RESTAURANT Marché MOVENPICK

Thirty thousand square feet of culinary experience await you at our bustling, colorful, Mediterranean market restaurant. The freshest of ingredients are prepared before your eyes and to your tastes as you make your selections from a host of market stations – rotisserie and grilled meats and poultry, seafood, pasta, pizza, oriental, salad bar, desserts and more.

A variety of beautiful, themed seating areas contribute as much to the southern European ambience as the wonderful aromas from non-stop cooking and baking.

It's a unique experience and simply the most fun food has ever been!

Consider also our warm and woody Caveau Wine Bistro & Bar, directly below Marché, featuring French bistro classics and international fare plus live jazz in the evening.

BOSTON HOTEL BUCKMINSTER

HOTEL & SUITES

welcome

The Buckminster was one of the first hotels in Boston, located at the triangular intersection of Beacon Street and Brookline Avenue. Built in 1897, it had 200 rooms and was designed by the renowned architect Stanford White, who also worked on the design of the Boston Public Library as well as many of the elegant Back Bay townhouses on Beacon Street. The Buckminster featured apartment suites in addition to regular hotel accommodations. The Buckminster was also the site of the first network radio broadcast. WNAC Radio moved into new studios in The Buckminster July, 1929. Later that year, using a 100-foot antenna strapped to the buildings roof with clothesline, WNAC arranged the first network broadcast in the history of radio with station WEA in New York City.

The Buckminster combines modern amenities with Boston's historic charm. The hotel offers a warm, welcoming atmosphere that emphasizes friendly and hospitable service. The hotel is situated in the main business and shopping district, just minutes from Boston's historic sites, family attractions, and active night life making it an ideal resting spot for business and leisure travelers.

CAMBRIDGE: BOSTON'S "LEFT BANK"

Just across the Charles River or a 5-minute subway ride from Boston, Cambridge is the birthplace of higher education in America. Harvard College, founded here in 1636, is the alma mater of six U.S. Presidents and scores of leaders in virtually every profession. Across town 360 years later, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) is the epicenter of the emerging global cyberculture. Any visit to Cambridge should include a guided walking tour through the campus at both Harvard University (495-1573) and MIT (253-4795).

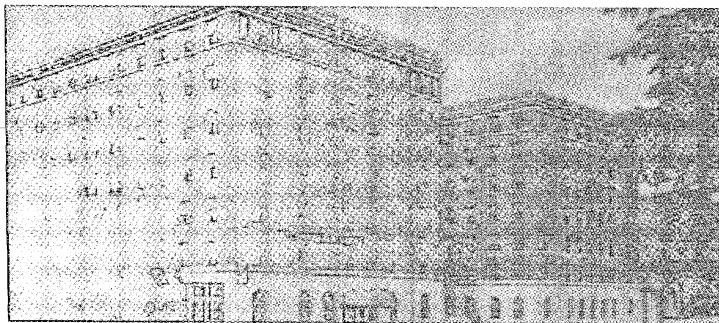

Harvard Square is a hub that is lively until well after midnight almost any day of the week. Discover small boutiques that offer everything from haute couture to the latest street fashions. Visitors can eat at over 100 restaurants; browse in one of the many interesting bookstores (24 at last count!); or watch the colorful street performers.

For those interested in history, visit the Longfellow House National Historic Site (876-4491) which was once home to the famous 19th-century American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and also served as George Washington's headquarters during the Siege of Boston.

Harvard's three art collections — the Fogg Art Museum (495-9400) (European and American classics); the Sackler Museum (Oriental, Ancient and Islamic); and the Busch-Reisinger Museum (northern and central Europe) — house more than 150,000 works of art including some of the finest collections of their kind in the world. The Harvard Museum of Natural and Cultural History (495-3045) showcases Harvard's most popular exhibit, "The Glass Flowers" which includes 3,000 blown glass models made from 1887 to 1936.

