New Models: new and improved

their performing schedule to one or two nights a week out-of-town or at colleges, working on new material and putting the finishing touches on their tape for radio stations and interested record companies. This means that for over two months area club-goers must do without the danceable power-pop that has made this trio area headliners. When I spoke with the band in late February in Harvard Square's Jonathon Swifts' Pub, before their last big gig, they were ready for a break. Their 1981 single, "Permanent Vacation," had won them a loyal local following; their 1983 Ep, "Sight and Sound," and the accompanying video to the song "Strangers in Disguise," are still getting airplay, but after a couple of near-misses with big record companies, and a few changes in personnel and management, the three New Models wanted to take some time off, and emerge with new elan this spring.

It's hard to imagine the New Models in need of recharging; their music conveys the infectious energy of dance-rock groups like ABC or Men at Work, but with an invigorating raw edge. However, the trio has been playing at least three nights a week, touring all over New England and as far afield as Ohio and Virginia. Live, the three alone sweat out a full-bodied sound: their arrangements are, like much contemporary rock, sparse, but the band avoids boredom with frenetic tempos, solid melodic hooks, and interesting harmonic complexities. The lively stage presence of Casey Lindstrom (the only band member not contained on stage by his instrument) doesn't hurt the band either, as the guitarist/vocalist leaps and dances across the stage like a lizard on speed. Their exhausting schedule, however, has, they believe, limited their creativity. In addition, the three had until recently found their ambitions foiled by unsatisfactory management. Lookout Management "made contacts haphazardly," drummer Matt Thurber puts it politely, to explain why no major label had been seriously approached by the group. Recently they switched to a New York-based manager, and are hopeful about their future. After four years, however, the trio has had little to show for their efforts but fatigue.

"The worst part about playing a lot is it's hard to work on new material," explains keyboard and synthesizer player, Steve Thurber.

"It cuts into your rehearsal and writing time," agrees his younger brother, Matt.

So, seeking what Steve calls "a regenerated outlook," the band has been resting, avoiding the area's big name clubs, working on new songs and reevaluating its sound.

"At one point we were tagged as an electronic band," Steve says. "We were using a rhythm machine and synthesizers before other bands, but not instead of a drummer." The common practice of replacing a live percussionist with a machine he finds "pretty cold." So one defense against a colorless techno-pop sound is a human drummer.

What's it like to play along with a pre-programmed rhythm machine? "Not bad at all," Matt says. "I play a little simpler; it's playing one-half the stuff I'd normally play.... The whole sound of it is terrific: they have sounds that aren't anything like real drums. It becomes a machine with sounds of its own."

"I've played a lot of different styles," he talks about his own playing. "I don't like mocking styles, but I'll borrow on one if it happens to be appropriate to the song." After his last band, the Rings, broke up two years ago he spent some time experimenting with percussion's possibilities before joining the New Models last May.

Casey's acidic guitar also cuts through the smooth synthesizer stereotype. "I came from a heavy metal school, but I threw myself into new music. I like funk," he adds, "it crosses a lot of boundaries, but it's still got that heavy metal bass." His guitar relies on the heavy metal mainstay of distortion, but newer rock's influence is revealed in his discrete usage of the instrument. Instead of the guitar bombast of serious heavy metal bands like AC/DC, Casey tastefully applies the occasional guitar scream: something sharp to cut through any slickness from Steve Thurber's keyboards.

"I have a pretty low opinion of myself as a player," says the elder Thurber. "I could be a whole lot better." For inspiration, he says, he looks to the likes of Brian Eno, "who is also a bad technician, but great conceptually," In part, his sound is determined by the band's personnel: "the fact that I have to play bass defines a certain chordal approach.... I'd like to think of myself as a textural player."

Perhaps it's inevitable that any fairly successful area band be compared with Boston's reigning rockers: the Cars, who achieved national prominence with their first self-titled album in 1978. Since the New Models' utilize polished electronics and sparse arrangements over a dance-rock beat, Cars' trademarks, the trio has been subject to more of this sort of categorizing than most.

"The Cars influenced everyone so much...with their simplicity of structures," admits Matt, "that even, pulsing guitar tempo. That describes more of a style than a particular band. They borrowed it from Roy Orbison.... If people have to pigeonhole you, they compare you with the last band to come out (from Boston). I don't think the New Models sound like the Cars."

So what will the New Models sound like when they return from their self-enforced exile in May? "Perhaps more rhthymic than straight rock and roll," Matt says, with emphasis on "sparse arrangements." Odds are, the group will have expanded to a foursome — the trio is currently playing with several bass players, and plan on incorporating one into the band. "A bass player will free up Steve," Casey says, "so he can really play keyboards and synthesizer...and another person who moves on stage will take pressure off me. I'm more concerned with the songs, the sound, but..." Steve finished his thought: "I don't want John Entwhistle," he says, referring to The Who's lengendarily motionless bassist. Playing with a couple of people during the past month, they say, has helped them define what they are looking for in a future fourth member, as well as a direction for the music. "Now (as a trio) we can pretty much record anything we want," Steve explains the search for a bassist must take into consideration the "live standpoint and the long haul" of band development. Their last personnel shift saw Michael Johnson replaced by Steve's brother on drums. "Michael is a good drummer," Casey says. "Sometimes you have to make a change for change's sake. We'd ceased to develop." He places future hope in new blood: "it's going to be an improvement."

Once their tape is finished and the New Models start performing again, the band hopes to be able to attract major record labels. Several new songs are currently being incorporated into their current repertoire of approximately two dozen orginals; Casey — the band's composer — hopes to have a dozen in working condition by May. "It's a real fine line," Casey explains, "writing a song that you're happy with, and that you know can sell.... I'm not trying to write top 40 hits, but I'm conscious of the structure of the song, getting to the hook." He describes "Blind Ambition" as "a big sounding dance-track." "Colors," he says, "has more of a 12-string guitar, Modern English type of feel." Steve adds: "It's a rock and roll groove song; it's got a pulse to it."

After their two independent releases, and two "awful" tracks from a "Live at the Metro" Album "from which we disassociate ourselves," according to Steve, a major label contract seems like a reasonable dream. Such an album would probably include several tracks off their Ep, such as "Say What," in addition to newer pieces. "We'd like to go national," Casey says. "We want to reach a lot of people," Steve elaborates, "not just from an ego or financial standpoint. After all, we want to be able to make a career out of this."

Alvin Ailey dancers to visit Rindge and Latin

Twenty-five years ago, Alvin Ailey started a dance company with only seven members, including himself. His dream was to create an interracial company that would explore the heritage of the black experience and foster important contemporary works. Today, his dance company and school are world renowned. Now, 25 years after its founding, the company has embarked on an anniversary tour of America that will bring them to Boston's Wang Center for the Performing Arts from April 9-15.

As part of an outreach program to bring young, aspiring artists into contact with some of the world's greatest performers, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of New England, in conjunction with the Cultural Education Collaborative, has provided funding for several company members to conduct Master Classes for dance students in the Cambridge and Boston public schools.

CRLS' fourth year dance students will have the opportunity to take a Master Class on Thursday, April 12 from 12 noon to 1:30 pm on the stage of the school's theatre while first, second, and third year students observe the process. Following the class, students will talk to the dancers about the rigors of professional training and career opportunities.

CRLS dance students will also attend a special matinee performance of the company at the Wang Center on Saturday, April 14. Subsidy for the orchestra tickets was provided by Project Discovery, a joint venture of the Collaborative's Institute for the Arts and the Boston University Celebrity Series.

In spite of the March snowstorm, 36 hardy souls attended the Cambridge Head Start's Open House last Thursday.

Visitors to the 12 classrooms located throughout the city in public schools, housing projects and community buildings included parents, children and representatives from agencies. Children's art was displayed in each classroom. Visitors had an opportunity to meet classroom staff and learn about the Head Start program — a free, federally funded, morning program for three and four year old children from low-income families.

Jean Breedon from the Visiting Nurse Association brought a mother and child to visit the Head Start classoom in the Roberts Elementary School at 225 Windsor St. Breedon remarked on the bright cheerful classroom in the newly renovated Roberts School. "I can't tell you how delighted I was to visit that attractive class," she said. "It worked out so well for the mother and child."

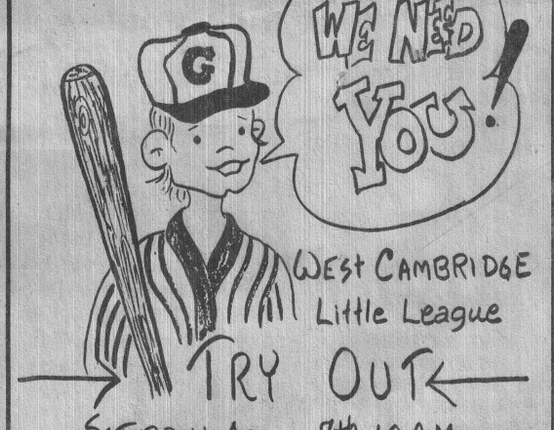

If you missed the open house but would like to learn more about enrolling your child in the fall Head Start program, call 491-8011 or visit the office at 221 Hampshire St. in Inman Square.

'Doc' Linskey dies

During World War II, he served as trainer for the Northeastern University Huskies football team. Then, when Northeastern hockey coach Herb Gallagher joined the service, Mr. Linskey replaced him for the 1942-43 season and guided the team to win the Donald Sands Trophy, forerunner of the ECAC hockey crown.

Later, Mr. Linskey served as a rehabilitation and physical therapy specialist with the Army Medical Corps in Europe during the final years of the war.

In 1946, Walter Brown offered Mr. Linskey the position of trainer for the newly formed Boston Celtics, but Mr. Linskey turned it down and joined the Cambridge school system instead. O'Neill, who was a member of the Cambridge School Committee at that time, sponsored him for the job.

Mr. Linskey also served as a trainer on the US teams in the Pan-American games and represented the State Department on an international tour.

Mr. Linskey's long career afforded him the opportunity of working with a number of distinguished athletes, including former Rindge Tech athlete John Thomas, who won high jump medals in the 1960 and 1964 Olympics. In the 1977 "Chronicle" interview, Mr. Linskey said the four best athletes he worked with were: Charlie Jenkins of Rindge, who won two Olympic gold medals; Earl Daurie, a five-letter man; Tommy Munro, a CHLS football star; and Thomas.

In addition to his skills as an athletic trainer, Mr. Linskey was a gifted wit and served as toastmaster at hundreds of functions throughout the area. He once told an audience that, when he first became a trainer in Cambridge, he asked then-City Manager Jack Atkinson for a heat lamp and was given, instead, an oil stove. "John Curry, the next city manager, promised to do better," Mr. Linskey recalled. "He gave me two candles and a piece of tinfoil to reflect the heat."

In recent years, "Doc" suffered from what is commonly known as Lou Gehrig's Disease and technically known as Amyotropohgic lateral sclerosis. Still, his spirit never flagged. Only last October, he proudly posed with John Allen of the East Cambridge Savings Bank and Cambridge Police Office Ed Witham who visited "Doc" at the hospital to present him with a check for the "Doc" Linskey Scholarship Fund at Northeastern. The check represented proceeds from the first annual "Doc" Linskey Road Race and plans are now being made for a second race this year. The scholarship fund gives priority to Cambridge students.

In 1977, Mr. Linskey was asked by the "Chronicle's" Eliot Spalding for his secret of happiness.

"It's no secret," he said. "It has to be my wife, Emma. Nobody could be unhappy who has such a happy life at home."

"Doc" and the former Emma Daley, whom he met at Cambridge (now Donnelly) Field and whom he married when he was 21, would have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in November.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Linskey is survived by two brothers, Joseph R. of Marshfield and Charles R. Linskey of Arlington; and four sisters, Edna Gately of Manchester, NH, Agnes C. Laverty of Arlington, Mary R. Francis of Arlington and Ann R. Naughton of Needham.

A funeral Mass was scheduled for 9 am today (Thursday) at Blessed Sacrament Church in Cambridge, with interment in the Cambridge Cemetery.

FOR 'DOC'—In October, well-known Cambridge public schools' athletic trainer William "Doc" Linskey, who died Monday after a long illness, beamed with pride as he accepted a check from John Allen, left, of the East Cambridge Savings Bank, and Cambridge Police Officer Ed Witham. The check represented the proceeds from the first annual "Doc" Linskey Road Race and went toward the scholarship fund established in his name. (Photo by Michael A. Nedsweski)

The city will try to put aside at least $1 million a year for the fund, and an actuarial study will be undertaken to update what the city's liability is, Healy explained.

Standard & Poor, a bond-rating service, increased the city's bond rating to A-minus in February.

City officials said the rating improvement resulted in part from the city's willingness to start a pension reserve fund and its proven ability to weather the effects of Proposition 2½.

"Boston is trying to restore investor interest. Cambridge has done that," says Maloney. "We're talking about moving ahead."

Its bond rating successes notwithstanding, the city will be facing some tough challenges in the month ahead.

According to Healy's budget message, collective bargaining agreements with 14 unions will expire June 30.

The city has negotiated two contracts for a three percent salary increase on July 1, and Healy feels the city has "set a tone" concerning salary increases.

"This budget contains an allotment for a modest salary adjustment for city employees," the city manager's budget message says. "The collective bargaining units must recognize that our ability to raise the tax levy is still severely limited and that we can no longer ignore pressing equipment and physical needs."

Maloney explained that the city is in "financial control" of itself and that its revenue projections are being met.

He said the city is not overestimating its financial condition, but collections "are where they should be."

Healy, who is pleased with the city's long-term outlook, noted simply, "It's an upbeat budget."

Girl Scouts sell land

Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council, Inc. and the Reading Council for Girls, Inc. announce the sale of 4.854 acres of land adjacent of Camp Rice moody. The property was purchased by Sunrise Homes Incorporated which is owned by local Reading builder Don Johnston. The $242,000 in proceeds from the sale will be used to rebuild the camp building which was devastated by fire in June of 1981.

Camp Rice Moody has served Girl Scouts from the 14 surrounding communities including Reading, Arlington, Burlington, Cambridge, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, North Reading, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester, and Woburn for over 40 years. For the past three summers since the fire, these girls have attended camp in Waltham.

