and scored martial arts fantasy stars Chow Yun Fat and Michelle Yeoh.

Yes, people can fly. People can also run ... for their lives, if they're named Lennon, McCartney, Harrison or Starr. "A Hard Day's Night" gets the restored re-issue treatment, still wonderful to watch (in glorious black & white) and hear (the instrumental version of "This Boy").

Mid-December begins with the next installment of Disney animation, this time set in a South American rain forest. "The Emperor's New Groove" has a prince (David Spade) being cursed and turning into a llama, then being befriended by a llama farmer (John Goodman) before what's got to be a happy ending. With music by Sting. Nicolas Cage is a fellow who wakes up one morning to discover he has a wife (Tea Leoni) and some kids in "Family Man." The odd thing is that when he went to sleep he was living the single life. Brett Ratner ("Rush Hour") directs the comedy. In another comedy, Mel Gibson wakes up one day to find that he can read women's minds. An interesting ability for a character that's so chauvinistic, in "What Women Want." Some of the women involved are Helen Hunt, Lauren Holly, and Marisa Tomei.

The latter parts of the month bring us "Thirteen Days," a dramatic background look at the Cuban Missile Crisis and the Kennedys that were involved — President John (Bruce Greenwood) and Attorney General Bobby (Steven Culp). Kevin Costner plays a presidential aide. There's no doubt that the folks who made "Cast Away" are hoping the American public is still high on "Survivor" fever. Tom Hanks makes it through a plane crash but ends up alone on an island. It's the newest film from director Robert Zemeckis, who this time goes for character development over effects.

A couple of happy barbers doff their lids in "An Everlasting Piece."

Tough, strait-laced, by-the-book FBI Agent Sandra Bullock must, very much against her will, go undercover in the Miss United States pageant to thwart a terrorist plot in "Miss Congeniality." William Shatner is one of many costars.

The Dracula legend gets another outing in "Wes Craven Presents: Dracula 2000." The story is a contemporary one, set in America, starring Gerard Butler as the Count and Christopher Plummer as Dr. Van Helsing. Note: Craven is executive producing; editor Patrick Lussier is directing.

Katie Holmes goes missing, and psychic Cate Blanchett tries to find her in Sam Raimi's new thriller "The Gift." Keanu Reeves gets to play another bad guy; Hillary Swank costars; Billy Bob Thornton co-writes. The Coen Brothers give the nod to both Homer's "Odyssey" and Preston Sturges' "Sullivan's Travels" in their new comedy-musical "Oh Brother, Where Art Thou?," the story of three escapees from a southern chain gang in the 1930s. George Clooney, John Turturro, and Tim Blake Nelson star. David Mamet writes and directs a poke at the movie industry when a cast and crew set up shop in a little Vermont town and bring Hollywood-style turmoil with them in "State and Maine." The eclectic cast features William H. Macy, Alec Baldwin, Sarah Jessica Parker, Philip Seymour Hoffman, and Ricky Jay.

The year wraps up with — believe it or not — only two films opening on Christmas Day. First is the Billy Bob Thornton-directed "All the Pretty Horses," based on the Cormac McCarthy novel about a cowboy (Matt Damon) who crosses the Mexican border in the 1930s, and falls in love with a landowner's daughter (Penelope Cruz). And then there's Barry Levinson's Irish comedy "An Everlasting Piece," about a couple of Belfast barbers — each on different sides of the religion wars — who get together to sell wigs.

Back to Stanley Kubrick. The year ends with a big bang of music from Richard Strauss, an effects-filled blast through the cosmos, and a few gorillas in the perfectly timed re-release of "2001: A Space Odyssey." The film will be completely restored, but don't look for any new footage. And even though there aren't many overwhelming Cinerama screens left, this is sure to show up on the biggest screens of your local multiplex.

Meg Ryan and Russell Crowe are on the run from danger in "Proof of Life."

SQUIRREL APTS. NOTICE
LEGAL NOTICE
NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST THE RELEASE OF FUNDS (NOIRROF)
Department of Housing & Community Development - November 29, 2000
Commonwealth of Massachusetts
One Congress Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02114
(617) 727-7824

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

On or about December 7, 2000 the Department of Housing & Community Development will request the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to release HOME funds under Title II of the HOME Investment Partnership Act (PL 101-625) of 1980, as amended, for the following project:

HOME Recipient: Squirrel Limited Partnership
Project Name: Squirrel Brand Apartments, HOME Investments Partnership Program
Project Description: Acquisition and rehabilitation to create (20) units of rental housing of which (20) will be affordable, including (11) HOME-assisted units
Project Location: 10-12 and 17 Boardman Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts

It has been determined that such a request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for the decision not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement are that the project is not of sufficient size, scale, or mass and does not exceed the threshold criteria established for the preparation of a statement, nor will the project have a significant impact on the human environment under NEPA.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the characteristics within the project has been made by the City of Cambridge, Community Development Department, and reviewed and approved by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Record documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at the Office of Private Housing, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday except holidays.