11 NORTH SQUARE
AROUND CORNER

of Boston's

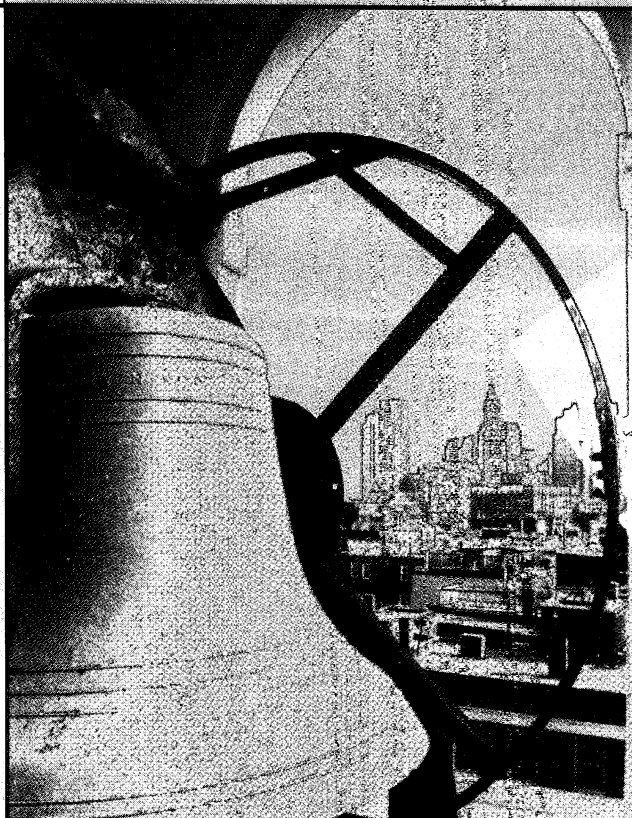

NORTH END

The UnOfficial, UnAuthorized and UnConventional tour of Boston's historic North End reveals many untold secrets that tour guides and the National Park Service have overlooked.

Once the birthplace of Boston Brahmins, the North End became a ghetto for the dispossessed as successive waves of immigrants — Irish, Portugese, European Jews, and Italians — washed ashore over the past 200 years. Each left their mark on life, commerce, customs and institutions.

The North End guards well its secrets: hidden tunnels through which contraband was smuggled ashore; the missing $1.2 million in loot from the Brinks job that might still be around; and the miraculous mystery of the "Blinking Madonna". On our 2-hour guided walking tour, you will:

- Explore the North End's hidden courtyards and passageways
- Stroll the oldest public square in America
- See the narrowest residential house in Boston (9½ feet wide)
- Discover the city's oldest sign dating from 1694
- See where the wake for Sacco and Vanzetti was held
- Walk the street where boxing champ Tony DeMarco grew up
- Learn how the infamous Ponzi scheme was first hatched
- Visit the cemetery where 1,000 free slaves lay buried
- Re-live the Great Molasses Flood of 1919
- Learn of the "Saturday Evening Girls" and Revere Pottery
- View the birthplace of Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy
- Enjoy a FREE cannoli from the North End's best pastry shop!

FOR FURTHER INFO...

Please call North End Secret Tours at 617.720.2283 or email us at folks@northendboston.com for additional information, tickets or reservations. Visit us online at www.NorthEndBoston.com.

Or call Discover Boston Trolley Tours at either 617.742.1440 or 617.742.1469. And you can also visit their web site at www.DiscoverBostonTours.com.

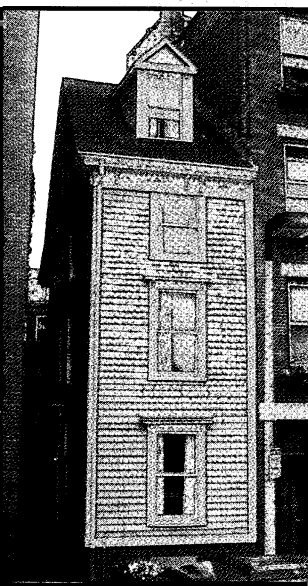

The SECRET Tour...

Begins at Old North Square (across from the Paul Revere House) and ends at Ye Olde Union Oyster House where the toothpick was first introduced and where Daniel Webster was a perennial patron at its world-famous oyster bar.

Is conducted on Fridays and Saturdays 10 a.m., 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and by appointment.

Advanced reservations are required.

Costs $25 per person.
