City of Cambridge.

In Common Council, Oct. 26 1878

The Committee on Ordinances which was instructed to consider and report upon the expediency of passing an Ordinance regulating the management of Steam-boilers, Repatz,

That the statutes of the Commonwealth place the matter of the erection and maintenance of Steam-boilers within the supervision and control of boards of mayor and Aldermen in cities where located, Your Committee believes that ^a more careful supervision of Steamboilers should be made, than has heretofore been exercised in this city, and to that end, recommend the adoption of the following order by the Board of Aldermen.

For the Committee,

James A. Fox