All interested agencies, groups,and persons disagreeing with the decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to the Department of Housing & Community Development at the above address on or before December 7, 2000. All such comments so received will be considered and the Commonwealth will not request the release of HOME funds or take any administrative action on the project prior to December 7, 2000.

Squirrel Limited Partnership, the HOME recipient, will undertake the project described above with HOME funds from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under Title II of the HOME Investments Partnership Act of 1990, as amended. The Department of Housing & Community Development certifies to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that Catherine Racer, as Certifying Officer, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon approval, Squirrel Limited Partnership, the HOME recipient, may use the HOME funds, and the State will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and other provisions of the law.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is one of the following basis:

a) The certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer, or other HUD approved designee.
b) The environmental review for the notice for the request for release of funds omitted a required decision, finding, or step applicable to the project in the Environmental Assessment.
c) No opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed in the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 Code of Federal Regulations Part 800.
d) Other steps or requirements, as specified in the HUD regulation at 24 CFR Par 58.75, have been omitted.
e) Another Federal agency has submitted written comments pursuant to Section 309 of the Clean Air Act or Section 102(d) of NEPA.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to:

Department of Housing &
Community Development
One Congress Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02114

Objections to the release of funds on basis other than those stated above will not be considered by DHCD. No objection received after 7 days from the date of request for release of funds listed above will be considered by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Two hours, including intermission. And in a nice nod to the fact that this is a family event, evening performances start at 7:30 p.m.

How old should a child be to see the show?

Five and up. But be considerate of the people who shelled out good money to sit next to you. If your child will be restless or talky during the show, wait a year or two to bring them — this show isn't going anywhere.

Any tips for the little ones?

Yes, bring a booster seat (or a couple of blankets to sit on). The Wang has some booster seats, but they run out fast in a show like this.

If I get there early, what can I do?

First, congratulate yourself for your organizational gifts. Then, spend the time feeling superior to the people who are white-knuckling it at that very moment on the Mass Pike. But there are also some other things you can do to pass the time. The Ballet has spruced up the lobby for this year's event — and on certain nights patrons will be serenaded by a brass trio from the New England Conservatory or caroling kids. For more info on those special events, call (617) 456-6230.

How, in the name of Tchaikovsky, is Act I of "The Nutcracker" related to Act II?

Good question. No one's really figured that one out. But Pelzig is giving it the old college try. He says that in reworking "Nutcracker" this year, he's brought a little "Theater 101 to the ballet stage," and he's tried to create more of a dramatic throughline in the show. In order to do that, he's asking director-type questions like, "Who are these people?" Of course, questions like that only get you so far when the answers are, "It's a giant dancing mouse with a gun." He's also streamlined the production.