On November 30, 1983 the Reading Board of Appeals unanimously voted to grant a special permit for the reconstruction of the new building. Since that time, Patriots' Trail, the Reading Council for Girls and Lally Associates, who are engineers for the project, have been working on the new building design, specifications and site work. This modern facility will function as a year-round outdoor program center to provide multi-use capabilities for training, day/overnight camping, large group functions and meeting space as well as a base for Girl Scout program on the local level. Advertisements and invitations to bid on this design-build project began in early February of this year. Final design and contractor selection for the new building is expected this spring.

Coppola to be honored

Former Cambridge resident Pasquale R. Coppola has been selected to receive the Man of the Year award of the Belmont Men's Lodge 1094, Order of the Sons of Italy in America. The Man of the Year award is the lodge's highest honor which is presented annually to a member in good standing who has contributed his time, talents and energy and who has served the lodge unselfishly over the years. His character must be of the highest caliber.

Coppola grew up in East Cambridge. His father ran the Royal Pastry Shop at 738 Cambridge St. A Korean War Veteran, he served with the 20th Air Force for four years.

An active participant in Cambridge politics, Coppola served on the Cambridge Economic Opportunity Committee. He was appointed by former Mayor Edward Crane of Cambridge to serve as a member of the Wellington-Harrington Citizens Committee.

The award is to be presented at the Lodge's Annual Banquet to be held on Friday, May 11 at Mt. Auburn Post No. 8818 VFW, 688 Huron Ave., Cambridge.

Cocktails at 6:30 pm, followed by dinner at 7:30 pm.

For information on tickets call Dr. Santo Macchia, Banquet Chairman at 484-2190 or President Ralph Canina 484-6027. Also Dom Ferolito 484-4574 or, Arthur Lettiere 484-4766. Tickets cost $17.50 per person.

Shepard play to mark debut of ART's New Stages

Robert Brustein, Artistic Director of the American Repertory Theatre, announced this week that the company will present a program of works at the Hasty Pudding Theatre, 12 Holyoke St., from late March through early May, to be called A.R.T./New Stages.

The three plays to be presented are: Sam Shepard's "Angel City," directed by David Wheeler; and two world premieres — "Holy Wars" by Allan Havis, directed by Gerald Chapman, and "Strokes" by Leslie Glass and directed by Phillip Cates.

"Angel City" will inaugurate the A.R.T./New Stages on Thursday, March 29 at 8pm, following a preview on Wednesday, March 28 at 8pm. In "Angel City," written in 1976, Sam Shepard, Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright and a leading movie actor, takes us to the inner sanctum of a Hollywood movie studio where bizarre and powerful creative forces are at work to concoct the ultimate disaster flick. Shepard's fertile fantasy summons up Rabbit Brown, a shaman versed in the magic of the California Indians, into the studio compound by buckboard to write the last word in power-packed moviedom. Staged by David Wheeler, who in addition to directing the A.R.T.'s acclaimed production of Shepard's "True West" two seasons ago, has staged over 100 productions in this area where he has made his career over the past 25 years. Featured in the cast of "Angel City" are John Bottoms as Rabbit, Harry S. Murphy as Lanx, Thomas Derrah as Wheeler, Ben Halley, Jr., as Tympani, and Karen MacDonald as Miss Scoons. Performances are scheduled to run through April 29.

Written by the young playwright Allan Havis and directed by Gerald Chapman, "Holy Wars," which opens April 4 at 8pm following one preview on April 3, consists of two plays loosely bound by the theme of conflict in the Middle East. In "Morocco," a Jewish American architect (Tony Shalhoub) doing business in Fez is trapped in a bewildering series of encounters with a Moroccan Colonel (Ben Halley, Jr.) who commands the prison where his wife is being held. "The Road From Jerusalem" takes place in an underground bomb shelter "in the near future," right after an all-out air attack on Jerusalem. Three survivors are trapped together: A German auto salesman (Jeremy Geidt), an embittered Palestinian Arab (Tony Shalhoub), and an American Jewish woman (played by newcomer to the A.R.T. Lisa Hilboldt) who has moved to Israel. The claustrophobia of the Middle East is reflected in the plights of all the characters, who struggle for dominance but still settle for survival.

Leslie Glass' "Strokes" — the third and final production of A.R.T./New Stages — is a black comedy about the life of a family in which all lines of communication have been short-circuited. Lily and her two children have gathered in their suburban living room to welcome Daddy home from the hospital; a stroke has left him speechless and motionless. As each member of the family struggles to communicate with him, and each other, evidence of Daddy's not-so-spotless past comes to light. The American Dream suddenly becomes a nightmare, but it's a nightmare full of laughs, biting satire, and excoriating humor. Returning to the company to direct this production is Phillip Cates who was a member of the acting ensemble during its inaugural season in Cambridge. He has recently directed plays at Williamstown Theatre Festival and a ninety-minute adaptation for cable television of "Hooters" by Ted Tally. Appearing in "Strokes" are Shirley Wilber, Lise Hilboldt, Thomas Derrah, Maggie Topkise and Boston actor Guy Strauss.

A part of A.R.T./New Stages, the company is pleased to welcome one of Boston's renowned smaller theatres, Little Flags, to the Hasty Pudding Theatre. They will be presenting two works from their repertory on Monday, May 30, all at 8 pm.

Ticket prices for A.R.T./New Stages are $8 for all seats, Sunday through Thursday evenings and all matinees, and $12 for any seat on Friday and Saturday evenings. Curtain times for evening performances is 8 pm and 2 pm for matinees. For tickets and reservations call the A.R.T. Box Office (or stop by the Loeb Drama Center, 64 Brattle St.) at 547-8300 from 11 to 5:30 pm; the Box Office at the Hasty Pudding Theatre opens at 6 pm daily, and tickets can be purchased or picked up there on day of performance.

Special rates are available for all performances of all plays for students, theatre parties and senior citizens for groups of twenty or more.

On tour

To meet an increasing popular demand for more information about the world-famous collections and programs at the Fogg Art Museum and the Busch-Reisinger Museum, the Harvard University Art Museums have initiated a program for training and coordinating docents, or tour guides. Beginning Monday, April 9, the Harvard University Art Museums Docent Program will provide regular public tours of Harvard's world-famous art museums, the Fogg Art Museum and the Busch-Reisinger Museum.

There will be a one-hour guided tour of the Fogg Art Museum every weekday at 2 pm. Interested visitors should meet in the central courtyard on the ground floor. No reservations are necessary and there is no charge beyond regular admission to the Museum.

There will be a one-hour guided tour of the Busch-Reisinger Museum on the first Sunday of each month at 3 pm. Interested visitors should meet in Romanesque Hall. No reservations are necessary and there is no charge.

School, college, or adult groups may also arrange for special tours of either or both Museums with a minimum of two weeks' notice. Those interested should write or call Nathaniel Sharf, Fogg Art Museum, 32 Quincy Street, Cambridge, 02138, 495-2537 or 495-4544. Tours will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis.

All tours will be conducted by Museum Docents who have been thoroughly trained in art history and in the Museum's collections under a special program begun last fall under the direction of Lana Branton, docent coodinator.

Arpilleras

For centuries quilts, tapestries, crewel work and embroidery have vividly illustrated the universal themes in women's lives. Most often they have portrayed family and community histories, pastoral village scenes, and the intricate patterns in nature.

In Chile, however, women are using fabric art to make a strong political statement. A revived folk craft called "arpilleras" depicts the stories of the Chileans' harsh daily lives in a common struggle for social justice and freedom. Arpilleras, Spanish for "burlap," are tapestries fabricated from remnant cloth and yarn appliqued onto burlap and outlined with embroidery stitches. They show with grim images hungry children, closed factories, military raids, the imprisoned and the exiled. The craftswomen, "arpilleristas," are protesting the military regime of General Augusto Pinochet, which deposed Salvador Allende in 1973. For many Chilean women, the sale of this art work is their only source of income.

Two Chilean arpilleristas will visit the United States during the month of March under the auspices of the Third World Women's Project of the Institute for Policy Studies. They will demonstrate the craft of arpilleras in workshops in churches, neighborhood centers, and at universities.

CRLS to compete in finals of state drama festival

Cambridge Rindge and Latin School drama students emerged victorious in their semi-final round of competition of the Massachusetts High School Drama Festival on March 10.

Competing against six other schools at St. John's Prep in Danvers, CRLS was among the winners chosen to perform in the State Finals at Boston's John Hancock Hall on March 23 and 24. Fourteen schools from across the state are finalists in the competition. Two will be selected to represent Massachusetts in the New England showcase which will be held this year in Newport, Rhode Island at the end of April.

The students performed "Frightfully Fearful Yet Dangerously Curious" written by former CRLS drama teacher David Zucker. The play is an allegory about facing life's fears and taking risks to achieve personal growth. Directed by CRLS drama teacher Gerry Speca and produced by drama coordinator Judith Contrucci, the production is fast-paced and laced with many humorous moments as Frightfully Fearful and her cohorts grapple with their fears of the unknown. The cast of 14 is augmented by 7 life-sized puppets constructed by costumer Don Swanson, and a giant Grumpus monster designed and built by artist Dru Markle.

The talented CRLS cast includes Kevin Farrell and Eunice Rodrigues as the Narrators, Alton Byrd, Patrick Donnelly, Margo Forde, Asha Mehrling, Jomo Peters, Katrice Rivers and Alexey VanValkenburgh as the Valley Folk, Amatul Hannan as Frightfully Fearful, Leonardo O'Grady as Enormously Arrogant, Patty D'Amico as Utterly Obnoxious, Ashley David as Timidly Fearful, Sasha Voynow as The Stranger, Katrice Rivers as the Naughty Pine, and Jomo Peters as The Grumpus. Crew members include Stefanie Cohen, Rachel Henderson, Rebecca Rabinowitz, Lucas Sussman, and Sean Quinlan.

At the semi-finals on March 10, ten members of the troupe were selected for the All-Star Cast: Ensemble acting awards for each of the seven Valley Folk, as well as Amatul Hannan, Kevin Farrell, and Patty D'Amico. These awards were in addition to the Ensemble award won by the Valley Folk at the regional competition on March 3.

CRLS will perform in the State Finals on Saturday, March 24 at 7 pm. All performances during the two day festival are open to the public. Admission price per day is $3. For more information on times and plays call Judith Contrucci at 498-9202.

Antiques with a difference

The Cambridge Center for Adult Education will offer two new courses in antiques this spring. The instructors are Diane and Fred Wiseman, a husband/wife team who are both professional archaeologists. If this doesn't sound a bit unusual to you, you should consider that many archaeologists have taken a dim view of antiques collecting. The illegal removal of artifacts from their "archaeological context" for sale has given dealing in things old a bad name to most anthropologists. On the other side, professional training in the study of antiques is usually through art history. Students of the decorative arts often view archaeologists merely as technicians, which does little to improve the relationship.

Fred Wiseman is better known as a researcher in the study of ancient Maya Indian agriculture, a career which he pursues at the Center for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology at MIT. Diane Wiseman received her training in prehistoric archaeology and palynology in the American Southwest on material which predates the arrival of Europeans to this continent.

"There is actually no contradiction in our interest in educating people about antiques," says Diane Wiseman. "Archaeologists study material culture, and antiques are part of material culture. Some of it is on the ground, but some of it has been preserved for a variety of reasons. Some objects have gone on to function in several new roles since their original use. In addition, antique collecting is itself an anthropological phenomenon — objects become symbols of status and people also embue them with magical qualities by virtue of their association with personages and events of the past. However, we are primarily interested in helping people to increase their enjoyment of the antiques they collect by increasing their understanding of the technology and social processes that produced these objects."

The Wisemans' approach differs from that usually taken by students of the decorative arts, which focusses on the creative genius of the individual artist or craftsman and the aesthetic qualities of each artifact. "We are interested in the good, the bad, and the ugly alike, and, while we do have definite aesthetic preferences, we will never tell you that one chair is better than another. All are products of a technological and stylistic milieu, the only differences being in the skill of the craftsmen adhering to the templates of his period and the market for which he or she worked. We teach about all periods of American material culture from Pilgrims through Art Deco."

The Wisemans point out that a label in the Museum of Fine Arts might tell you that a pewter teapot was made in the early 1800's by a well-known Connecticut maker. But what it doesn't tell you is the identical contours top and bottom were designed for ease of lathe spinning the teapot body in two halves over a wooden mold. Where and by whom the teapot was made has less to do with its nature than the story of the development of machine production.

The Wisemans have combined their training in archaeological pollen analysis and their interest in antiques in developing a new technique for tracing the geographic history of antiques through pollen residues adhering to the pieces. Some of the results of this research are soon to be published in the magazine "Antiques." In addition, they are currently writing a book which will include most of the material from their courses.

Information concerning the two new courses being offered — "Of Time and Light: Antique Clocks and Lighting Devices" and "How to Know American Antiques: Accessories" — may be obtained by calling the Cambridge Center for Adult Education at 547-6789.

JUDITH LECLAIR, principal bassoonist for the New York Philharmonic, will be guest soloist with the Mystic Valley Orchestra at its performances March 31 at 8 pm at Cary Hall in Lexington and Sunday, April 1, at 3 pm at Paine Hall, Harvard University. The program includes Liadov's "Kikimora," Mozart's Bassoon Concerto and Tchaikowsky's Symphony No. 1. General admission is $5. For ticket information, call 924-4939.

DAVID WITTEN, Cambridge resident and acclaimed pianist, leaves in April for an extensive State Department tour of South America, which will include a performance with the La Paz Symphony Orchestra in Bolivia. He is a faculty member of the New School of Music and is director of the Boston Chapter of the American Liszt Society.

The Underground Railway Theater celebrates its new home in North Cambridge presenting the first local run of its popular touring show. "The Anything Can Happen Roadshow," at the Cambridge Institute for Arts and Sciences, 21 Notre Dame Ave., every Friday and Saturday in April at 8pm. Tickets are $8 and $6, and are available at the door and in advance at Bostix, Faneuil Hall, or call 497-6136 for reservations. This run is sponsored by two organizations dedicated to peace education: The Cambridge Commission on Nuclear Disarmament and Peace Education, and Performing Artists for Nuclear Disarmament.

This comic musical satire on the arms race combines an energetic variety of popular theater styles — the music hall, vaudeville, circus, pageantry, and cabaret satire. Each performance evening will include a special guest: April 6, Fred Small; April 7, Martha Leader; April 13, Deborah Silverstein; April 14, Rising Tide; April 20, Disarming Music; April 21, Willie Sordhill; April 27, Laura Burns and Roger Rosen; April 28, Betsy Rose. Seating arrangements will be cabaret-style.

