

City of Cambridge

13.
IN CITY COUNCIL
June 12, 1978

COUNCILLOR FRISOLI

- WHEREAS: The City of Cambridge and Harvard University have a great deal in common; and
- WHEREAS: There are many ways that the two institutions could work together to their mutual benefit; and
- WHEREAS: The City, through its Planning Board, has already begun to work, hopefully, constructively with Harvard University on the issue of University expansion into residential neighborhoods; and
- WHEREAS: Beyond this one issue there are undoubtedly many others where an on-going dialogue would be most helpful; and
- WHEREAS: As the chief executive officer of Harvard University President Derek Bok would undoubtedly be the best person to speak with city officials about areas of mutual concern; therefore, be it
- ORDERED: That the City Council go on record as extending a cordial invitation to Harvard University President Derek Bok to attend next Monday night's meeting of the Cambridge City Council; and be it further
- ORDERED: That the City Clerk be requested to personally transmit a copy of this Resolution to President Bok at the earliest possible date.
