To the Members of the Cambridge City Council:

I would like to express my thanks to the entire City Council for your gracious resolution honoring my years of service to MIT. Cambridge has not just been a place where I have worked and studied, but it has been my family's home as well, providing a rich backdrop to my experiences at MIT.

Since 1911, when Mayor William F. Brooks invited MIT to move across the river, the City of Cambridge has always been a welcoming host. Over the years, the Institute has worked hard to be a good neighbor to the City. I am particularly proud of the many MIT students who give freely of their time to work with Cambridge Public School children through the MIT Public Service Center's outreach activities. Through MIT's many community programs like Keys to Empowering Youth and Links, the City and MIT work together to strengthen science and technology education for local school children.

Thank you again for your good wishes. It is my personal hope that the productive partnerships between MIT and the City continue to grow and develop to the benefit of the entire Cambridge community.

Sincerely,

Paul E. Gray