The Underground Railway Theater is best known for its local and national tours of a diverse and innovative repertoire including puppets of all kinds, original mime and theater. The company recently performed with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

food," the ABCC decision reads, "and that situation usually does not present the type of problems other types of pouring spots, e.g. barrooms, would. Consequently, we hope the board will reconsider its decision and grant the license."

Complicating the issue somewhat is the fact that, even if Ruggles wins in court, the Brickyard Pub Inc. license may not be available for transfer.

According to License Commission records, the La Groceria restaurant at 853 Main St. has applied for the transfer of the Brickyard Pub license.

The application has been approved by the License Commission, and is now before the state ABCC for approval.

Starfield said it does not matter if La Groceria gets the Brickyard Pub license.

He said his attornies have told him that the court has the power to remedy the situation by ordering the commission to grant a license whether it currently exists or not.

In a related matter, U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Tauro this week ruled that the city of Cambridge and the state must pay Harvard Law Professor Laurence Tribe $204,000 for his work for Grendel's Den in Harvard Square.

Tribe and another Harvard professor, David Rosenberg, who also got a favorable ruling from Tauro, served as attornies for Grendel's Den when the restaurant went to the U.S. Supreme Court to dispute a state law that enabled churches to stop nearby bars from getting liquor licenses. The high court ruled in Grendel's favor.

The city and state must pay Tribe's and Rosenberg's fees because a federal act enables winning plaintiffs in civil rights suits to ask the courts for the payment of reasonable fees.

Mendelssohn's birthday concert

The Music Department of the Cambridge Public Schools will present a chamber music concert at the Harvard Epworth United Methodist Church, 1555 Massachusetts Ave., on Sunday, March 25, at 4 pm. This program is given by high school chamber music groups in honor of Fleix Mendelssohn's 175th Birthday.

The CRLS Vocal Ensemble will perform "Lift Thine Eyes" from "Elijah" and "The Nightingale" madrigal by Mendelssohn. The Chamber Orchestra will play selected movements from the "Orchestral Suite Number 2 by J.S. Bach and "Canzon Noni Toni" for Brass Quartet and String Ensemble by Gabrieli.

Several other chamber groups including a String Quartet, Woodwind Quartet, Clarinet Duo, Piano Quartet, Piano and Violin Duo, String Trio, and Clarinet Quartet will present an interesting program.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Cantabs

Andrew Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor of 31 Otis St. has been accepted to the Ted Williams Baseball Camp. He will attend camp during the last week of August.

Hardware Handyman

Ed Ver Planck
Every house has a certain number of circuits, and each goes through a fuse or circuit breaker...To keep the system in good order, the homeowner must know which fuse controls which circuit and what outlets are connected to it...The way to determine which fuse controls a circuit is to turn on the house lights and then loosen one fuse at a time or throw a circuit-breaker switch to OFF. Each time, a certain number of lights will go off...Write down the location of the outlets affected by each on a piece of paper and paste this near the fuse box or circuit breaker.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Grant-Morgan, Ltd., a Massachusetts corporation, to Century Bank and Trust Company dated February 25, 1983, filed with the Middlesex South Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 607193, as affected by Subordination of Mortgage to Condominium dated July 10, 1981, filed with said Registry District as Document No. 612597, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 10 o'clock A.M. on the 19th day of April, A.D. 1984, upon the premises hereinafter described as 1-11 Richdale Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts, a portion of the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

"A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Cambridge, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by the Northeasterly line of Richdale Avenue, sixty-nine and 37/100 (69.37) feet;

Northwesterly by land now or formerly of C. F. Hathaway & Sons, one hundred thirty-one and 14/100 (131.14) feet;

Northeasterly two hundred fifty-two and 53/100 (252.53) feet;

Southerly twenty-five and 20/100 (25.20) feet; and

Northeasterly forty and 92/100 (40.92) feet by land now or formerly of Boston and Maine Railroad;

Easterly by land now or formerly of William F. Brooks, twenty-six and 50/100 (26.50) feet;

Southerly by land of sundry owners as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned, two hundred thirty-two and 13/100 (232.13) feet;

Southeasterly by land now or formerly of Nora A. Crimmins, twenty-nine and 79/100 (29.79) feet.

All of said boundaries are determined by the Land Court to be located as shown on a plan as modified and approved by the Court filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the South Registry of Middlesex County in Registration Book 127, Page 533, with Certificate 20812.

For its title see Certificate of Title, recorded with the Middlesex South Deeds, as Document No. 161108 recorded in Book 935 Page 158.

The premises to be sold constitute Units 1, 2, and 13 of the Richdale Park Condominium (the "Condominium"), a condominium established pursuant to General Laws, Chapter 183A by Master Deed dated July 1, 1981, filed with said Registry District as Document No. 612601. Each Unit will be sold together with (1) the undivided percentage interest in the Common areas and facilities of the Condominium and the organization of unit owners through which the Condominium is managed and regulated (the "Trust"), (2) the exclusive rights and easements, exercisable subject to and in accordance with the provisions and requirements of said Master Deed and the provisions of the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, to use any balcony, terrace, deck or private courtyard adjacent to such Unit to which there is direct access from the interior of such Unit and as so designated on the plans recorded with said Master Deed, and (3) such other rights and easements appurtenant to such Unit as may be set forth in any document governing the operation of the Condominium, including, without limitation, said Master Deed, the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

Said Units 1 and 2 will be sold together as one parcel or individually as two distinct parcels, depending upon interest at the time of sale. If, at the time of sale, there is interest in both in a sale as one parcel and in a sale ads two parcels, said Units shall be auctioned in such parcels, and the highest aggregate price or prices bid for said Units at auction shall be the sale or sales which shall be final and binding. Said Unit 13 will be sold individually as one parcel.

The premises will be sold subject to all rights, easements and restrictions of record, insofar as presently in force and applicable, including, without limitation, all rights, easements and restrictions set forth in any document governing the operation of the Condominium, including, without limitation, said Master Deed, the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, and subject to unpaid real estate taxes, tax titles and municipal liens and assessments, if any. Said Unit 13 is also subject to a right of occupancy in favor of the existing tenant thereof for a term expiring on December 31, 1985. Other terms of the occupancy will be announced at the sale.

With respect to each Unit, a payment of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) in cash or certified or bank treasurer's check will be required from the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Other terms will be announced at the sale.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Grant-Morgan, Ltd., a Massachusetts corporation, to Century Bank and Trust Company dated July 10, 1980, filed with the Middlesex South Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 599267, as amended by instrument dated November 20, 1980, filed with said Registry District as Document No. 604172, and as affected by Subordination of Mortgage to Condominium dated July 10, 1981, filed with said Registry District as Document No. 612597, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 10 o'clock A.M. on the 19th day of April, A.D. 1984, upon the premises hereinafter described as 1-11 Richdale Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts, a portion of the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

"A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Cambridge, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by the Northeasterly line of Richdale Avenue, sixty-nine and 37/100 (69.37) feet;

Northwesterly by land now or formerly of C.F. Hathaway & Sons, one hundred thirty-one and 14/100 (131.14) feet;

Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Nora A. Crimmins, twenty-nine and 79/100 (29.79) feet.

All of said boundaries are determined by the Land Court to be located as shown on a plan as modified and approved by the Court filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the South Registry of Middlesex County in Registration Book 127, Page 533, with Certificate 20812.

For its title see Deed of even date, recorded herewith.

Said premises are now known as and numbered 1-11 Richdale Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts."

The premises to be sold constitute Units 1, 2, and 13 of the Richdale Park Condominium (the "Condominium"), a condominium established pursuant to General Laws, Chapter 183A by Master Deed dated July 10, 1981, filed with said Registry District as Document No. 612601. Each Unit will be sold together with (1) the undivided percentage interest in the Common areas and facilities of the Condominium and the organization of unit owners through which the Condominium is managed and regulated (the "Trust"), (2) the exclusive rights and easements, exercisable subject to and in accordance with the provisions and requirements of said Master Deed and the provisions of the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, to use any balcony, terrace, deck or private courtyard adjacent to such Unit to which there is direct access from the interior of such Unit and as so designated on the plans recorded with said Master Deed, and (3) such other rights and easements appurtenant to such Unit as may be set forth in any document governing the operation of the Condominium, including, without limitation, said Master Deed, the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

Said Units 1 and 2 will be sold together as one parcel or individually as two distinct parcels, depending upon interest at the time of sale. If, at the time of sale, there is interest both in a sale as one parcel and a sale as two parcels, said Units shall be auctioned in both ways, and the highest aggregate price or prices bid for said Units at auction shall be the sale or sales which shall be final and binding. Said Unit 13 will be sold individually as one parcel.

The premises will be sold subject to all rights, easements and restrictions of record, insofar as presently in force and applicable, including, without limitation, all rights, easements and restrictions set forth in any document governing the operation of the Condominium, including, without limitation, said Master Deed, the Trust and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, and subject to unpaid real estate taxes, tax titles and municipal liens and assessments, if any. Said Unit 13 is also subject to a right of occupancy in favor of the existing tenant thereof for a term expiring on December 31, 1985. Other terms of the occupancy will be announced at the sale.

With respect to each Unit, a payment of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) in cash or certified or bank treasurer's check will be required from the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Other terms will be announced at the sale.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Cambridge Housing Authority, the Awarding Authority, invites sealed bids for Roll-Up Security Doors in Cambridge, Massachusetts, with documents prepared by Douglas Hume, as described below.

Furnish and install (2) two service security doors complete with all guides, hoods, brackets, metal and operating mechanism. Door openings are approximately 21' x 9'.

Bids must be received before the following times to be considered.

General bids will only be considered from bidders who have filed an Application to Bid, and a Contractor's Qualification Statement with the Awarding Authority at 270 Green Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, no later than 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 5, 1984.

Applicants will be notified one week after closing date for the receipt of Application to Bid and Contractor's Qualification Statements, regarding eligibility to bid. A list of eligible bidders will be available, along with the list of filed sub-bidders, at the Awarding Authority.

General Bids will be received until 3:00 p.m., Thursday, May 3, 1984.

General Bids and Sub-bids shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in an amount that is no less than five percent of the bid amount.

Forms for the Application to Bid and Contractor's Qualification Statement may be obtained, without charge, from the Awarding Authority.

Bid documents will be available for pick up at the Cambridge Housing Authority, after 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, March 22, 1984.

If mailed, Bids should be sent to Cambridge Housing Authority (Roll-Up Security Doors) 270 Green Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139, Attention: Spencer Ferdinand, Purchasing Agent.

Bid Deposits, payable to the Awarding Authority, shall be either cash, certified check, bid bond, or treasurer's or cashier's check, issued by a responsible bank or trust company.

Bids are subject to the provisions of M.G.L., Chapter 30, Section 39M, and Chapter 149, Section 44A to 1, inclusive, as most recently amended.

Wages are subject to minimum wage rates, as per M.G.L., Chapter 149, Section 26 to 27D, inclusive.

Contract Documents may be obtained at the Cambridge Housing Authority's office, free of charge, up to two sets for each general bidder. Additional sets may be purchased at the same office for $10.00 per set (non-refundable).

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities in or to reject any or all general bids if it deems it to be in the public interest to do so.

This is a purchase price mortgage given simultaneously with a receipt by the Mortgagor of a deed conveying title to said premises from the Mortgagee to the Mortgagor. The said mortgage is given to secure a part of the purchase price, and the said mortgage is part of the same transaction. The indebtedness secured hereby is the said Promissory Note of the Mortgagor to the Mortgagee in the sum of $70,000.00, and covers a part of the purchase price for the premises.
Included as a part of the realty and subject to the lien of this mortgage are all portable or sectional buildings, heating apparatus, plumbing, ranges, mantels, storm doors and windows, oil burners, gas and oil and electric fixtures, screens, screen doors, awnings, combination storm and screen doors and windows, elevators, air conditioning apparatus, incinerators, and other fixtures of whatever kind and nature (including all existing and installed wall-to-wall carpeting) upon said premises, or hereafter placed thereon, prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage, insofar as the same are or can by agreement of the parties be made a part of the realty.
The above premises will be sold subject as above and to all outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, and liens, if any.
Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars will be required to be paid in cash or by certified check or by Bank Cashier's Check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale as earnest money. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check within twenty (20) days thereafter to be deposited in escrow with Frank N. Dardeno, Jr., Esquire, at 424 Broadway, in Somerville, Massachusetts 02145, pending approval of said sale by the Land Court. Other terms, if any, to be announced at the sale.

ORDINANCE NO. 1006
Final Publication No. 2231.
First publication in the Chronicle on April 12, 1984.
CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
In the Year One Thousand, Nine Hundred Eighty-Four
AN ORDINANCE
In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled: "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge."
Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:
That Chapter Thirteen entitled: "Offenses," Section 13-4 entitled, "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance Number 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection.
(e½) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer than twenty-five (25) persons. Nor shall this subsection apply to any area with a seating capacity of fewer than seventy-five (75) persons, which is used primarily for selling alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises and in which any sale of food or presentation of entertainment is incidental to the sale of such beverages.
No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.
Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.
The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:
(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.
In addition to the duties provided by subsections (1) and (2) the Inspectional Services Department or any person approved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.
Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.
This ordinance shall take effect on July 1, 1984.
In City Council April 23, 1984.
Passed to be ordained as amended by a yea and nay vote: Yeas 6 Nays 2 Absent 1.

Day care needs survey set

By Jack Hayes
Staff writer

Representatives of many of Cambridge's 24 day care programs for school-aged children put their heads together last Tuesday in an attempt to begin to meet a growing need for school-age child care in the city.

Chris Dillon of the Cambridge Dept. of Human Services pointed out at the meeting, which was held at the Central Square Branch Library, that, while there are 4,000-5000 school-aged children in the city, only 400-500 of them are served by the 24 formal programs that currently exist.

This, she said, is one of the reasons that several human service agencies in the city, including the Dept. of Human Services, Cambridge Community Services, the Child Care Resource Center and the Cambridge Council for Children, have banded together for the purpose of determining city-wide needs in the area of school-age child care.

