IN CITY COUNCIL
September 10, 1984

MAYOR RUSSELL

WHEREAS: The people of the City of Cambridge as part of the international community of man, recognize that our human family is faced with especially challenging lessons and unparalleled opportunities for growth in this latter part of the twentieth century; and

WHEREAS: The people of the City of Cambridge recognize the time has come to unify our efforts so that we may create a world of harmony and peace, a world transformed by our creative energies and motivated by the spirit of universal loving and brotherhood; and

WHEREAS: The efforts of the people of the City of Cambridge are clearly dedicated to this transformation of our planet and to the acknowledgement that positive growth begins with the enrichment and upliftment of each individual through the cultivation of an ever growing commitment to PERSONAL INTEGRITY; and

WHEREAS: We, the people of Cambridge, support one another in strengthening our own integrity and seeking to encourage others in their awareness, recognizing that Personal Integrity is unique to each of us and is the courage of conviction that allows each member of our human family to discover that perfect alignment with our own truth; now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this City Council do hereby declare September 24, 1984 as INTEGRITY DAY in Cambridge, a day when each of us may celebrate the value of Personal Integrity and freely declare, each in the uniqueness of our own expression, our commitment to the creation of a world in which each individual can win.
