Harrington School to Welcome Students from Azores

The Harrington School students, teachers and administrators are preparing for a very important event: on March 24th, 12 students and five teachers from the Azores will begin their week-long visit to the East Cambridge school. According to school Principal, Dr. Jose Figueiredo, "The group will be very busy while they are in Cambridge. Mayor Anthony Galluccio and Vice Mayor David Maher are planning a City Hall reception for them. In addition, they will attend classes at our school; travel to Cape Cod, the Museum of Science; the Massachusetts State House and Harvard University. We want our visitors to see everything that makes Boston and Massachusetts so special."

The visit is part of the Harrington-Escola Basica Integrada de Santa Maria Exchange Program that was started last year.