The results of their efforts will be the conducting of a three-part city-wide needs assessment. According to Ronnie Mae Weiss of Cambridge Community Services, the parents of children in public, private and parochial schools throughout Cambridge will be sent a questionnaire about their present child care needs and desires.

Weiss said the questionnaire will be mailed in mid-May to about 5000 homes, and should be returned within three days.

In addition to the questionnaire, she said an informal survey of child care needs will be conducted among teachers, children, health clinic workers, fire department officials, and others. An attempt will also be made to compile a kind of directory of all child care resources available in the city.

Weiss added that she is hopeful that Mayor Leonard Russell will declare May the Month of the School-aged Child, as a gesture of support for the efforts of the local child care agencies.

At the meeting, representatives of a wide variety of local child care groups discussed such topics as "day care burnout," an affliction said to be prevalent among children who have attended day care programs for much of their lives; the inability of parents, especially single parents, to pay day care costs; the difficulty of securing funding for small programs; the need for an "intermingling" of the diverse day care programs in the city; and the need for all programs to share their resources.

"We're all going to have to throw something into the pot in order for the kids to benefit," said Andrea Genser of the Child Care Resource Center.

Manuel Batista of the Cambridge Guidance Center's cross-cultural program pointed out that day care is a particular problem for Portuguese and other immigrants who come to this country and find that, in contrast to the situation they are accustomed to in their homelands, both parents have to work to make ends meat.

If no members of an extended family are available to help with the children before and after school and during holidays, immigrants have difficulty finding child care facilities where their native language is spoken and their culture respected.

Batista also pointed out that the increasing rate of divorce is causing the need for day care to skyrocket.

"If the staff (of a center) is not good, you're going to lose 'kids, especially minorities,'" said Denise Simmons, executive director of the Civic Unity Committee. "If the staff doesn't look right or even if they don't talk right, parents won't send their kids there."

Simmons said that a major challenge confronting school-aged child care agencies is offering a creative program to kids who have already burnt out on programs offering everything from karate to computers.

Dan O'Neill of Boy Scouts of America said his organization would be happy to send volunteers on a weekly basis to some child care centers. Most others present agreed that such cooperative efforts are what is needed to improve day care opportunities in the city.

Portuguese can be economic force, Rotarians are told

The Portuguese community is an economic force to be cultivated by Cambridge businesses, Robert J. Perry, president of the Cambridge Organization of Portuguese Americans (COPA), told members of the Cambridge Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon meeting at Fantasia's last Thursday.

Perry said that 10 percent of Cambridge's population is of Portuguese descent. In addition, he said that 40 percent of the businesses on Cambridge Street in East Cambridge are Portuguese owned, including many businesses which are not generally thought of as being owned by Portuguese.

Perry pinpointed a 550 percent growth in assets by the Cambridge Portuguese Credit Union (from $5 million to $28 million) since the opening of its new facility in Inman Square in 1974 as a prime example of the economic potential of the Portuguese Community. He also noted the $3 million Saint Anthony's Church Parish Center being built totally from community donations as another example of the community's economic viability.

Perry said a strong commitment to education in the Portuguese community is being developed with a decrease in the dropout rate and an increase in the number of high school students attending college. He also said that many Portuguese are receiving master's degrees and PhD's, developing trained professionals in the areas of law, computer technology, accounting, and management — all of which will ensure the continued economic growth of the community.

Perry stated that COPA, while serving the social service needs of lower income Portuguese immigrants and helping the community to overcome the problems of immigration, is also encouraging the Portuguese community to become more active in civic affairs. He pointed to the Portuguese Americans Concerned with Education (PACE) and the Portuguese Cable TV Advisory Committee as examples of this involvement, while predicting that the Portuguese will become very active in the local political scene in the next few years.

Finally, Perry urged the business community to cultivate the Portuguese shopper by advertising in local Portuguese newspapers and radio shows, developing trade line attractive to the Portuguese, and most importantly by hiring Portuguese management and sales staff.

CRLS kids get job training through CCS TeenWork

Two hundred Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School students are currently attending a series of job-training workshops as part of the 1984 TeenWork program.

TeenWork is a youth employment program which secures jobs for Cambridge teens in local businesses and organizations. This year the program aims to place 300 students in summer jobs.

To be eligible for the TeenWork program, students must have good school grades, good attendance, submit teacher recommendations, and be at least 16 years old. In addition, all TeenWork students are required to attend four job-readiness workshops. The workshops review the fundamentals of securing employment including what to say and do on a job interview, how to fill out a job application, and on-the-job behavior. Students are also briefed on a variety of employment-related issues ranging from what to wear to a professional office job to how to open a savings account.

TeenWork is a program of Cambridge Community Services in joint sponsorship with the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce, Employment Resources Private Industry Council, and Just-A-Start. Additional program support is provided by the Cambridge School Department and the Department of Human Service Programs.

Participating businesses hire TeenWork students for the summer and/or contribute funds to sponsor the hiring of students by non-profit organizations. Students work in a variety of jobs ranging from office assistant to computer programmer to hospital dietary aide. Participants in the 1984 TeenWork program to date include:

never supplied the city with written plans for an emergency, would not allow the Fire Department on the premises in case of fire, and had not informed the city building department that the new facility would be used for nerve gas testing when the company applied for building permits.

For his part, Bracken cited a report on the matter by a private consultant hired by the city, saying the consultant had concluded that a "catastrophe" was unlikely.

An affadavit by Dr. Brian Murphy, the city's environmental consultant, was submitted this week to buttress the city's case for a regulation to halt nerve gas and blister agent testing here.

The city hired Murphy in late March to assess the risks involved with the nerve gas testing being done by Arthur D. Little Inc. at its Acorn Park facilities

Murphy works for the TRC Corporation, an environmental consulting company based in East Hartford, Conn.

On March 13, Health and Hospitals Commissioner Dr. Melvin Chalfen issued an order banning the testing, transportation, storage, and disposal of certain nerve gas and blister agents within the city limits.

The materials prohibited are Soman-GD, Sarin-GB, VX, Mustard-HD, and Lewisite, and ADL has a Department of Defense contract to test the agents in its Phillip I. Levins Chemical Surety Laboratory.

Despite the order, though, ADL continues to test the nerve gas and blister agents, because the company was able on March 16 to secure a temporary restraining order against the city's enforcement of its regulation.

Since the initial restraining order was imposed, Superior Court Judge Joseph Mitchell has continued it until today's court hearing.

ADL, which continues to do its testing, contends that its facilities are safe and that the testing poses no threat to the surrounding communities.

The city, meanwhile, wanting more information on nerve gas testing and its implications, hired Murphy and convened a Scientific Advisory Committee.

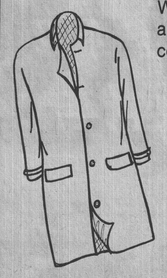

According to Chalfen's order, the nerve gas and blister agents are hazardous in the event of an accident.

The Scientific Advisory Committee, which was slow in forming, has been meeting regularly in recent weeks to examine the nerve gas issue and will continue its meetings in the weeks ahead.

The schedule is as follows: May 9, 7:30 pm, city council chambers; May 16, 7:30 pm, council chambers; May 23, 7:30 pm, the Ackermann Room in City Hall; and May 30, 7:30 pm, the Ackermann Room.

Portuguese can be economic force, Rotarians are told

The Portuguese community is an economic force to be cultivated by Cambridge businesses, Robert J. Perry, president of the Cambridge Organization of Portuguese Americans (COPA), told members of the Cambridge Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon meeting at Fantasia's last Thursday.

Perry said that 10 percent of Cambridge's population is of Portuguese descent. In addition, he said that 40 percent of the businesses on Cambridge Street in East Cambridge are Portuguese owned, including many businesses which are not generally thought of as being owned by Portuguese.

Perry pinpointed a 550 percent growth in assets by the Cambridge Portuguese Credit Union (from $5 million to $28 million) since the opening of its new facility in Inman Square in 1974 as a prime example of the economic potential of the Portuguese Community. He also noted the $3 million Saint Anthony's Church Parish Center being built totally from community donations as another example of the community's economic viability.

Perry said a strong commitment to education in the Portuguese community is being developed with a decrease in the dropout rate and an increase in the number of high school students attending college. He also said that many Portuguese are receiving master's degrees and PhD's, developing trained professionals in the areas of law, computer technology, accounting, and management — all of which will ensure the continued economic growth of the community.

Perry stated that COPA, while serving the social service needs of lower income Portuguese immigrants and helping the community to overcome the problems of immigration, is also encouraging the Portuguese community to become more active in civic affairs. He pointed to the Portuguese Americans Concerned with Education (PACE) and the Portuguese Cable TV Advisory Committee as examples of this involvement, while predicting that the Portuguese will become very active in the local politial scene in the next few years.

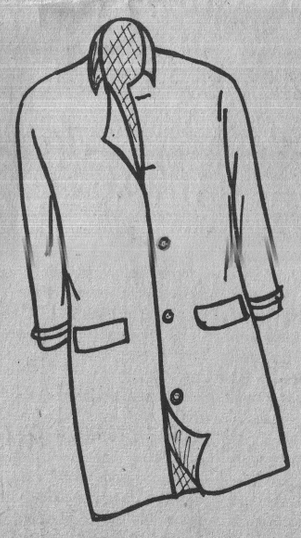

Finally, Perry urged the business community to cultivate the Portuguese shopper by advertising in local Portuguese newspapers and radio shows, developing trade line attractive to the Portuguese, and most importantly by hiring Portuguese management and sales staff.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Sang Won Park, Trustee of U.S. Asia Trust, to Marie Ann Kashmanian and Phyllis E. LaMarca, Trustees of Ocean View Park Realty Trust, dated June 3, 1982 and recorded with the Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, in Book 14627, Page 232, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at Public Auction at 10:00 o'clock a.m., on Thursday, May 17, 1984 on the premises below described being known as 215-223 Prospect Street, in Cambridge, Middlesex County, Massachusetts and being described as follows, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on Prospect Street, at the junction of Summer Street, Cambridge, now known as St. Mary's Road, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, said buildings being numbered 215-223 Prospect Street, bounded and described as follows:-

Beginning on the Northerly corner of said streets, thence running Westerly on said Summer Street, fifty-six feet six inches to land lately conveyed to Hanson; thence turning and running Northerly by said Land of Hanson, sixty-six feet to land of owners unknown; thence turning at a right angle and running Easterly by said land of persons unknown, fifty-six feet six inches to Prospect Street, sixty-six feet to the point of beginning on said corner.

Containing 3,729 square feet of land.

Being the same premises conveyed to Marie Ann Kashmanian et aliud as Trustees, by deed of Joseph P. DiCarlo; said Deed dated July 11, 1979, recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, in Book 13738, Page 477.

Being the same premises conveyed to the Mortgagor by deed of the Mortgagee; said deed dated June 3, 1982, and recorded herewith, in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds.

This is a purchase price mortgage given simultaneously with a receipt by the Mortgagor of a deed conveying title to said premises from the Mortgagee to the Mortgagor. The said mortgage is given to secure a part of the purchase price; and the said mortgage is part of the same transaction. The indebtedness secured hereby is the said Promissory Note of the Mortgagor to the Mortgagee in the sum of $70,000.00, and covers a part of the purchase price for the premises.

Included as a part of the realty and subject to the lien of this mortgage are all portable or sectional buildings, heating apparatus, plumbing, ranges, mantels, storm doors and windows, oil burners, gas and oil and electric fixtures, screens, screen doors, awnings, combination storm and screen doors and windows, elevators, air conditioning apparatus, incinerators, and other fixtures of whatever kind and nature (including all existing and installed wall-to-wall carpeting) upon said premises, or hereafter placed thereon, prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage, insofar as the same are or can by agreement of the parties be made a part of the realty.

The above premises will be sold subject as above and to all outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, and liens, if any.

Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars will be required to be paid in cash or by certified check or by Bank Cashier's Check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale as earnest money. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check within twenty (20) days thereafter to be deposited in escrow with Frank N. Dardeno, Jr., Esquire, at 424 Broadway, in Somerville, Massachusetts 02145, pending approval of said sale by the Land Court. Other terms, if any, to be announced at the sale.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
In the Year One Thousand, Nine Hundred Eighty-Four
AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled: "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge".

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled: "Offenses," Section 13-4 entitled: "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance Number 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e½) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer than twenty-five (25) persons. Nor shall this subsection apply to any area with a seating capacity of fewer than seventy-five (75) persons, which is used primarily for selling alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises and in which any sale of food or presentation of entertainment is incidental to the sale of such beverages.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j) the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

This ordinance shall take effect on July 1 1984.

In City Council April 23 1984.

Passed to be ordained as amended by a yea and nay vote: Yeas 6 Nays 2 Absent 1.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed you will find three proposed amendments to the General Ordinances which were passed to be ordained at the City Council meeting held on April 23, 1984, as follows:

1. Proposed amendment to Chapter Four entitled "Animals" by adding a new Article IV entitled "Animals Constituting a Nuisance".

2. Proposed amendment to add a new Chapter Twenty-Four entitled "Cambridge Employment Plan".

3. Proposed amendment to Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses" by adding a new section (e½) relative to smoking in restaurants.

Also enclosed you will find two proposed amendments to the General Ordinances which were passed to a second reading at the City Council meeting held on April 23, 1984, as follows:

1. Proposed amendment to Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses" by adding a new section 13-17A entitled "Use of Dangerous Materials in Construction of Fences".

2. Proposed amendment to Chapter Seventeen entitled "Public Works" by striking our sections 17-52 thru 17-63 and substituting in place thereof new sections regarding the construction, operation and maintenance of sewers.

Would you review these amendments and indicate your approval or disapproval on the bottom of the enclosed amendments and return to this office.

Your kind attention in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled: "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge".

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Four entitled: "Animals" is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new Article IV entitled: "Animals Constituting a Nuisance", containing section 4-20 which shall read as follows:

ARTICLE IV. ANIMALS CONSTITUTING A NUISANCE

Section 4-20. American Staffordshire Terrier, a/k/a American Pit Bull Terrier or Bull Terrier.

No owner, or person having the care of, any American Staffordshire Terrier, a/k/a American Pit Bull Terrier or Bull Terrier, shall permit it to be off his own premises, whether leashed or unleashed, unless it is wearing a muzzle.

In this section, the word "muzzle" means a device constructed of strong, soft material or a metal muzzle such as that used commercially with greyhounds. The muzzle must be made in a manner which will not cause injury to the dog or interfere with its vision or respiration, but must prevent it from biting any person or animal.

