We make ceramic pendants, pots, and Knick-Knats which we need a retail outlet for and can only sell by peddling. Familiar with the problems evolving around this in Harvard Sq. we were advised to enlist the cooperation of the merchants in that area and of the councilmen of the city.

Mr. Holland the manager of Discount Records at number eighteen Boylston Street, Harvard Square, has given us a letter of permission for use of the sidewalk under his awning, a space one foot by four feet to sell my ceramic jewelry and products Thursday, Friday, and Saturday afternoons.

I request a permit from the city of Cambridge to try the selling here on weekends as soon as possible. If it works out well to the satisfaction of all I would like to request permission to sell this way throughout the summer. If for some reason it does not work out in some way I would like to discuss other locations for street selling in this area.

Sincerely,
Dominic Palina
