

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

MASSACHUSETTS 02139 • 617-498-9090

Alfred E. Vellucci

Mayor

November 1, 1982

To the Members of the City Council,

I take this opportunity to advise that "all went well", with the celebration of the October 31, vigil of all Saints Day. The All Hallows Evening went by without incident.

More than 2,000 children were entertained in various public and private places. They were served home-made cakes, apple cider and fresh apples. The parents who accompanied their little ones were served hot coffee and a helping of the same cake as was served the children. There was absolutely no revelry of any kind or sort. Many of our public servants were on hand to provide the young Hallow-e'en celebrities with a variety and more than an abundance of games. The children and parents came dressed in costumes. They wore masks that were interesting and funny. Some were of an ugly and frightening nature. I visited the many and various designated places of fun and the children seemed to be happy and contented. The parents were satisfied with the arrangements made to protect the neighborhoods of Cambridge with more than 100 automobiles with markings on them indicating "Trick-Or-Treat Patrol". The automobiles, some private, some public were operated by volunteers and for that they should be thanked.

The School Department officials and personnel were on hand to make sure that the schools were opened and cake servings made available.

The Departments of the Police, Fire, Traffic, Police Auxilliary, School Patrols, Public Works, Schools, Recreation, Hospital, Electrical, Community Schools, Libraries, Human Services should not be forgotten when it comes to taking bows. Bouquets of Roses, also to organizations such as Mt. Auburn Post 8818; Averof Restaurant; Cambridge Family Y; Cambridge YWCA; Roosevelt Towers, Eliot House-Harvard University; Margaret Fuller House; Harvard University Freshmen Council and Public Service Committee and of course the Harvard Band. Two orchids, one for Harvard Police and one for MIT Police for their special patrols.

Lest we forget, any who answered the call, to all I say thank you and thanks to one and all. Last but not least "Thank You" to the City Council and the City Manager and staff for helping out during this time of need.

Very truly yours,

Alfred E. Vellucci
Mayor

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

MASSACHUSETTS 02139 • 617-498-9090

Alfred E. Vellucci
Mayor

November 1, 1982

To the Members of the City Council,

I take this opportunity to advise that "all went well", with the celebration of the October 31, vigil of all Saints Day. The All Hallows Evening went by without incident.

More than 2,000 children were entertained in various public and private places. They were served home-made cakes, apple cider and fresh apples. The parents who accompanied their little ones were served hot coffee and a helping of the same cake as was served the children. There was absolutely no revelry of any kind or sort. Many of our public servants were on hand to provide the young Hallow-e'en celebrities with a variety and more than an abundance of games. The children and parents came dressed in costumes. They wore masks that were interesting and funny. Some were of an ugly and frightening nature. I visited the many and various designated places of fun and the children seemed to be happy and contented. The parents were satisfied with the arrangements made to protect the neighborhoods of Cambridge with more than 100 automobiles with markings on them indicating "Trick-Or-Treat Patrol". The automobiles, some private, some public were operated by volunteers and for that they should be thanked.

The School Department officials and personnel were on hand to make sure that the schools were opened and cake servings made available.

The Departments of the Police, Fire, Traffic, Police Auxilliary, School Patrols, Public Works, Schools, Recreation, Hospital, Electrical, Community Schools, Libraries, Human Services should not be forgotten when it comes to taking bows. Bouquets of Roses, also to organizations such as Mt. Auburn Post 8818; Averof Restaurant; Cambridge Family Y; Cambridge YWCA; Roosevelt Towers, Eliot House-Harvard University; Margaret Fuller House; Harvard University Freshmen Council and Public Service Committee and of course the Harvard Band. Two orchids, one for Harvard Police and one for MIT Police for their special patrols.

Lest we forget, any who answered the call, to all I say thank you and thanks to one and all. Last but not least "Thank You" to the City Council and the City Manager and staff for helping out during this time of need.

Very truly yours,

Alfred E. Vellucci
Mayor

S-666

Comm. from Mayor Vellucci Re: success of Halloween Celebrations held throughout the City in the various schools, etc.

In City Council,

November 8, 1982