Any person who violates this section shall be subject to a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300.00) for each offense.

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge."

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

The Code of the City of Cambridge is hereby amended by adding thereto a new Chapter 24, as follows:

CHAPTER 24

EMPLOYMENT

Section 24-1. Establishment of Cambridge Employment Plan

The Cambridge Employment Plan, as set forth in the following sections, is hereby established.

Section 24-2. Definitions

The following words as used in this Chapter 24, shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the following meanings:

"Applicable Areas" are those areas in which the Cambridge Employment Plan is in effect; namely, the following major commercial and industrial zoning districts of the City: Office 2, Office 3, Office 3A, all business districts except Business A and A-1, all industrial districts, all PUD districts, the MXD district and all Commercial Area Revitalization Districts. Additional Applicable Areas may be designated by the City Manager.

"Cambridge Resident" is a person whose primary residence is in the City of Cambridge.

"Developer" is the person, corporation, partnership or other business entity which is the proponent of the project.

"Employment and Training Agency" is a Massachusetts non-profit corporation which is designated by the City Manager to carry out the employment and training program as defined in this Ordinance.

"Project" means a project covered by this Chapter 24; namely, new construction, expansion or alteration of a building occupied by a principal use which is listed in the following subsections of the Table of Use Regulations (§4.30) in the Cambridge Zoning Ordinance:

4.31(i)(2)	(hotel or motel)
4.34	(office and laboratory)

Section 24-3. Objectives of the Cambridge Employment Plan

The Cambridge Employment Plan has the following objectives:

(1) To ensure that local resources are wisely invested in those applicable areas where there is maximum promise that the benefits that accrue, including employment opportunities, will be made available to Cambridge residents.

(2) To maintain and to increase, whenever possible, the current percentage of Cambridge jobs held by Cambridge residents (25%), by promoting the hiring of qualified unemployed and underemployed Cambridge residents.

(3) To promote the hiring of qualified unemployed and underemployed women and minorities who are Cambridge residents.

(4) To provide employers with a central location for disseminating and receiving information on all facets of employment and training resources in Cambridge.

Section 24-4. Responsibility of the Developer

In any Applicable Area, the Cambridge Inspectional Services Department shall not issue a building permit for any project until the developer signs an agreement with the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager to achieve the objectives set forth in §24-3. In such agreement, the developer shall agree to:

(a) Notify the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager of all job opportunities of which it has knowledge or over which it has hiring control. Jobs include, but are not limited to, construction, manufacturing, clerical, technician, maintenance, and security jobs.

(b) Place appropriate job announcements in the Cambridge news media prior to placing such announcements outside Cambridge.

(c) Notify businesses which occupy the project building of the services available through the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager and the Cambridge Community Development Department.

(d) Inform each such business about the objectives and goals of the Cambridge Employment Plan.

(e) Provide the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager with the names of all new businesses moving into the project building and the names of their contact persons.

(f) Set goals and indicate procedures whereby Cambridge residents would obtain jobs with the developer.

(g) Report periodically, in writing, to the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager, the number of Cambridge residents hired under the agreement, together with whatever other information the agreement requires.

(h) Include in every lease a provision requiring the tenant to sign an agreement as provided in subsections (a)-(g) with the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager.

Section 24-5. Responsibility of City of Cambridge

Recognizing the City's obligation to provide assistance to the private sector under the Cambridge Employment Plan and its commitment to the employment of Cambridge residents, the City, acting through its Community Development Department, agrees to

(1) Provide an attractive overall environment to encourage private investment by properly planning and administering economic and urban design improvement strategies in applicable areas.

(2) Assist in financing of commercial, industrial and housing development.

The City, acting through its job training organization (the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager), agrees to

(1) Establish a central clearinghouse where developers and new firms can provide job information for dissemination to appropriate agencies and receive a wide array of information on tax credits, training programs and other services pertaining to training and employment needs.

(2) Maintain a readily accessible job recruitment and listing system so that eligible Cambridge residents can be quickly placed in available jobs.

(3) Commit the necessary resources in the development of appropriate job training programs consisting primarily of "on-the-job" and "tailored classroom" training.

Section 24-6. Severability

Should any section, provision or paragraph of this Chapter 24 be declared invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, that decision shall not affect the validity of the Chapter as a whole or any part thereof, other than the portion so declared to be invalid.

In City Council April 23, 1984.

ORDINANCE NO. 1006

Final Publication No. 2231. First publication in the Chronicle on April 12, 1984.

City of Cambridge

In the Year One Thousand, Nine Hundred Eighty-Four

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled: "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge".

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled: "Offenses," Section 13-4 entitled: "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance Number 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e½) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer than twenty-five (25) persons. Nor shall this subsection apply to any area with a seating capacity of fewer than seventy-five (75) persons, which is used primarily for selling alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises and in which any sale of food or presentation of entertainment is incidental to the sale of such beverages.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j), the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

This ordinance shall take effect on July 1, 1984.

In City Council April 23, 1984.

Passed to be ordained as amended by a yea and nay vote: Yeas 6; Nays 2; Absent 1.

In order that the smoking/no-smoking ordinance be maximally effective

it is ordered that

A committee be set up immediately by the City Manager to

1. consider clean air standards by which to enforce the Ordinance;
2. evaluate and present requirements for non-smoking areas;
3. determine whether it is possible to maintain high clean air standards through the use of "smoke-eaters" or other technological methods as an alternative to assigning non-smoking seating.

The Committee, appointed by the City Manager, should include a representative of inspectional services, citizens, appropriate professionals, and representatives of the various groups interested in this ordinance and should reports its findings to the City Council by June 1.

Re: Proposed Ordinance Regulating Smoking in Restaurants

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide the members of the Cambridge City Council with a framework for a voluntary program to allow the restaurant community in the city to respond to the council's concern for facilities to accommodate customers' preferences in the area of smoking.

BACKGROUND

The City is once again considering mandatory regulations governing smoking and nonsmoking sections. This is the third time since 1980. In each of the previous attempts at regulation, the restaurant community has suggested that it is not adverse to the idea, and would respond to it on a voluntary basis.

The fact is, that all of the members of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, all of those who presented testimony and many members of the Cambridge Liquor License Association did provide for this area of customer preference. The problem is that those who have responded do not encompass the vast majority of the restaurants in the City of Cambridge. The resulting impression has been that the restaurant community has been remiss in its responsibility to provide this service on a voluntary basis.

However, neither the City Council, the Board of Health or the restaurant community took an active role in fostering a cooperative approach to the problem. If any of those groups had taken some general positive action, then I do not think that we would be back before the Council in 1984.

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As an alternative to the proposed ordinance, let me suggest the following plan of action:

City Council Action

1. TABLE currently proposed ordinance;

2. ADOPT suggested alternative "resolution";

3. REVIEW implemented voluntary programs' progress at City Council meetings on May 7, July 2, October 1, 1984 and January 7, 1985.

4. ENACT tabled ordinance at any point when the Council is not satisfied with the progress of the voluntary programs.

Restaurant Community Action

1. Investigation Phase

A. Determine an accurate list of the restaurants of the City of Cambridge (with the help of the Department of Inspection Services).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/16/84

B. Contact each restaurant by letter to determine current program (provide return envelope).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/23/84

C. Follow-up with each non-responding restaurant by phone.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

D. Determine the types of air purification and circulation systems avialable for retrofit.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

E. Determine the types of voluntary approaches in use elsewhere.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

F. Report findings to the City Council.

REPORT DATE: 5/7/84

2. Implementation Phase

A. Provide each restaurant with a copy of the report to the City Council.

COMPLETION DATE 5/14/84

B. Provide each restaurant in the City (at a minimal - cost only - charge) with the following materials:
   1. Door decal.
   2. Entry area poster.
   3. Initial supply of table tents.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/11/84

C. Utilize available media to inform the public of the availability of this area of customer service.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/18/84

D. Contact a representative sample of restaurants in the city to determine restaurant and customer response.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/25/84

E. Report to the City Council.

REPORT DATE: 7/2/84

3. Follow-up Phase

A. Communicate with each restaurant to survey program implementation, utilization and future action;

COMPLETION DATE: 9/23/84

B. Report to the City Council

REPORT DATES: October 1, 1984 and January 7, 1985.

C. Continue to make decals and table tents available to the restaurant community through a third party vendor at a reduced price.

COMPLETION DATE: On-going

D. Survey restaurant community on a semi-annual basis during july and December of 1985 and 1986.

E. Report findings of surveys to the City Council.

Conclusion

It is my opinion that this program can be accomplished with the cooperation of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, the Greater Boston Hotel and Motor Inn Association, the Cambridge Liquor License Association and the various agencies of the City of Cambridge. It would be a clear example of the ability of government and the private sector to work together. Further, it would eliminate the need for legislative action, legal action and the fear of legal action.

I hope that you can agree to allow the restaurants to implement the proposed action, before saddling us with additional, unnecessary regulations.

Re: Proposed Ordinance Regulating Smoking in Restaurants

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide the members of the Cambridge City Council with a framework for a voluntary program to allow the restaurant community in the city to respond to the council's concern for facilities to accommodate customers' preferences in the area of smoking.

BACKGROUND

The City is once again considering mandatory regulations governing smoking and nonsmoking sections. This is the third time since 1980. In each of the previous attempts at regulation, the restaurant community has suggested that it is not adverse to the idea, and would respond to it on a voluntary basis.

The fact is, that all of the members of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, all of those who presented testimony and many members of the Cambridge Liquor License Association did provide for this area of customer preference. The problem is that those who have responded do not encompass the vast majority of the restaurants in the City of Cambridge. The resulting impression has been that the restaurant community has been remiss in its responsibility to provide this service on a voluntary basis.

However, neither the City Council, the Board of Health or the restaurant community took an active role in fostering a cooperative approach to the problem. If any of those groups had taken some general positive action, then I do not think that we would be back before the Council in 1984.

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As an alternative to the proposed ordinance, let me suggest the following plan of action:

City Council Action

1. TABLE currently proposed ordinance;
2. ADOPT suggested alternative "resolution";
3. REVIEW implemented voluntary programs' progress at City Council meetings on May 7, July 2, October 1, 1984 and January 7, 1985.

4. ENACT tabled ordinance at any point when the Council is not satisfied with the progress of the voluntary programs.

Restaurant Community Action

1. Investigation Phase

A. Determine an accurate list of the restaurants of the City of Cambridge (with the help of the Department of Inspection Services).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/16/84

B. Contact each restaurant by letter to determine current program (provide return envelope).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/23/84

C. Follow-up with each non-responding restaurant by phone.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

D. Determine the types of air purification and circulation systems avialable for retrofit.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

E. Determine the types of voluntary approaches in use elsewhere.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

F. Report findings to the City Council.

REPORT DATE: 5/7/84

2. Implementation Phase

A. Provide each restaurant with a copy of the report to the City Council.

COMPLETION DATE 5/14/84

B. Provide each restaurant in the City (at a minimal - cost only - charge) with the following materials:
   1. Door decal.
   2. Entry area poster.
   3. Initial supply of table tents.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/11/84

C. Utilize available media to inform the public of the availability of this area of customer service.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/18/84

D. Contact a representative sample of restaurants in the city to determine restaurant and customer response.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/25/84

E. Report to the City Council.

REPORT DATE: 7/2/84

3. Follow-up Phase

A. Communicate with each restaurant to survey program implementation, utilization and future action;

COMPLETION DATE: 9/23/84

B. Report to the City Council

REPORT DATES: October 1, 1984 and January 7, 1985.

C. Continue to make decals and table tents available to the restaurant community through a third party vendor at a reduced price.

COMPLETION DATE: On-going

D. Survey restaurant community on a semi-annual basis during july and December of 1985 and 1986.

E. Report findings of surveys to the City Council.

Conclusion

It is my opinion that this program can be accomplished with the cooperation of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, the Greater Boston Hotel and Motor Inn Association, the Cambridge Liquor License Association and the various agencies of the City of Cambridge. It would be a clear example of the ability of government and the private sector to work together. Further, it would eliminate the need for legislative action, legal action and the fear of legal action.

I hope that you can agree to allow the restaurants to implement the proposed action, before saddling us with additional, unnecessary regulations.

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge".

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses," section 13-4 entitled "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance No. 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e 1/2) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer then twenty-five (25) persons. (1) (1) Russell amend.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no-smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j), the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

(2) ~~It shall apply on~~ July 1, 1984 (2) effective

Passed to a second reading at the City Council meeting held on April 9, 1984 and on or after April 23, 1984 the question comes on passing to be ordained.

It would be a clear example of the ability of government and the private sector to work together. Further, it would eliminate the need for legislative action, legal action and the fear of legal action.

I hope that you can agree to allow the restaurants to implement the proposed action, before saddling us with additional, unnecessary regulations.

Re: Proposed Ordinance Regulating Smoking in Restaurants

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide the members of the Cambridge City Council with a framework for a voluntary program to allow the restaurant community in the city to respond to the council's concern for facilities to accommodate customers' preferences in the area of smoking.

BACKGROUND

The City is once again considering mandatory regulations governing smoking and nonsmoking sections. This is the third time since 1980. In each of the previous attempts at regulation, the restaurant community has suggested that it is not adverse to the idea, and would respond to it on a voluntary basis.

The fact is, that all of the members of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, all of those who presented testimony and many members of the Cambridge Liquor License Association did provide for this area of customer preference. The problem is that those who have responded do not encompass the vast majority of the restaurants in the City of Cambridge. The resulting impression has been that the restaurant community has been remiss in its responsibility to provide this service on a voluntary basis.

However, neither the City Council, the Board of Health or the restaurant community took an active role in fostering a cooperative approach to the problem. If any of those groups had taken some general positive action, then I do not think that we would be back before the Council in 1984.

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As an alternative to the proposed ordinance, let me suggest the following plan of action:

City Council Action

1. TABLE currently proposed ordinance;
2. ADOPT suggested alternative "resolution";
3. REVIEW implemented voluntary programs' progress at City Council meetings on May 7, July 2, October 1, 1984 and January 7, 1985.

