WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the Cambridge City Council, in the City's 150th year of incorporation, that Francis Xavier Clifford, on April 22, 1996, will celebrate his Eleventh Birthday; and

WHEREAS: Francis Xavier Clifford affectionately known as "Frank", is a very special young man who has distinguished himself academically, in music and in sports; and

WHEREAS: Academically, Frank is and always has been a conscientious student who endeavors to be a thoughtful and creative learner. He has come to understand that he must apply himself and work hard at his studies if he is to successfully achieve his academic goals; and

WHEREAS: Frank has studied piano for nearly 5 years. He has grown as a serious piano student and as he applies himself (and if he practices), he may well master the technique of the pianoforte. He may in fact provide many hours of amusement to himself and joy to others, as, a proficient pianist; and

WHEREAS: Frank who had eschewed Little League Baseball, has chosen to compete in the Pop Warner Football Program. His teammates and he are winners as they attempt to learn good sportsmanship and winning strategy; and

WHEREAS: Francis Xavier Clifford has made his parents, Patricia Glynn and John Clifford extremely proud, because he is a son who is a good person, a gentleman who is thoughtful, caring and kind. He is for them and his family a source of great pride; and

WHEREAS: Frank's sister, Vanessa Africa Clifford, casts often an admiring eye on her big brother. Together they have shown how a sister and brother can enjoy each others uniqueness in a non-competitive way. It really is a joy to be with them both; and

WHEREAS: Frank's Godfather, Councillor Ken Reeves finds much about Frank to brag about. He thinks that Frank can be a doctor, if that's what he chooses and that he can make an important contribution to the world of medical science and research. He believes in Frank's abilities in all endeavors and believes that Frank will succeed at anything he chooses -- if he works hard to achieve his goals; and

WHEREAS: As a son of Cambridge, this order of the Cambridge City Council recognizes Frank as a growing Cantabrigian in whom we have invested our belief that if we provide him with a good healthy environment in which to grow up, he indeed will become an adult capable of leading and helping to make a better world.
