CAMBRIDGE PUBLIC LIBRARY

26 March 1979

To : The Staff of the Observatory Hill Branch &
Members of the Hill Community
From : Joseph G. Sakey, Library Director
Subject: Demolition of the Observatory Hill Branch Library

It is with regret that the Cambridge Public Library announces that the building inspector of the City of Cambridge has condemned the Observatory Hill Branch as "dangerous and unsafe." The building is beyond repair and will be demolished soon.

For more than thirty-two years, the Observatory Hill Branch has been a vital force in the life of the Hill Community. The educational accomplishments and benefits of this branch have been large. The lives of many citizens, young and old alike, have been touched and influenced by the variety and richness of its book collection. It is, in fact, the most heavily used branch in the library system.

The demolition of this branch is a sad and unhappy affair.

The Board of Library Trustees and the library administration is dedicated and unstinting in their resolve to replace this branch; however, the decision will finally rest with the City Manager and the Cambridge City Council.

I strongly support having a branch of the Cambridge Public library in the Observator Hill area. It is next to the