4. ENACT tabled ordinance at any point when the Council is not satisfied with the progress of the voluntary programs.

Restaurant Community Action

1. Investigation Phase

A. Determine an accurate list of the restaurants of the City of Cambridge (with the help of the Department of Inspection Services).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/16/84

B. Contact each restaurant by letter to determine current program (provide return envelope).

COMPLETION DATE: 4/23/84

C. Follow-up with each non-responding restaurant by phone.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

D. Determine the types of air purification and circulation systems avialable for retrofit.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

E. Determine the types of voluntary approaches in use elsewhere.

COMPLETION DATE: 4/30/84

F. Report findings to the City Council.

REPORT DATE: 5/7/84

2. Implementation Phase

A. Provide each restaurant with a copy of the report to the City Council.

COMPLETION DATE 5/14/84

B. Provide each restaurant in the City (at a minimal - cost only - charge) with the following materials:
   1. Door decal.
   2. Entry area poster.
   3. Initial supply of table tents.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/11/84

C. Utilize available media to inform the public of the availability of this area of customer service.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/18/84

D. Contact a representative sample of restaurants in the city to determine restaurant and customer response.

COMPLETION DATE: 6/25/84

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge".

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses," section 13-4 entitled "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance No. 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e 1/2) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer then twenty-five (25) persons.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no-smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j), the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

Passed to a second reading at the City Council meeting held on April 9, 1984 and on or after April 23, 1984 the question comes on passing to be ordained.

AN ORDINANCE

In amendment to an ordinance formerly entitled "The General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge" as revised in 1972 and now designated as "The Code of the City of Cambridge."

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

The Code of the City of Cambridge is hereby amended by adding thereto a new Chapter 24, as follows:

CHAPTER 24

EMPLOYMENT

Section 24-1. Establishment of Cambridge Employment Plan

The Cambridge Employment Plan, as set forth in the following sections, is hereby established.

Section 24-2. Definitions

The following words as used in this Chapter 24, shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the following meanings:

"Applicable Areas" are those areas in which the Cambridge Employment Plan is in effect; namely, the following major commercial and industrial zoning districts of the City: Office 2, Office 3, Office 3A, all business districts except Business A and A-1, all industrial districts, all PUD districts, the MXD district and all Commercial Area Revitalization Districts. Additional Applicable Areas may be designated by the City Manager.

"Cambridge Resident" is a person whose primary residence is in the City of Cambridge.

"Developer" is the person, corporation, partnership or other business entity which is the proponent of the project.

"Employment and Training Agency" is a Massachusetts non-profit corporation which is designated by the City Manager to carry out the employment and training program as defined in this Ordinance.

"Project" means a project covered by this Chapter 24; namely, new construction, expansion or alteration of a building occupied by a principal use which is listed in the following subsections of the Table of Use Regulations (§4.30) in the Cambridge Zoning Ordinance:

4.31(i)(2)	(hotel or motel)
4.34	(office and laboratory)
4.35	(retail business and consumer service)
4.36	(drive-in retail and service)
4.37	(light industry, wholesale business and storage)
4.38	(heavy industry)

Section 24-3. Objectives of the Cambridge Employment Plan

The Cambridge Employment Plan has the following objectives:

(1) To ensure that local resources are wisely invested in those applicable areas where there is maximum promise that the benefits that accrue, including employment opportunities, will be made available to Cambridge residents.

(2) To maintain and to increase, whenever possible, the current percentage of Cambridge jobs held by Cambridge residents (25%), by promoting the hiring of qualified unemployed and underemployed Cambridge residents.

(3) To promote the hiring of qualified unemployed and underemployed women and minorities who are Cambridge residents.

(4) To provide employers with a central location for disseminating and receiving information on all facets of employment and training resources in Cambridge.

Section 24-4. Responsibility of the Developer

In any Applicable Area, the Cambridge Inspectional Services Department shall not issue a building permit for any project until the developer signs an agreement with the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager to achieve the objectives set forth in §24-3. In such agreement, the developer shall agree to:

(a) Notify the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager of all job opportunities of which it has knowledge or over which it has hiring control. Jobs include, but are not limited to, construction, manufacturing, clerical, technician, maintenance, and security jobs.

(b) Place appropriate job announcements in the Cambridge news media prior to placing such announcements outside Cambridge.

(c) Notify businesses which occupy the project building of the services available through the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager and the Cambridge Community Development Department.

(d) Inform each such business about the objectives and goals of the Cambridge Employment Plan.

(e) Provide the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager with the names of all new businesses moving into the project building and the names of their contact persons.

(f) Set goals and indicate procedures whereby Cambridge residents would obtain jobs with the developer.

(g) Report periodically, in writing, to the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager, the number of Cambridge residents hired under the agreement, together with whatever other information the agreement requires.

(h) Include in every lease a provision requiring the tenant to sign an agreement as provided in subsections (a)-(g) with the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager.

Section 24-5. Responsibility of City of Cambridge

Recognizing the City's obligation to provide assistance to the private sector under the Cambridge Employment Plan and its commitment to the employment of Cambridge residents, the City, acting through its Community Development Department, agrees to

(1) Provide an attractive overall environment to encourage private investment by properly planning and administering economic and urban design improvement strategies in applicable areas.

(2) Assist in financing of commercial, industrial and housing development.

The City, acting through its job training organization (the Employment and Training Agency designated by the City Manager), agrees to

(1) Establish a central clearinghouse where developers and new firms can provide job information for dissemination to appropriate agencies and receive a wide array of information on tax credits, training programs and other services pertaining to training and employment needs.

(2) Maintain a readily accessible job recruitment and listing system so that eligible Cambridge residents can be quickly placed in available jobs.

(3) Commit the necessary resources in the development of appropriate job training programs consisting primarily of "on-the-job" and "tailored classroom" training.

Section 24-6. Severability

Should any section, provision or paragraph of this Chapter 24 be declared invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, that decision shall not affect the validity of the Chapter as a whole or any part thereof, other than the portion so declared to be invalid.

Passed to a second reading at the City Council meeting held on April 9, 1984 and on or after April 23, 1984 the question comes on passing to be ordained.

INDOOR AIR POLLUTION FROM TOBACCO SMOKE

Objective:

To provide a quantitative basis for assessing the health hazards to nonsmokers posed by repeated exposure to tobacco combustion products.

Methods of Approach:

A systematic study of the levels of respirable suspended particulates (RSP) in several common indoor environments was undertaken in order to (1) determine the relation of these levels to the aerosol from tobacco smoking; (2) understand the effect of ventilation on tobacco smoke concentrations; and (3) develop a general model for estimating the range of the public's exposure.

Results to Date:

Indoor air pollution from smoking is found to be worse than outdoor air pollution from highway traffic, in terms of RSP concentrations observed. A field survey of air pollution levels in 38 indoor environments, including restaurants, dinner dances, bowling alleys, bingo games, offices, and private residences where smoking occurred, has found levels of RSP pollution to exceed Federal outdoor air quality criteria. Similar environments where people were not smoking were found to be in compliance with these criteria. Existing ventilation design has been found to be inadequate to control levels of tobacco smoke to within Federal air quality standards. All practical increases in ventilation rates are found to be ineffective in controlling indoor air pollution from tobacco smoke, and are contrary to current efforts to achieve energy conservation in new buildings. Cigarette smoke is a proven human carcinogen that is more than 50,000 times as potent as saccharin and more than 10 times as potent as the fire-retardant tris. Strong evidence supports a correlation between the magnitude of long term exposure to carcinogens and the incidence of cancer. In view of the widespread exposure of nonsmokers to tobacco smoke, it can be said that passive smoking may carry with it an increased risk of cancer. Prevention of involuntary exposure to tobacco smoke in public places, including the workplace, must now become an urgent public health legislative priority. Limited data from these experiments indicate that nonsmoking sections in large restaurants can be effective in limiting the exposure of nonsmokers to tobacco particulates.

Smoke (both mainstream and sidestream) is a complex mixture of gases, liquid droplets, and solid particles dispersed in air. The gases remain in air until fresh air pushes them away. The droplets and particles are of a fine enough particle size to remain in air for a long period. Eventually they stick to walls, clothing, hair, and any other surfaces in the environment.

Various "air cleaners" have been proposed to cope with smoke indoors. An electrostatic precipitator removes droplets and particles (.01 to 0.40 microns in size) from air with high efficiency. Since some of the gases of smoke stick to the droplets and particles, these are removed by the electrostatic precipitator also. Unfortunately, more than 90% of tobacco smoke is made up of gas molecules that are so tiny (.0002 to .01 microns) they can not be removed by electrostatic precipitation. Equally ineffective are "ion generators" which purport to remove particles, but not gas molecules, from air.

Among the gases found in tobacco smoke are carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, nitrogen oxides, ammonia, volatile N-nitrosamines, hydrogen cyanide and cyanogen, sulfur compounds, nitriles, hydrocarbons, alcohols, aldehydes, and ketones. These chemicals have been implicated in the develpment of lung disease, heart disease, and cancer in humans. In terms of immediate symptoms, these gases (especially carbon monoxide) have been strongly associated with nausea, dizziness, headache, loss of memory, difficulty in concentration, and other psychomotor functions. Unfortunately, current technologies such as electrostatic precipitators and ion generators can not remove these gases. The only practical way to deal with the accumulation of toxic gases is to remove the source - eliminate smoking in confined spaces.

Indoor air pollution from smoking is found to be worse than outdoor air pollution from highway traffic, in terms of RSP concentrations observed. A field survey of air pollution levels in 38 indoor environments, including restaurants, dinner dances, bowling alleys, bingo games, offices, and private residences where smoking occurred, has found levels of RSP pollution to exceed Federal outdoor air quality criteria. Similar environments where people were not smoking were found to be in compliance with these criteria. Existing ventilation design has been found to be inadequate to control levels of tobacco smoke to within Federal air quality standards. All practical increases in ventilation rates are found to be ineffective in controlling indoor air pollution from tobacco smoke, and are contrary to current efforts to achieve energy conservation in new buildings. Cigarette smoke is a proven human carcinogen that is more than 50,000 times as potent as saccharin and more than 10 times as potent as the fire-retardant tris. Strong evidence supports a correlation between the magnitude of long term exposure to carcinogens and the incidence of cancer. In view of the widespread exposure of nonsmokers to tobacco smoke, it can be said that passive smoking may carry with it an increased risk of cancer. Prevention of involuntary exposure to tobacco smoke in public places, including the workplace, must now become an urgent public health legislative priority. Limited data from these experiments indicate that nonsmoking sections in large restaurants can be effective in limiting the exposure of nonsmokers to tobacco particulates.

The Ordinance Committee comprised of the entire membership of the City Council to which was referred a proposed amendment to the General Ordinances of the City of Cambridge which would amend Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses", Article II entitled "Offenses Against Public Health", Section 13-4 entitled "Smoking Prohibited" by the insertion of a new subsection (e½) after paragraph (e) in said section 13-4. The proposed amendment would require the designation of certain areas in restaurants for smoking which would not exceed more than seventy-five percent of the seating capacity and provide that not less than twenty-five percent be reserved for non smokers. The proposed amendment provides that the restaurants erect physical barriers and ventiliation systems to minimize the total effect of smoke and would further provide that restaurants with a seating capacity of less than twenty-five persons be exempt.

Councillor David Sullivan, Chairman, presided and called for the proponents to be heard.

The Committee heard from first Councillor David Sullivan who relinquished the Chair to Councillor Walter Sullivan, and outlined the health factor involved in passive smoke, the public inconveniences to which non smokers are exposed and the privilege of both non smokers and smokers to be free to enjoy their meals without oppression in any way.

Councillor David Sullivan then again assumed the Chair and the Committee heard from Edward L. Sweda, Jr. of 172 Boston Street, Boston, MA, representing GASP of MASS who stressed the danger caused by second hand smoke, the duty of the tobacco industry to refute the evidence if they can, and in the absence of such proof the need for voluntary compliance for restaurants. His statement is appended to the record and marked Appendix A.

REPORT

Committee on Ordinance

Proposed amendment to the General Ordinance of the City of Cambridge relative to smoking in restaurants.

In City Council,

April 9, 1984

The Committee heard from Dr. Richard Havas, Deputy Commissioner of Massachusetts Department of Public Health, who read his statement of the evidence of the danger caused by cigarette smoking, the increasing evidence of the potentially serious health effects caused by smoking on non-smokers exposed to smoke and finally the data which indicates strong public support for ordinances of the type being considered by the Committee. His statement is appended to the record and marked Appendix B.

Recorded in favor of the proposed ordinance was David Wilson, of 15 Kennedy Road who outlined his experience with voluntary compliance in a local restaurant. He urged the adoption of the proposed ordinance and cited the good results achieved in other localities where compliance is mandated by law.

Kenneth Goode of 121 Walker Street was recorded in favor and stressed the theme that smokers should not be permitted to burden the restaurants patrons who do not smoke and are out for a good evening meal; he stressed the need for separate areas to solve the problem.

An unidentified witness stated that only smokers are inconvenienced when tables are held, since the demand for non smoking areas exceeds requests for smoking areas.

The Committee was in receipt of a communication from Commissioner Joseph Cellucci of Inspectional Services, who registered his support for the proposed ordinance and stated that upon passage, enforcement will be facilitated. His communication is appended to the record and designated as Appendix C.

The Committee heard from Stuart Cleland of 3 Fifth Street, Cambridge and two residents, one of 11 Hilliard Street and the second of 45 Granite Street, all recorded in favor.

At six o'clock and seventeen minutes p. m. the Chair declared the hearing for the proponents closed and called for the opposition to appear.

The Committee heard from John Alberts of the A & S Restaurant, Cambridge Street who recorded himself as opposed on the basis that he wished to run his own business, the problem of enforcement which he declared was physically impossible.

In answer to questions by Councillor Wolf he stressed the problem of locating the non smoking area in a small restaurant.

Carol Brownman Snider of the Cambridge Holiday Inn registered their opposition and suggested that non smokers can be placed away from smokers tables and stated that the problem of ventiliation differed in all restaurants.

Councillor Vellucci inquired as to how many restaurants have Smoke Eaters.

Sheldon Cox representing the Hyatt Regency, registered his opposition stating no business had ever been lost because of the smoking problem and that areas designated for non smoking were never filled, that handling large groups of sixteen to twenty people created a problem where some wished to smoke and stressed the problem of enforcement.

