The Neighborhood and Long Term Planning Committee held a public meeting on September 3, 2003, beginning at 11:10 a.m. in the Ackermann Room, Cambridge City Hall, second floor. The purpose of the meeting was to continue discussion on what planning strategies will best enable the Cambridge community to benefit from Cambridge's knowledge-based economy and, specifically, on strategies for follow-up the to the June forum at the Hotel at MIT featuring Professor Juan Enriquez.

Present at the meeting were Councillor Kenneth E. Reeves, Chair of the Committee, City Clerk D. Margaret Drury, Beth Rubenstein, Assistant City Manager for Community Development, Estella Johnson, Director of Economic Development, Community Development Department (CDD), Paul Parravano, Co-Director of the Office of Government and Community Affairs, MIT, Steve Marsh, Managing Director of Real Estate, MIT, Mary Power, Senior Director of Community Relations for Harvard University, Tom Lucey, Office of Government and Community Affairs, Harvard University, and Kelly Thompson Clark, Interim President, Cambridge Chamber of Commerce.

The group agreed to plan an event featuring Professor Juan Enriquez at Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School (CRLS), aimed at high school students, teachers, parents, other youth and adults who work with youth, as the next step in the committee's effort to increase public awareness of the opportunities and challenges of the ongoing and fast-moving changes in the knowledge-based economy and culture of Cambridge. It was agreed that the event should take place during mid- to late-August, and that students and teachers would be the main focus of the invitation.

The group also agreed that Chip Greenidge should be invited to provide an introduction and set the context in a way that would interest high school students. It was further agreed that Ms. Drury would check on the availability of the CRLS auditorium and Ms. Power would check on the availability of Professor Enriquez. There was also discussion
