COUNCILLOR GALLUCCIO
MAYOR RUSSELL
COUNCILLOR SULLIVAN
COUNCILLOR TOOMEY

WHEREAS: The citizens of the city of Cambridge recognize the moral responsibility of communities to take positive steps to end human rights abuses and support legitimately elected governments; and

WHEREAS: The nation of Nigeria, with a current population of over one hundred million people became, independent on October 1, 1960; and was declared a democratic republic on October 1, 1963; nonetheless military governments have ruled the nation for approximately 26 out of its 35 years of independence; and

WHEREAS: In June 1993, a democratic, presidential election to end military rule was held and monitored by national and international observers; and

WHEREAS: Chief Moshood K.O. Abiola was believed to have won the election, but the reigning military regime annulled the vote before formal results were announced, and put the nation in the hands of a military-appointed interim civilian government; and

WHEREAS: General Sani Abacha overthrew the transitional government in November, 1993 and promised to return the country to civilian rule, but has nonetheless continued to rule the country through a dictatorship; and

WHEREAS: Chief Abiola has been in prison since June, 1994 while he awaits trial on charges of treason for proclaiming himself President on the first anniversary of the 1993 election, and has, according to his personal physician, undergone a serious decline in his health since arrest; and

- WHEREAS: On June 4, 1996, Kudirat Abiola, wife of Chief Moshood K.O. Abiola who had been campaigning for her husband's release, was assassinated 200 yards from a police roadblock; and
- WHEREAS: The reigning military regime has also engaged in massive human rights abuses, disbanded the national and state legislatures and removed elected civilian governors, banned the free press, shot and killed peaceful pro-democracy protesters, and arbitrarily arrested human rights and environmental activists, trade unionists and community leaders in an effort to crush the democratic aspirations of the Nigerian people; and
- WHEREAS: Human rights investigators from such groups as Amnesty International have documented massacres of defenseless communities by the Nigerian army and the systematic use of murder, torture and rape of pro-democracy activists by government security forces; and
- WHEREAS: On November 10, 1995, nine activists of the Ogoni tribe, including Ken Saro-Wiwa, a renowned writer, environmentalist and human rights activist, were executed by the military government; and
- WHEREAS: Nigerian leaders and pro-democracy groups have called on the international community to impose sanctions against Nigeria in order to effect change; and
- WHEREAS: On Wednesday, March 12, 1997, Nigeria's military government charged Nobel Laureate Wole Soyinka, in exile since 1994, and eleven other opposition leaders with treason, for which the maximum penalty is death, over the spate of bomb explosions in the country; and
- WHEREAS: In 1994, United States oil companies, by their purchase of more than $4 billion worth of oil, indirectly financed the dictatorship through taxes and royalties on oil paid to the state-owned Nigerian National Petroleum Company, thereby undermining the Nigerian democracy movement; and
- WHEREAS: Oil exports from Nigeria account for more than ninety percent of Nigeria's foreign exchange earnings and seventy-five percent of its budget revenues; and
- WHEREAS: The United States Supreme Court has upheld the power of a municipality to make legitimate economic decisions without being subject to the restraints of the Interstate Commerce Clause when it participates in the market place as a corporation or a citizen as opposed to exerting its regulatory powers; and

WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge has the right to measure the moral character of its business partners in determining with whom it seeks to have business relations; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the City Council go on record in support of adoption of an ordinance or policy similar to that enacted by the Town of Amherst, Massachusetts, which would restrict the City of Cambridge from doing business with companies doing business in Nigeria or who have business relations with the current military regime; and be it further ORDERED: That the City Manager be and hereby is requested to direct the City Solicitor to prepare documents necessary for final enactment.

In City Council May 19, 1997

Adopted by the affirmative vote of nine members.

WE SUPPORT DEMOCRACY IN NIGERIA

In Nigeria today, the military rules through using the violence of assassinations and terror along with economic force to control the population. The democratically elected president Moshood Abiola is imprisoned and his wife Kudirat has been assassinated. Shell Oil company dominates business in Nigeria, creating vast environmental disasters which it refuses to clean and supporting the military with more than 12 billion dollars each year. Oil constitutes more than 90% of the Nigerian wealth and 45% of this oil is purchased by the United States. The U.S. government has the power to decide not to purchase oil from Nigeria (which is only 4% of U.S. oil).. Home to 1 of every 7 Black people and 1 of 4 Africans, Nigeria has gone from being a strong and proud country to one of the most impoverished

WE CALL ON THE CAMBRIDGE CITY COUNCIL TO

- ◆ call for a Shell Oil boycott
- ◆ send a letter to President Clinton urging him to stop the U.S. from buying oil from Nigeria and to impose sanctions on Nigeria
- ◆ write and tell Shell Oil president Philip Carroll that Shell needs to restore the degraded environment in Ogoniland and pay reparations to the people.

In Nigeria today, the military rules through using the violence of assassinations and terror along with economic force to control the population. The democratically elected president Moshood Abiola is imprisoned and his wife Kudirat has been assassinated. Shell Oil company dominates business in Nigeria, creating vast environmental disasters which it refuses to clean and supporting the military with more than 12 billion dollars each year. Oil constitutes more than 90% of the Nigerian wealth and 45% of this oil is purchased by the United States. The U.S. government has the power to decide not to purchase oil from Nigeria (which is only 4% of U.S. oil).. Home to 1 of every 7 Black people and 1 of 4 Africans, Nigeria has gone from being a strong and proud country to one of the most impoverished

- ◆ call for a Shell Oil boycott
- ◆ send a letter to President Clinton urging him to stop the U.S. from buying oil from Nigeria and to impose sanctions on Nigeria
- ◆ write and tell Shell Oil president Philip Carroll that Shell needs to restore the degraded environment in Ogoniland and pay reparations to the people.

WE SUPPORT DEMOCRACY IN NIGERIA

In Nigeria today, the military rules through using the violence of assassinations and terror along with economic force to control the population. The democratically elected president Moshood Abiola is imprisoned and his wife Kudirat has been assassinated. Shell Oil company dominates business in Nigeria, creating vast environmental disasters which it refuses to clean and supporting the military with more than 12 billion dollars each year. Oil constitutes more than 90% of the Nigerian wealth and 45% of this oil is purchased by the United States. The U.S. government has the power to decide not to purchase oil from Nigeria (which is only 4% of U.S. oil).. Home to 1 of every 7 Black people and 1 of 4 Africans, Nigeria has gone from being a strong and proud country to one of the most impoverished

WE CALL ON THE CAMBRIDGE CITY COUNCIL TO

- ◆ call for a Shell Oil boycott
 - ◆ write and tell Shell Oil president Philip Carroll that Shell needs to restore the degraded environment in Ogoniland and pay reparations to the people.
- SEND A LETTER TO PRESIDENT CLINTON
- ◆ urging him to stop the U.S. from buying oil from Nigeria and to impose sanctions on Nigeria and
 - ◆ to pressure the Nigerian military to release all political prisoners including president Moshood Abiola