Michael Karras of 40 Pearl Street stated that ninety percent of his clientele did smoke, that a twenty-five percent allocation for non-smokers created a problem since the other ten percent who associated with them did not smoke and stated that he had no demand from his patrons for non-smoking areas. In answer to questions by Councillor Wolf, he stated he had a capacity of one hundred thirty-six seats and restrictions on smoking would hurt his business, that enforcementwould be a problem.

Councillor David Sullivan stated that all that is required is to ask and that patrons would honor a request that the ordinance would be enforceable and is supported by the Inspectional Services Department which would ensure its enforceability, that restaurants with less than twenty-five seats were exempt.

Mr. Karras stated that the Health Department should be in charge of the quality of area inspections.

Councillor Vellucci stated that all restaurants should receive copies of the ordinance and make suggestions, that otherwise it would pass as submitted.

The Committee heard from John Coyne Esquire, representing the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, and submitted a resolution in opposition signed by owners of forty-three restaurants in Cambridge. His resolution and signatures are designated as Appendix D and attached to the record.

Frank Ryan of Paddy's Bar registered his oppostion. He stated that he had sixty seats and that the small restaurant deserved consideration.

Edward G. McCann, Jr. representing the Greater Boston Hotel Association, recorded his group in opposition and questioned the quality of enforcement in those cities and towns which adopted the non-smoking areas. He further stated that a study should be instituted in these towns where restrictions were in effect, and that a voluntary approach should be in effect for one year and that the restrictions adopted by the City of Newton were not working.

Councillor Wolf inquired as to how criteria for compliance would be established.

The committee heard from James Pantelas, President of the Greater Boston Hotels Association, who read a statement in opposition to the proposed ordinance and stressed the requirement of the hotels as business people to insure the comfort of their guests and that voluntary efforts were now in place to accomplish this end. His statement is attached to the record and designated as Appendix E.

In answer to Councillor Duehay, Mr. Sweda claimed that dormitories are covered by the ordinance.

Councillord Duehay stated that the application of the ordinance to small bars and restaurants posed a problem which the large restaurants would solve with their larger seating capacity.

The Chair declared the hearing closed at eight o'clock and four minutes p. m. when no others appeared in opposition.

Councillor Duehay moved that the proposed ordinance be reported to the City Council, without recommendation, and the motion carried.

The hearing was adjourned at eight o'clock and five minutes p. m.

TESTIMONY OF EDWARD L. SWEDA, JR. BEFORE THE ORDINANCES COMMITTEE OF THE CAMBRIDGE CITY COUNCIL, MARCH 29, 1984, IN SUPPORT OF AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH NO-SMOKING SECTIONS IN CAMBRIDGE RESTAURANTS

I am Edward L. Sweda, Jr., an attorney with Group Against Smoking Pollution (GASP) of Massachusetts. GASP is a non-profit organization of over 1600 supporters statewide, dedicated to the protection of the health and rights of nonsmokers, who make up three-quarters of the American people. Let me convey GASP's enthusiastic support for this ordinance.

I wish to review briefly the medical evidence showing the harm that secondhand tobacco smoke inflicts on nonsmokers. It has been known for many years that exposure to secondhand tobacco smoke harms those with pre-existing heart or lung ailments. A 1980 article in the New England Journal of Medicine showed that a nonsmoking worker exposed to co-workers' smoke can sustain small airways dysfunction in the lungs to the same extent as if he or she had smoked one to ten cigarettes per day. Two studies in 1981 showed that secondhand smoke can increase the risk of lung cancer in nonsmokers.

GASP's position is that the burden of proof on the health effects of secondhand smoke on nonsmokers must rest on the tobacco industry, the ones who profit from public smoking. UNLESS AND UNTIL IT IS PROVEN THAT SECONDHAND TOBACCO SMOKE DOES NOT HARM HUMAN HEALTH, restrictions on public smoking will continue to be necessary. It is precisely because such proof does not exist, that GASP does exist. And, that is why an ordinance, not a so-called "voluntary" approach, is needed for Cambridge restaurants.

The trend nationwide is for passage of public smoking restriction laws. For instance, statutes in nine states require no-smoking section in restaurants:

YEAR	STATE	RESTAURANTS AFFECTED
1975	Minnesota	All restaurants
1976	Utah	All restaurants
1977	North Dakota	50 or more capacity
1978	Michigan	50 or more capacity

1979	Nebraska	All restaurants
1979	Montana	All restaurants
1979	Connecticut	75 or more capacity
1979	Rhode Island	50 or more capacity
1981	Oregon	All restaurants

In Massachusetts, GASP has for several years proposed a series of bills at the State House. Although none of them has been enacted into law yet, support in the legislature for these bills has steadily increased. Meanwhile, we have worked at the local level for the passage of ordinances and by-laws that would accomplish the same objectives.

In 1980, the Newton Board of Aldermen passed a resolution urging Newton restauranteurs to set up no-smoking sections voluntarily. Only after the local restaurant industry ignored that resolution did Newton -- in May 1981 -- pass an ordinance to require no-smoking areas. In April 1982 the Town Meeting of Acton, by a vote of 138 - 88, passed a by-law requiring no-smoking sections of at least 25% of the seating capacity in restaurants seating 25 or more. In November 1982 Brookline adopted a by-law to require no-smoking sections of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all restaurants seating 40 or more. In April 1983, the Town Meetings of Lexington and Stoughton voted overwhelmingly for by-laws establishing no-smoking areas in restaurants. Most recently, in January 1984 the Somerville Board of Aldermen voted 9 to 1 for an ordinance to establish no-smoking areas of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all Somerville restaurants seating 25 or more.

These laws are working well. In an article from the January 5, 1984 issue of the Lexington Minute-Man (a copy is attached), Bel Canto's manager Stephen Hamlin says that the new regulation, which requires a no-smoking section of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all Lexington restaurants seating 50 or more persons, "has helped business". In fact, Mr. Hamlin has designated 65% of the seating capacity of his restaurant as a no-smoking area. Other Lexington restaurants also reported positive results.

We have other proof, in addition to the votes of the town meetings of Acton, Lexington, and Stoughton, of public support for restrictions on public smoking. A June 1981 poll by the Mass. Department of Public Health showed that a vast majority of Massachusetts residents (including a majority of the smokers) favor restricting smoking in restaurants. Attached are copies of DPH's results. In 1978, a Public Policy Question appeared on the November ballot in ten legislative districts in Massachusetts. Although the Tobacco Institute outspent proponents of the question by $80,000 to $3500, the question was approved in each of the districts in which it appeared -- with its strongest support in Cambridge! The results of the vote are attached.

GASP's experience has been that the tobacco industry has opposed any and all proposals that would restrict smoking in any way whatsoever. It is the tobacco industry and the tobacco industry alone that benefits from unrestricted smoking in public places.

Therefore, I urge you to take action against the nation's Number One preventable public health problem and have Cambridge join the growing list of Massachusetts communities that have moved to protect the health and rights of nonsmokers by restricting public smoking.

Thank you.

'Clean Indoor Air' concerns go up in smoke

By Alice Hinkle

The town's new "Clean Indoor Air" bylaw is proving a big hit with non-smokers, although it has created a few headaches for local food service managers.

In a survey of more than 10 local eating establishments, comments ranged from Bel Canto manager Stephen Hamlin's assessment that the new regulation "has helped business" to reports that the law poses problems in designating customer seating.

Lexington Health Director George Smith summed up the town's experience with the matter as "so far, so good."

The bylaw — approved at 1983 Town Meeting — requires restaurants or cafeterias with seating of 50 or more to:

- reserve at least one quarter of their capacity for non-smokers;
- post signs reminding customers of the rules;
- ask patrons smoking in the non-smoking area to either stop or move to the smoking area; and
- arrange seating so that existing physical barriers, ventilation systems, and available space minimize toxic effects of smoke on those in the non-smoking area.

The "Clean Indoor Air" regulation became effective with publication of a Board of Health (BOH) legal notice on Oct. 27.

Fines from $20 to $50 were set for those "lighting up" in a non-smoking section or for restaurant owners who fail to comply with the rules; Smith reported that "no citations have been issued" thus far.

Smith and Health Department Sanitarian Deborah Halko have found "by and large that owners and managers have approached the new rules with a cooperative spirit" despite "some initial resistence."

Smith and Halko have also been working with food service owners and managers to ease implementation on routine food service inspection rounds. Smith added that "well over 90 percent of the restaurants affected by the rules have signs and smoke-free areas in place."

He noted that at least half a dozen company cafeterias are already in compliance, with others to be checked out on routine inspections.

In a recent telephone interview, Hamlin reported that about 65 percent of Bel Canto's seats are now set aside for non-smokers; and he estimated that "two out of three customers" are non-smokers.

Hamlin said that "the biggest problem adjusting to the bylaw at Bel Canto's involved getting our own staff used to the new system. And despite a few troubles at first, people are now complimenting us on the no-smoking section."

Paul Sidman, co-owner of the Versailles Restaurant, offered both pros and cons in weighing the new bylaws effects.

He reported that "a majority of the comments from customers are favoarble and people seem happy to have a choice of sitting in a smoking or non-smoking area — especially those with small children. But," Sidman continued, "the rules add an extra burden on management (to allocate space properly)."

At Yangtze River Restaurant, manager Leslie Ong said that demand for seats in the smoke-free sections has been so high that almost half the restaurant is designated "no smoking" — twice the area required.

In fact, Ong noted that waiters assigned to the smoking sections are sometimes unhappy since their counterparts in the busier smoke-free areas serve more customers and end up with larger tips.

Around the corner at Gracie's Restaurant on Meriam Street, owner Robert Bellino pointed to the non-smoking signs that were posted last week. Bellino declined to comment, saying that he preferred to see how the bylaw worked.

The switch to the new regulations "has been absolutely uneventful," said John Adams, Chadwick's owner. Adams noted "a few minor problems now and then," but he stressed that "the non-smokers really like it."

Before the signs were posted, Adams admitted that he had some concerns over "what might happen if someone lights up in a non-smoking area." But those fears proved groundless. "Both smokers and non-smokers have been very cooperative," he stated.

Ruth Benoit, owner of The Kitchen, 363 Massachusetts Ave., joined her fellow restaurateurs in stating that "people — especially the non-smokers — like the new set-up."

And Peter Chan, manager and part-owner of Peking Gardens, said that the restaurant's new system of setting aside a smoke-free area is "working out very well."

Rick Maple, food and beverage director at Dunfey's at Lexington, said customer comments have been "basically very positive. The transition to operating under the new rules was very smooth and offered no major difficulties," he added.

Maple suggested that "today people are looking for this in a restaurant."

At Mario's Restaurant, manager Robert Klier explained that he used the new regulation as an opportunity to designate a section where larger tables are located as the no-smoking area.

According to Klier, Mario's caters to a family trade and this new arrangement "encourages parents not to smoke in front of their children."

Lincoln Lab and Data Resources are among the local company cafeterias already complying with the bylaw, according to Smith.

TESTIMONY OF STEPHEN HAVAS, M.D., M.P.H., M.S., DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH, APRIL 5, 1984.

I am Dr. Stephen Havas, Deputy Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. I appreciate this opportunity to testify before you in support of the proposed ordinance to provide non-smoking sections in Cambridge restaurants serving 25 persons or more.

Our endorsement of this proposed ordinance is based on several types of evidence - first, the well known and extensive evidence of the danger of cigarette smoking for smokers; second, the increasing evidence of the potentially serious health effects for non-smokers exposed to ambient tobacco smoke; and third, the large body of data showing overwhelming public support for ordinances of this type.

Cigarette smoking is widely acknowledged to be the single most preventable cause of death and disease in the United States. Each year, it is the cause of more than 350,000 premature deaths nationwide, and of 9000 deaths in Massachusetts. Lung cancer, 85% of which is caused directly by smoking, has been the leading cause of death from cancer for American men for more than 30 years. By 1990, lung cancer will be the leading cause of cancer death among American women, as well. In eight states, this is already the case. In addition to lung cancer, smoking is a major cause of heart disease, [redacted], six other types of cancer, and chronic lung disease.

In recent years, there has been a growing body of evidence documenting the health consequences of "passive" smoking. Studies have shown an increase in lung cancer rates among wives of men who smoke. There has been evidence of an increased risk of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome in infants, and of pneumonia and bronchitis in children exposed to second-hand smoke. Other studies have linked cigarette smoke exposure to decreased lung function in children of smoking parents, to onset of chest pain in cardiac patients, and to a reduction in small-airways function in non-smoking employees chronically exposed to the cigarette smoke of their co-workers.

There are also numerous studies documenting evidence of less severe, but more widespread, health effects of "passive" smoking. Individuals with allergies and asthma frequently find their symptoms are intensified upon exposure to cigarette smoke. Fifty percent of non-smokers report eye irritation and discomfort when exposed to cigarette smoke. The percentage is even higher for contact lense wearers. Coughing, sneezing and sore throats are also commonly reported among exposed non-smokers.

In addition to these health effects, there is the not insignificant issue of simple human comfort. Several studies have shown that the vast majority of non-smokers (75-90%) and more than half of the smokers find cigarette smoke annoying and unpleasant.

Knowledge of the actual composition of ambient tobacco smoke makes none of these health effects surprising. Estimates of the number of different chemicals in cigarette smoke range from 1000 to 4000. More than 40 of these are known chemical carcinogens. Indoor air levels of these carcinogens, as well as of tar, nicotine, carbon monoxide, and other toxic substances at times exceed the air quality standards set by the federal government. Studies have shown that this happens more often in nightclubs, restaurants, and taverns than in other commonly occupied indoor public places.

Based on these data, the Department of Public Health believes it is critical that steps be taken, both at the state and local level, to preserve the health and comfort of non-smokers by limiting their exposure to cigarette smoke. By allocating 25% of the seats in restaurants which accomodate 25 people or more, you can help us significantly in our efforts. It is important to remember that 75% of the residents of Massachusetts are non-smokers, including two-thirds of all adults.

Given these figures and the previously mentioned figures on the reported frequency of discomfort caused by cigarette smoke, it is not surprising to find strong public support for measures which require separate smoking and non-smoking areas in restaurants. Our Department has conducted two separate surveys of more than 4000 adults statewide. We found that 85% of those polled favored the regulation of smoking in restaurants. Majority support for such measures came from smokers as well as non-smokers, and from all age groups. Our results have replicated those of other surveys done both in Massachusetts and nationwide.