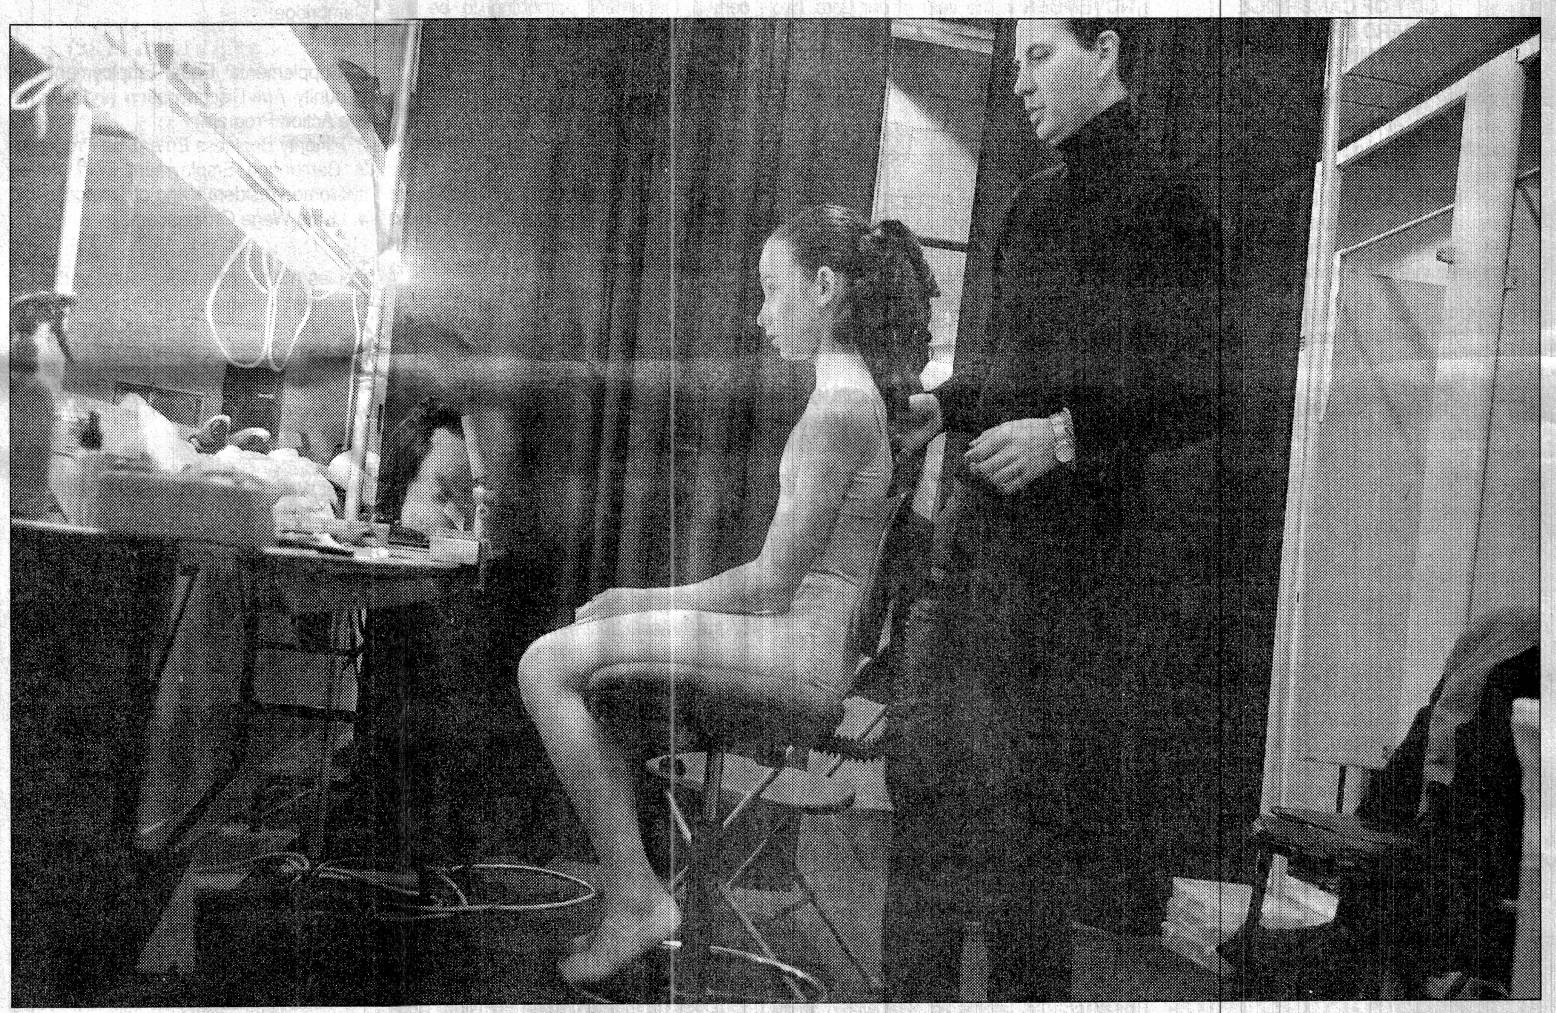

"I've tried to make acts flow better, eliminated unnecessary set changes, and made the storytelling clearer," he says.

Halfway through last year's "Nutcracker," I figured out the ballet is actually a well-disguised piece of conservative propaganda. Clara comes to realize that a Bohemian way of life filled with dance and art can never be more than a sweet dream, and that she must return to the "real world," where business and commerce have created the life of wealth and privilege into which she has obviously been born. Right?

Wrong.

"There are version of 'The Nutcracker' that get very dark and psychological," says Pelzig. "This isn't one of them."

