for late night parties (this is 6th and 7th grade remember); and

WHEREAS: David went on to the Cambridge Rindge and Latin School where he became an excellent wrestler and a uniquely popular student in one of the most diverse city high schools in the country; and

WHEREAS: David's academic career in high school hit its plateau when he received a 64 in English from Mr. Burns (seriously, I saw his transcript and this is as good as it gets); and

WHEREAS: David demonstrated an early ability to manipulate the facts when he was able to convince the Guidance Department to give him gym class credit for going on two ski trips with the "Wilderness Club"; and

- WHEREAS: David's legendary restaurant history with Maureen McLaughlin is well-known to all; and
- WHEREAS: This history ranges from leaflets to busboy to shucking oysters to the South End from 33 Dunster, to Durgin Park to Savoir Fair to the Franklin, his story is one of setbacks and comebacks and struggles and successes; and
- WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge takes special pride in David Dubois in that he will always be known as a true son of Cambridge; now therefore be it
- RESOLVED: That this day, Sunday, January 14, 2007 be proclaimed "David Dubois" day in honor of his 40th birthday and that all Cambridge residents join with his family, friends and co-workers in celebrating this special occasion; and be it further
- RESOLVED: That the City Clerk be and hereby is requested to prepare a suitably engrossed copy of this resolution for presentation to David Dubois on behalf of the entire City Council.

In City Council January 8, 2007.

Adopted by the affirmative vote of nine members.

Attest:- D. Margaret Drury, City Clerk.

A true copy;