Since the mid 1970's, there has been a growing trend nationwide towards passage of laws which restrict smoking in restaurants. Minnesota was the first state to pass such a law and from their nearly 10 years of experience, Minnesota health officials have declared that enforcement of their law has not been difficult. Compliance with these laws has also been high in other states and in the several Massachusetts communities which have adopted ordinances like the one proposed here. It is thus clear that such ordinances are reasonable, easily enforceable, and have broad public support.

Our Department is very committed to health promotion and disease prevention in the Commonwealth. Towards that end, we strongly support your efforts to help us deal with this important public health problem. We urge you to vote in favor of protecting the public health by voting to restrict smoking in your local restaurants.

City of Cambridge

In the Year One Thousand, Nine Hundred

(PROPOSED ORDINANCE)

AN ORDINANCE

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses," section 13-4 entitled "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance No. 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e 1/2) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer then twenty-five (25) persons.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no-smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j), the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

Appendix D

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Cambridge City Council has been asked to consider a new smoking ordinance which would compel all Cambridge restaurants, with a capacity of 25 or more, within the city limits to establish no-smoking sections; and

WHEREAS, the National Restaurant Association and the Massachusetts Restaurant Association have gone on record as opposing such laws; and

WHEREAS, the local restaurateurs feel that the answer is not another law since it is unreasonable to have government intervene where social courtesy can prevail; and

WHEREAS, the decision to establish smoking and nonsmoking sections should be left to the restaurant owners whose patronage, after all, depends upon meeting the needs and preferences of the customer; and

WHEREAS, it is the position of the trade associations and local restaurateurs that a balance respecting the comfort and convenience of nonsmokers and smokers through mutual respect, cooperation and most of all common sense should be encouraged through educational programs and not new laws; and

WHEREAS, Cambridge's law enforcement units should have a higher priority than being asked to arrest smokers in our restaurants; and

WHEREAS, smoking controls in restaurants could be costly in ordering that customers be segregated; and

WHEREAS, the best way to handle the smoking issue is not to pass new laws but to recognize that social courtesy is our common responsibility and that manners cannot be legislated; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED that the undersigned local restaurateurs go on record in opposing any new law mandating that Cambridge's restaurants must provide nonsmoking sections; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the undersigned restaurateurs go on record as willing to provide in a voluntary fashion for the preferences of their customers in this area through the development of voluntary smoking and nonsmoking sections.

Submitted by Rep. John Coyne rep of Mass. Restaurant Assn at 7:25/pm April 5, 1984

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Cambridge's City Councillors and local state elected officials be provided copies of this resolution.

Greater Boston
Hotel Association

Remarks of James Pantelas, President of GBHA, to Cambridge City Council Committee on Ordinances, April 5, 1984, 5:30 P.M. - City Council Chambers, Cambridge City Hall:

Mayor Russell and Members of the Council:

I'm James Pantelas, President of the Greater Boston Hotel Association, of which four leading hotels in your city are members. The association would like to be recorded as opposing this proposed ordinance. Others have presented reasons for our position against mandatory no-smoking areas. I would simply state, in an attempt to be brief, that hoteliers are businessmen -- businessmen in an industry that demands hospitality to our guests, both in the hotel and the restaurants within the hotel. Whether the issue is one of dietary considerations, an issue of privacy, an issue of view or an issue of smoking, those in the employ of hotels, including restaurant personnel, are both trained and supervised to meet the demands of our guests. When a problem surfaces on the issue of smoking or non-smoking, all efforts are taken to keep our guests satisfied; for in failing to do so, this would be failing as businessmen. A survey of our members tells me the frequency of incidents on the issue of smoking are indeed few and in almost all cases are resolved by restaurant personnel ---- if not initially resolved by a polite request from an offended customer.

We ask, as businessmen, that you allow us to continue serving our guests and guests to your city with the same level and degree of hospitality and courtesy that has made, in our opinion, the question of mandatory no-smoking areas a non-issue in hotel restaurants. This latter fact is due, in large part, to our recognition of our responsibility to satisfy our guests and the voluntary efforts already in place.

Thank you.

TESTIMONY OF EDWARD L. SWEDA, JR. BEFORE THE ORDINANCES COMMITTEE OF THE CAMBRIDGE CITY COUNCIL, MARCH 29, 1984, IN SUPPORT OF AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH NO-SMOKING SECTIONS IN CAMBRIDGE RESTAURANTS

I am Edward L. Sweda, Jr., an attorney with Group Against Smoking Pollution (GASP) of Massachusetts. GASP is a non-profit organization of over 1600 supporters statewide, dedicated to the protection of the health and rights of nonsmokers, who make up three-quarters of the American people. Let me convey GASP's enthusiastic support for this ordinance.

I wish to review briefly the medical evidence showing the harm that secondhand tobacco smoke inflicts on nonsmokers. It has been known for many years that exposure to secondhand tobacco smoke harms those with pre-existing heart or lung ailments. A 1980 article in the New England Journal of Medicine showed that a nonsmoking worker exposed to co-workers' smoke can sustain small airways dysfunction in the lungs to the same extent as if he or she had smoked one to ten cigarettes per day. Two studies in 1981 showed that secondhand smoke can increase the risk of lung cancer in nonsmokers.

GASP's position is that the burden of proof on the health effects of secondhand smoke on nonsmokers must rest on the tobacco industry, the ones who profit from public smoking. UNLESS AND UNTIL IT IS PROVEN THAT SECONDHAND TOBACCO SMOKE DOES NOT HARM HUMAN HEALTH, restrictions on public smoking will continue to be necessary. It is precisely because such proof does not exist, that GASP does exist. And, that is why an ordinance, not a so-called "voluntary" approach, is needed for Cambridge restaurants.

The trend nationwide is for passage of public smoking restriction laws. For instance, statutes in nine states require no-smoking section in restaurants:

YEAR	STATE	RESTAURANTS AFFECTED
1975	Minnesota	All restaurants
1976	Utah	All restaurants
1977	North Dakota	50 or more capacity
1978	Michigan	50 or more capacity

1979	Nebraska	All restaurants
1979	Montana	All restaurants
1979	Connecticut	75 or more capacity
1979	Rhode Island	50 or more capacity
1981	Oregon	All restaurants

In Massachusetts, GASP has for several years proposed a series of bills at the State House. Although none of them has been enacted into law yet, support in the legislature for these bills has steadily increased. Meanwhile, we have worked at the local level for the passage of ordinances and by-laws that would accomplish the same objectives.

In 1980, the Newton Board of Aldermen passed a resolution urging Newton restauranteurs to set up no-smoking sections voluntarily. Only after the local restaurant industry ignored that resolution did Newton -- in May 1981 -- pass an ordinance to require no-smoking areas. In April 1982 the Town Meeting of Acton, by a vote of 138 - 88, passed a by-law requiring no-smoking sections of at least 25% of the seating capacity in restaurants seating 25 or more. In November 1982 Brookline adopted a by-law to require no-smoking sections of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all restaurants seating 40 or more. In April 1983, the Town Meetings of Lexington and Stoughton voted overwhelmingly for by-laws establishing no-smoking areas in restaurants. Most recently, in January 1984 the Somerville Board of Aldermen voted 9 to 1 for an ordinance to establish no-smoking areas of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all Somerville restaurants seating 25 or more.

These laws are working well. In an article from the January 5, 1984 issue of the Lexington Minute-Man (a copy is attached), Bel Canto's manager Stephen Hamlin says that the new regulation, which requires a no-smoking section of at least 25% of the seating capacity in all Lexington restaurants seating 50 or more persons, "has helped business". In fact, Mr. Hamlin has designated 65% of the seating capacity of his restaurant as a no-smoking area. Other Lexington restaurants also reported positive results.

We have other proof, in addition to the votes of the town meetings of Acton, Lexington, and Stoughton, of public support for restrictions on public smoking. A June 1981 poll by the Mass. Department of Public Health showed that a vast majority of Massachusetts residents (including a majority of the smokers) favor restricting smoking in restaurants. Attached are copies of

'Clean Indoor Air' concerns go up in smoke

By Alice Hinkle

The town's new "Clean Indoor Air" bylaw is proving a big hit with non-smokers, although it has created a few headaches for local food service managers.

In a survey of more than 10 local eating establishments, comments ranged from Bel Canto manager Stephen Hamlin's assessment that the new regulation "has helped business" to reports that the law poses problems in designating customer seating.

Lexington Health Director George Smith summed up the town's experience with the matter as "so far, so good."

The bylaw — approved at 1983 Town Meeting — requires restaurants or cafeterias with seating of 50 or more to:

- reserve at least one quarter of their capacity for non-smokers;
- post signs reminding customers of the rules;
- ask patrons smoking in the non-smoking area to either stop or move to the smoking area; and
- arrange seating so that existing physical barriers, ventilation systems, and available space minimize toxic effects of smoke on those in the non-smoking area.

The "Clean Indoor Air" regulation became effective with publication of a Board of Health (BOH) legal notice on Oct. 27.

Fines from $20 to $50 were set for those "lighting up" in a non-smoking section or for restaurant owners who fail to comply with the rules; Smith reported that "no citations have been issued" thus far.

Smith and Health Department Sanitarian Deborah Halko have found "by and large that owners and managers have approached the new rules with a cooperative spirit" despite "some initial resistence."

Smith and Halko have also been working with food service owners and managers to ease implementation on routine food service inspection rounds. Smith added that "well over 90 percent of the restaurants affected by the rules have signs and smoke-free areas in place."

He noted that at least half a dozen company cafeterias are already in compliance, with others to be checked out on routine inspections.

In a recent telephone interview, Hamlin reported that about 65 percent of Bel Canto's seats are now set aside for non-smokers; and he estimated that "two out of three customers" are non-smokers.

Hamlin said that "the biggest problem adjusting to the bylaw at Bel Canto's involved getting our own staff used to the new system. And despite a few troubles at first, people are now complimenting us on the no-smoking section."

Paul Sidman, co-owner of the Versailles Restaurant, offered both pros and cons in weighing the new bylaws effects.

He reported that "a majority of the comments from customers are favoarble and people seem happy to have a choice of sitting in a smoking or non-smoking area — especially those with small children. But," Sidman continued, "the rules add an extra burden on management (to allocate space properly)."

At Yangtze River Restaurant, manager Leslie Ong said that demand for seats in the smoke-free sections has been so high that almost half the restaurant is designated "no smoking" — twice the area required.

In fact, Ong noted that waiters assigned to the smoking sections are sometimes unhappy since their counterparts in the busier smoke-free areas serve more customers and end up with larger tips.

Around the corner at Gracie's Restaurant on Meriam Street, owner Robert Bellino pointed to the non-smoking signs that were posted last week. Bellino declined to comment, saying that he preferred to see how the bylaw worked.

The switch to the new regulations "has been absolutely uneventful," said John Adams, Chadwick's owner. Adams noted "a few minor problems now and then," but he stressed that "the non-smokers really like it."

Before the signs were posted, Adams admitted that he had some concerns over "what might happen if someone lights up in a non-smoking area." But those fears proved groundless. "Both smokers and non-smokers have been very cooperative," he stated.

Ruth Benoit, owner of The Kitchen, 363 Massachusetts Ave., joined her fellow restaurateurs in stating that "people — especially the non-smokers — like the new set-up."

And Peter Chan, manager and part-owner of Peking Gardens, said that the restaurant's new system of setting aside a smoke-free area is "working out very well."

Rick Maple, food and beverage director at Dunfey's at Lexington, said customer comments have been "basically very positive. The transition to operating under the new rules was very smooth and offered no major difficulties," he added.

Maple suggested that "today people are looking for this in a restaurant."

At Mario's Restaurant, manager Robert Klier explained that he used the new regulation as an opportunity to designate a section where larger tables are located as the no-smoking area.

According to Klier, Mario's caters to a family trade and this new arrangement "encourages parents not to smoke in front of their children."

Lincoln Lab and Data Resources are among the local company cafeterias already complying with the bylaw, according to Smith.

DPH's results. In 1978, a Public Policy Question appeared on the November ballot in ten legislative districts in Massachusetts. Although the Tobacco Institute outspent proponents of the question by $80,000 to $3500, the question was approved in each of the districts in which it appeared -- with its strongest support in Cambridge! The results of the vote are attached.

GASP's experience has been that the tobacco industry has opposed any and all proposals that would restrict smoking in any way whatsoever. It is the tobacco industry and the tobacco industry alone that benefits from unrestricted smoking in public places.

Therefore, I urge you to take action against the nation's Number One preventable public health problem and have Cambridge join the growing list of Massachusetts communities that have moved to protect the health and rights of nonsmokers by restricting public smoking.

Thank you.

In the Year One Thousand, Nine Hundred

(PROPOSED ORDINANCE)

AN ORDINANCE

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Cambridge as follows:

That Chapter Thirteen entitled "Offenses," section 13-4 entitled "Smoking Prohibited," as appearing in Ordinance No. 849 of September 15, 1975, is hereby amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following subsection:

(e 1/2) This subsection shall not apply to any restaurant with a seating capacity of fewer then twenty-five (25) persons.

No person shall smoke in any restaurant except in specifically designated smoking areas. This prohibition does not apply in cases in which an entire room or hall is used for a private social function and not by the proprietor or person in charge of the restaurant.

Smoking areas may be designated by the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant, except in places in which smoking is prohibited by the fire marshall or by other law or regulation. Smoking areas designated so shall comprise no more than seventy-five (75) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant. Where smoking areas are designated, existing physical barriers and ventilation systems shall be used to minimize the toxic effect of smoke on persons in adjacent no-smoking areas. In the case of restaurants consisting of a single room, the provisions of this subsection shall be considered met if one side of the room is reserved and posted as a no-smoking area, provided that the no-smoking area comprises no less than twenty-five (25) percent of the seating capacity of the restaurant.

The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the no-smoking areas of the restaurant by:

(1) posting appropriate signs;
(2) arranging seating to provide a smoke-free area;
(3) asking smokers to refrain from smoking upon request of a client, patron or employee suffering discomfort from the smoke; or
(4) any other means which may be appropriate.

In addition to the remedies provided by subsections (i) and (j), the Inspectional Services Department or any person aggrieved by the willful failure of the proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant to comply with any provision of this subsection may apply for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this subsection in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Nothing in this subsection shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.
