- WHEREAS: The best art has a way of lifting us up, of bringing us to a new place, and allowing us to see the world in a different light; and
- WHEREAS: This is particularly true of the work of the remarkable musician/composer, Mark Sandman of the band Morphine; and
- WHEREAS: Cambridge lost its poet and ambassador when Mark passed away, far too soon, this July; and
- WHEREAS: There are not many people in this world as true to their calling as Mark was, as honest, as direct, as courageous, as intolerant of the irrelevant yet open to the intriguing; and
- WHEREAS: Mark lived an undivided life-striving to create all day, every day, and generously extending to all an invitation to his world; and
- WHEREAS: He was particularly well known to the people of Cambridge during the years he spent here, sharing his time and talent with audiences and fellow musicians; now therefore be it
- RESOLVED: That the members of the Cambridge City Council extend their condolences to the family and friends of Mark Sandman, and express their firm belief that although he is no longer here to inspire us, he will live on through all who knew him and his music, and through the recipients of the Mark Sandman Music Education Fund in the Cambridge Public Schools.