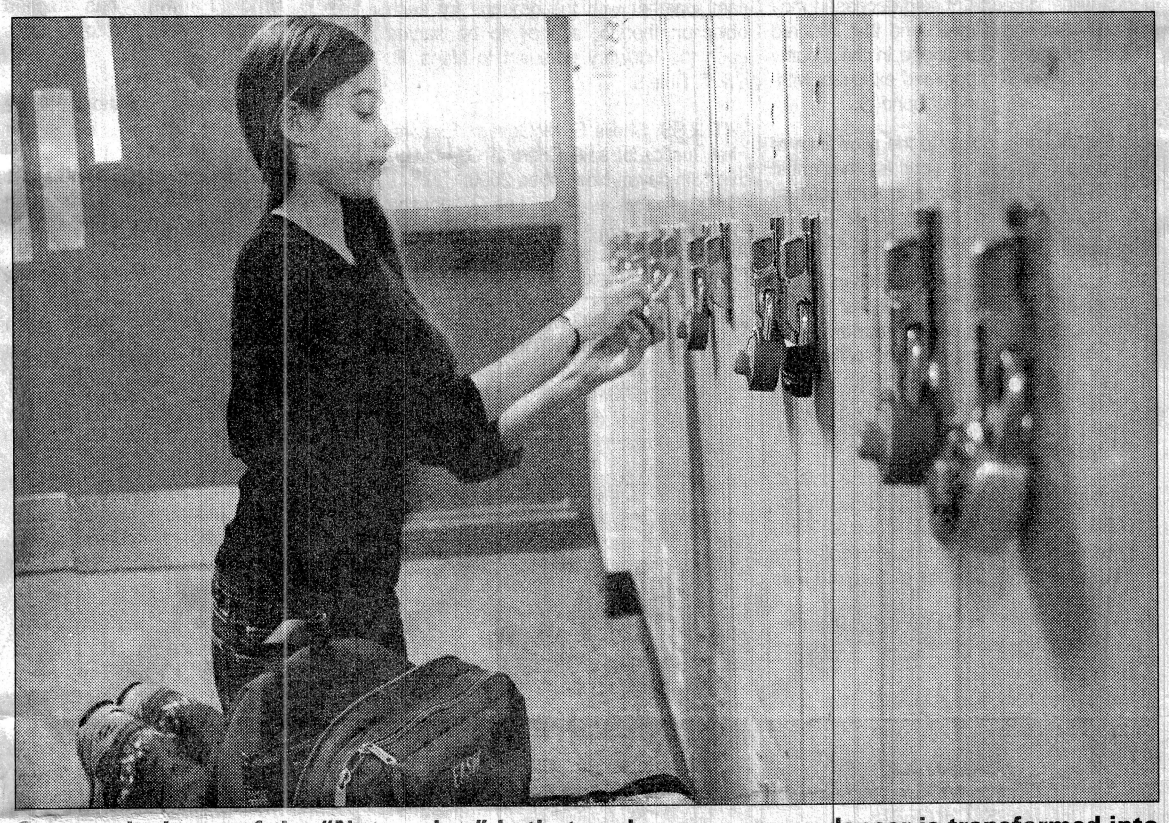

"The Nutcracker" plays through Dec. 31 at the Wang Theatre, in Boston. Tickets are $12-$62. Call (800) 447-7400.

That involves a close scrutiny by the pros. Here, for example, make-up artist Jason Allen works to change the Bigelow Middle School student into a dancer.

You can't have a production of 'Nutcracker' without a host of young dancers.

One magical part of the "Nutcracker" is that each year, a young dancer is transformed into a star, as Clara. This year, Elizabeth Schultz-McGuire of Newton was tapped.

Ready to be 'Committed'

Mark Setlock bring off-Broadway hit to Wilbur Theatre

BY ALEXANDER STEVENS
CNC ARTS WRITER

It's the kind of success every actor craves — a chance to be the star in a one-man show off-Broadway, snagging flattering reviews from the New York Times, the New York Post, The Wall Street Journal, and The New Yorker, and taking the show on a brief tour that allows him to showcase his talents to the TV people in Los Angeles.

Mark Setlock, star of the one-man show "Fully Committed," must be flying high.

Not quite.

"I'm pretty worn down," he says. "It's the most exhausting thing I've ever done. It's just me by myself onstage. That's a lot to hold up every night. So I'm ready not to do it anymore. You never say never, but I don't think I'm going to be doing it again."

As soon as the words are out of his mouth, it all makes sense. When Setlock brings "Fully Committed" to the Wilbur Theatre in Boston on Nov. 30, he'll have performed the role more than 500 times. Even more draining, Setlock delivers the entire 90-page script by himself, conjuring up 40 characters to help him tell the story every night. Setlock, a graduate of the Institute for Advanced Theatre Training at Harvard, says performing the show feels far more technical than creative.

"I think of it as a very long math problem, where I'm always thinking of the next part, or next little bit," he explains. "It's not a great deal of fun. It's a lot of work for me, but it's fun for the audience. And there are moments that are enjoyable for me, or I wouldn't do it. But it's not the most fun I've ever had. It's a chore."

But it's also not the worst job he's ever had. The worst one, in fact, helped mold this hit play, when he spent two years as a reservations manager for a trendy New York restaurant. The city's rich and powerful vied via the phone for the coveted 8 p.m. reservations every night, and Setlock, crammed in a little room with a perpetually ringing telephone, held their fate in his hands.

That's the spine of "Fully Committed," written by Becky Mode, whom Setlock met and became friends with at the Harvard acting program. Their shared experiences, as young people working at restaurants in order to support their acting habits, became "Fully Committed."
