Three Are Honored With Harvard Medal

The Harvard Alumni Association has chosen three alumni to receive the 2000 Harvard Medal: Charlotte P. Armstrong '49, L.L.B. '53; John G. Caulfield '50; and Louis I. Kane '53. First given in 1981, the Harvard Medal recognizes extraordinary service to the University. President Neil L. Rudenstine will present the Medals on Commencement afternoon, June 8, at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association.

Charlotte P. Armstrong, a familiar presence on the campus, has an outstanding record of service to Harvard. A graduate of Radcliffe and of the first Harvard Law School class to admit women, she always displays sound judgment officiated at every big stadium event, efficiently directing the ticket takers and parking attendants. His warmth and good humor made him a beloved fixture in his office near the entrance of Dillon Field House for fifty years. "He knows 'Ten Thousand Men of Harvard' and then some" says Fran Toland, senior associate director of Athletics. "He's been a long-time friend and ambassador for us."

A teacher and principal of a local elementary school, Caulfield grew up in Cambridge and attended Harvard on a Buckley Scholarship, created for deserving Cambridge public school students. A Romance languages concentrator, he played baseball, was team captain his senior year, and

A Special Note Regarding Commencement Exercises

Morning Exercises

To accommodate the increasing number of those wishing to attend Harvard's Commencement Exercises, the following guidelines are proposed to facilitate admission into Tercentenary Theatre on Commencement Morning:

- Degree candidates will receive a limited number of tickets to Commencement. Parents and guests of degree candidates must have tickets, which they will be required to show at the gates in order to enter Tercentenary Theatre. Seating capacity is limited; however, there is standing room on the Widener steps and at the rear and sides of the theater for viewing the exercises. Note: A ticket allows admission into the theater, but does not guarantee a seat.

- Alumni/ae attending their major reunions (25th, 35th, 50th) will receive tickets at their reunions. Alumni/ae in classes beyond the 50th may obtain tickets from the Classes and Reunions Office, Wadsworth House.

- Alumni/ae from nonmajor reunion years and their spouses are requested to view the Morning Exercises over large-screen television situated in the Science Center, Sanders Theatre, most of the undergraduate Houses and professional schools. These locations provide ample seating, and tickets are not required.

A very limited supply of tickets will be made available to all other alumni/ae on a first-come, first-served basis through the Harvard Alumni Association, Wadsworth House.
